In the home economics pre-school children of teachers at Douglas as well as children of people in the district came to start their school life. From the activities they experience today these children prepare to meet what will come tomorrow.

Student Interest Generated by School Activities

In the past school was a place to come to learn reading, writing, and arithmetic. Times have changed, and school would prove very boring if it was only a classroom experience.

In the first few months of this school year a humanities field trip, the visit of two former drug addicts, and the school for pre-schoolers in the home economics classes of the Senior Building helped to take education for the students of David Douglas out of the classroom.

The humanities field trip (Above and Below) took the students to the Old Journal Building, The Albino Art Center, Washington Park, and many other places to study architecture in the Portland area.

Two former drug addicts, Omar Tangway and Dick Holleman, spoke to the modern problems classes of Mr. Darby, Mr. Bryson, and Mrs. Fulginiti. They told of being on drugs since they were both 14 years old. They explained that the purpose of the Alcohol and Drug Section of the Oregon State Board of Health is to rehabilitate alcoholics and drug addicts by the use of group therapy.

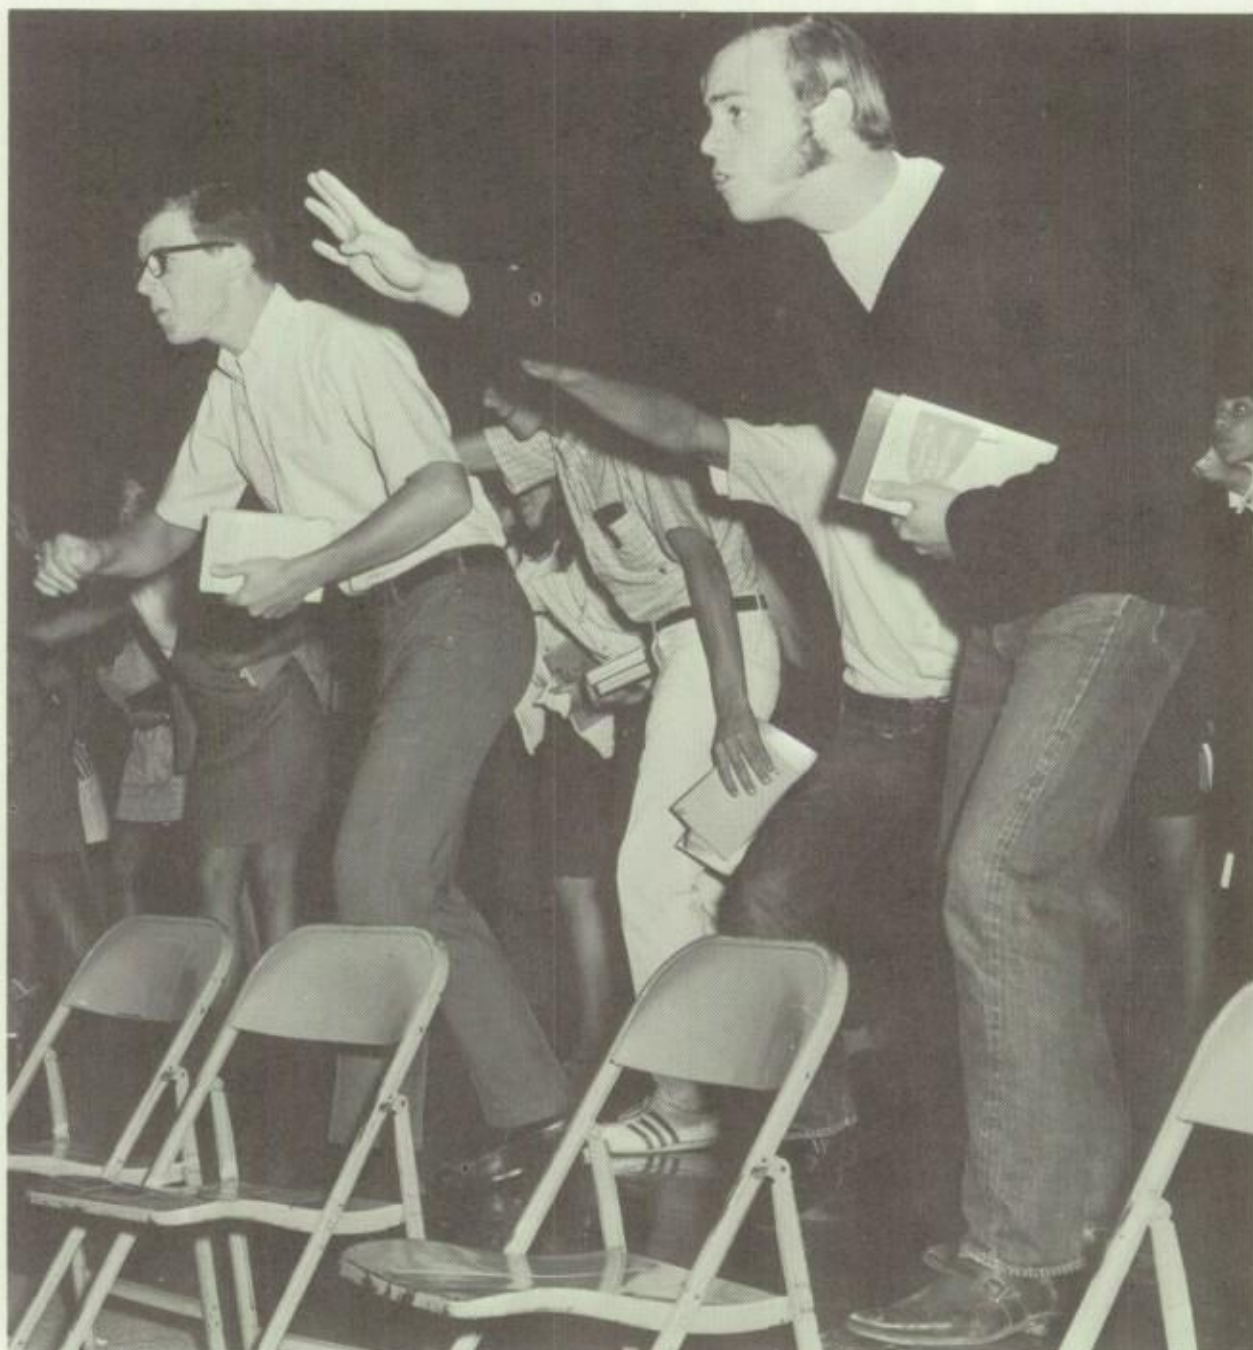

Thespians Take a Satirical Look at School Life

Debbie Carlson undergoes many of the perils that substitute teachers face at Douglas.

The thirteenth annual Thespian Assembly began with the entire cast singing "Consider Yourself at Home" with slightly altered verses.

Some people find better uses for resource centers, as Steve Carroll and Pam Kehrli show.

"Scotty Douglas" (Gary Bowne) and "Herr Lutz" (Larry Hicks) show the happy times that the student body and administration can share when "Herr Lutz" gently "persuaded" the Thespians to join him in the finale.

Musical Groups Invited to Display Talents

This year the band was asked to play for the Alcan Golf Tournament. For the first time since the Tournament began it was held in the United States. The band marched downtown, followed by the golfers who were participating in the tournament. They proceeded to Raleigh Hills School and prepared to escort the golfers onto the course.

The Vagabonds were invited to display their talents at a clinic that took place at North Eugene High School. They sang for a group of critics who studied their techniques and sound. The selections sung were "Sunny," "Cycles," and "It's Not Unusual." Choreography was done to "It's Not Unusual" as an added attraction.

For many years, David Douglas music groups have been noted for their talent and performance. Because of this tradition, the band and Vagabonds are constantly in demand for performances.

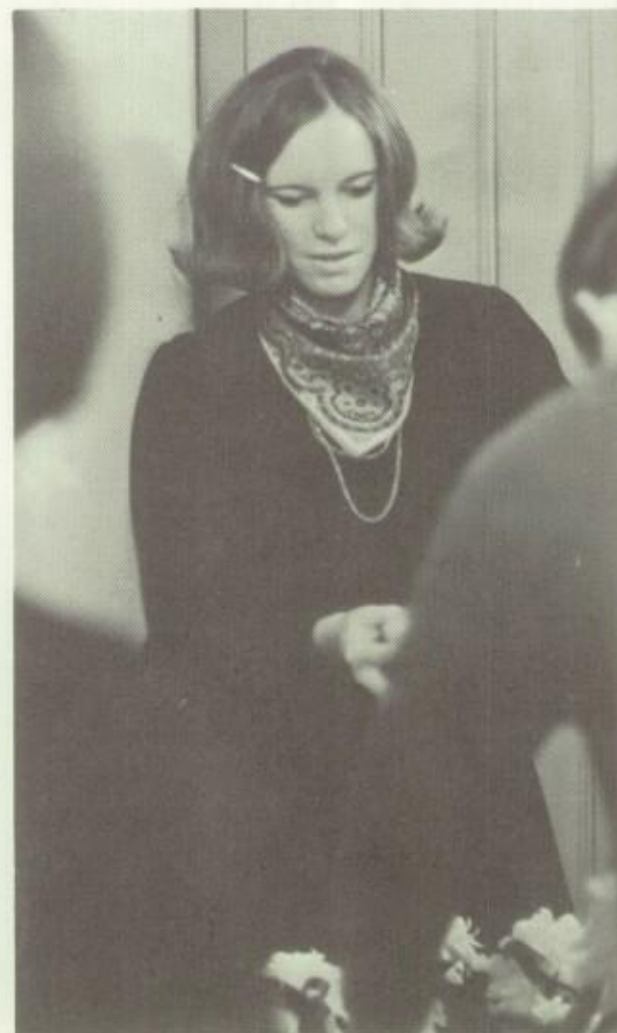

Homecoming, a Memorable Week

One event during Homecoming week was the traditional Mum sale. Taif girls, like Jan Davenport, took charge of the sale.

A well established and much appreciated part of the Mum sale is the receiving of a mum. Pam Kehrli and many other girls felt thrilled at this moment.

Weirdly clad students, such as Rick Karjalainen dotted the halls on Casual Day of Homecoming week, while many colorful and original doors brightened the halls on Door Decoration day.

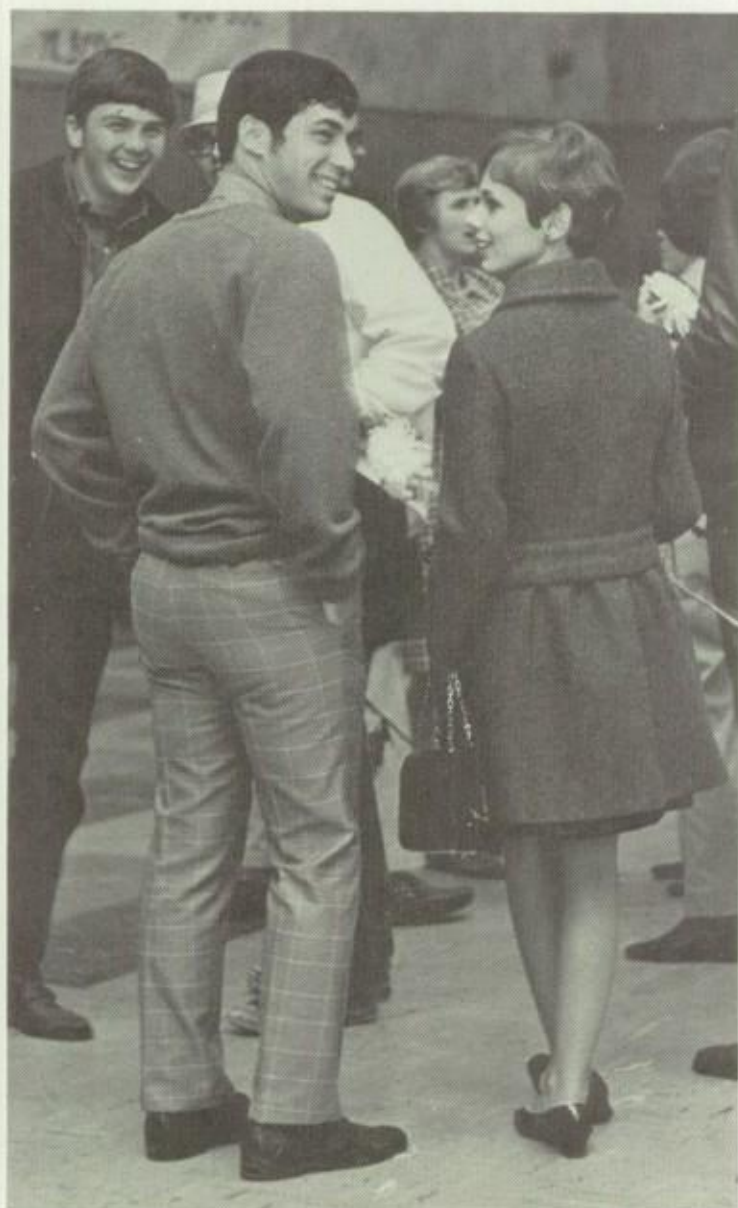

Friday Night . . .

The Exciting Finale to an Active Week

Old friends and new acquaintances gather for a chance to review past memories.

The Friday night game highlights homecoming week with a 20-13 victory over Central Catholic.

Faces reflect the emotions of excitement and anticipation which accompany the football games.

Ad Staff Informs Students of School Events

In every society there must be a means of informing the people of what is going on. At David Douglas we have the Highlander, the Celtic, the Crosstown Bus, and the Ad Staff.

The purpose of the Ad Staff is to inform the students of school events by making signs. These signs are an important part of the communications system at Douglas and relate to such things as athletic events, banquets, school plays, and dances.

Keith Bowers (Below) paints a sign, the chore that takes up most of the Ad Staff's time.

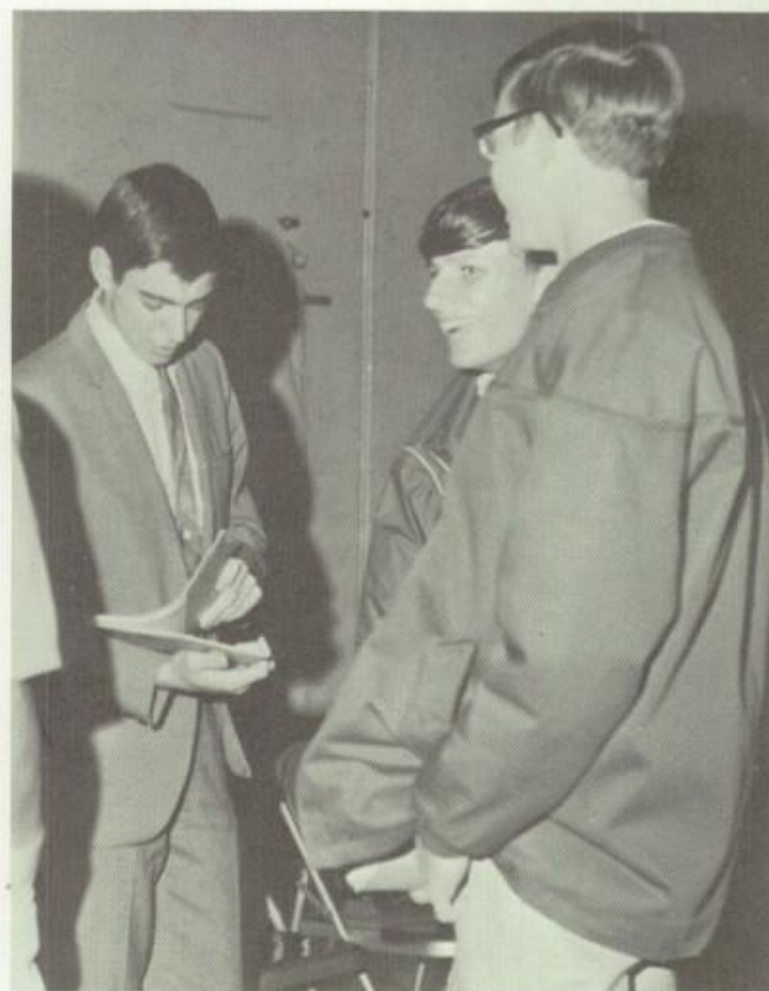

When the Ad Staff receives a request for a sign, the members getting the assignment, such as Ann Tsuboi and Dee Criner (Above) and Nancy Kowalk and Charlene Maxson (Below) must determine what kind of print to use, the kind and color of the paper and the paint to use, and many other things.

Student Participation is Displayed Through Various Assemblies

Glendella Brown adds her efforts to a performance of the dance team and rally squad during a pep assembly.

Leadership can be attained by interested students through participation in the student government. Doug Detrick campaigns at a Special Elections Assembly for the office of vice president.

The football team attends the pep assembly filled with anticipation of the coming game.

Much time and work is involved in the preparation of a successful musical assembly. Tom Johnson reveals the outcome of this preparation at the Instrumental Assembly held in the senior building gym.

Foreign Language Classes Present International Banquet

Laurie Kinney and our foreign exchange student from Austria, Joe Rabl, perform German and Austrian folk dances for the people at the Banquet. The German and Spanish classes presented folk songs and dances from their respective countries.

Many languages are taught at David Douglas. They include Spanish, German, French, Latin, and Russian. Each year the language classes present the International Banquet.

This year the banquet gave the language students the chance to show off their abilities in cooking, dancing, singing, and acting.

The activities at the banquet this year included skits put on by the various classes. Among them was a skit about life in ancient Rome complete with Caesar (Tom Daudistel) and slaves.

The Spanish classes presented folk singing from both Spain and South America. The German classes presented folk dances from Germany led by our foreign exchange student from Austria, Joe Rabl.

All of the classes cooked food from the various countries that they represent.

Dianne Burry chats with a fellow language student while they help themselves to a variety of foreign foods

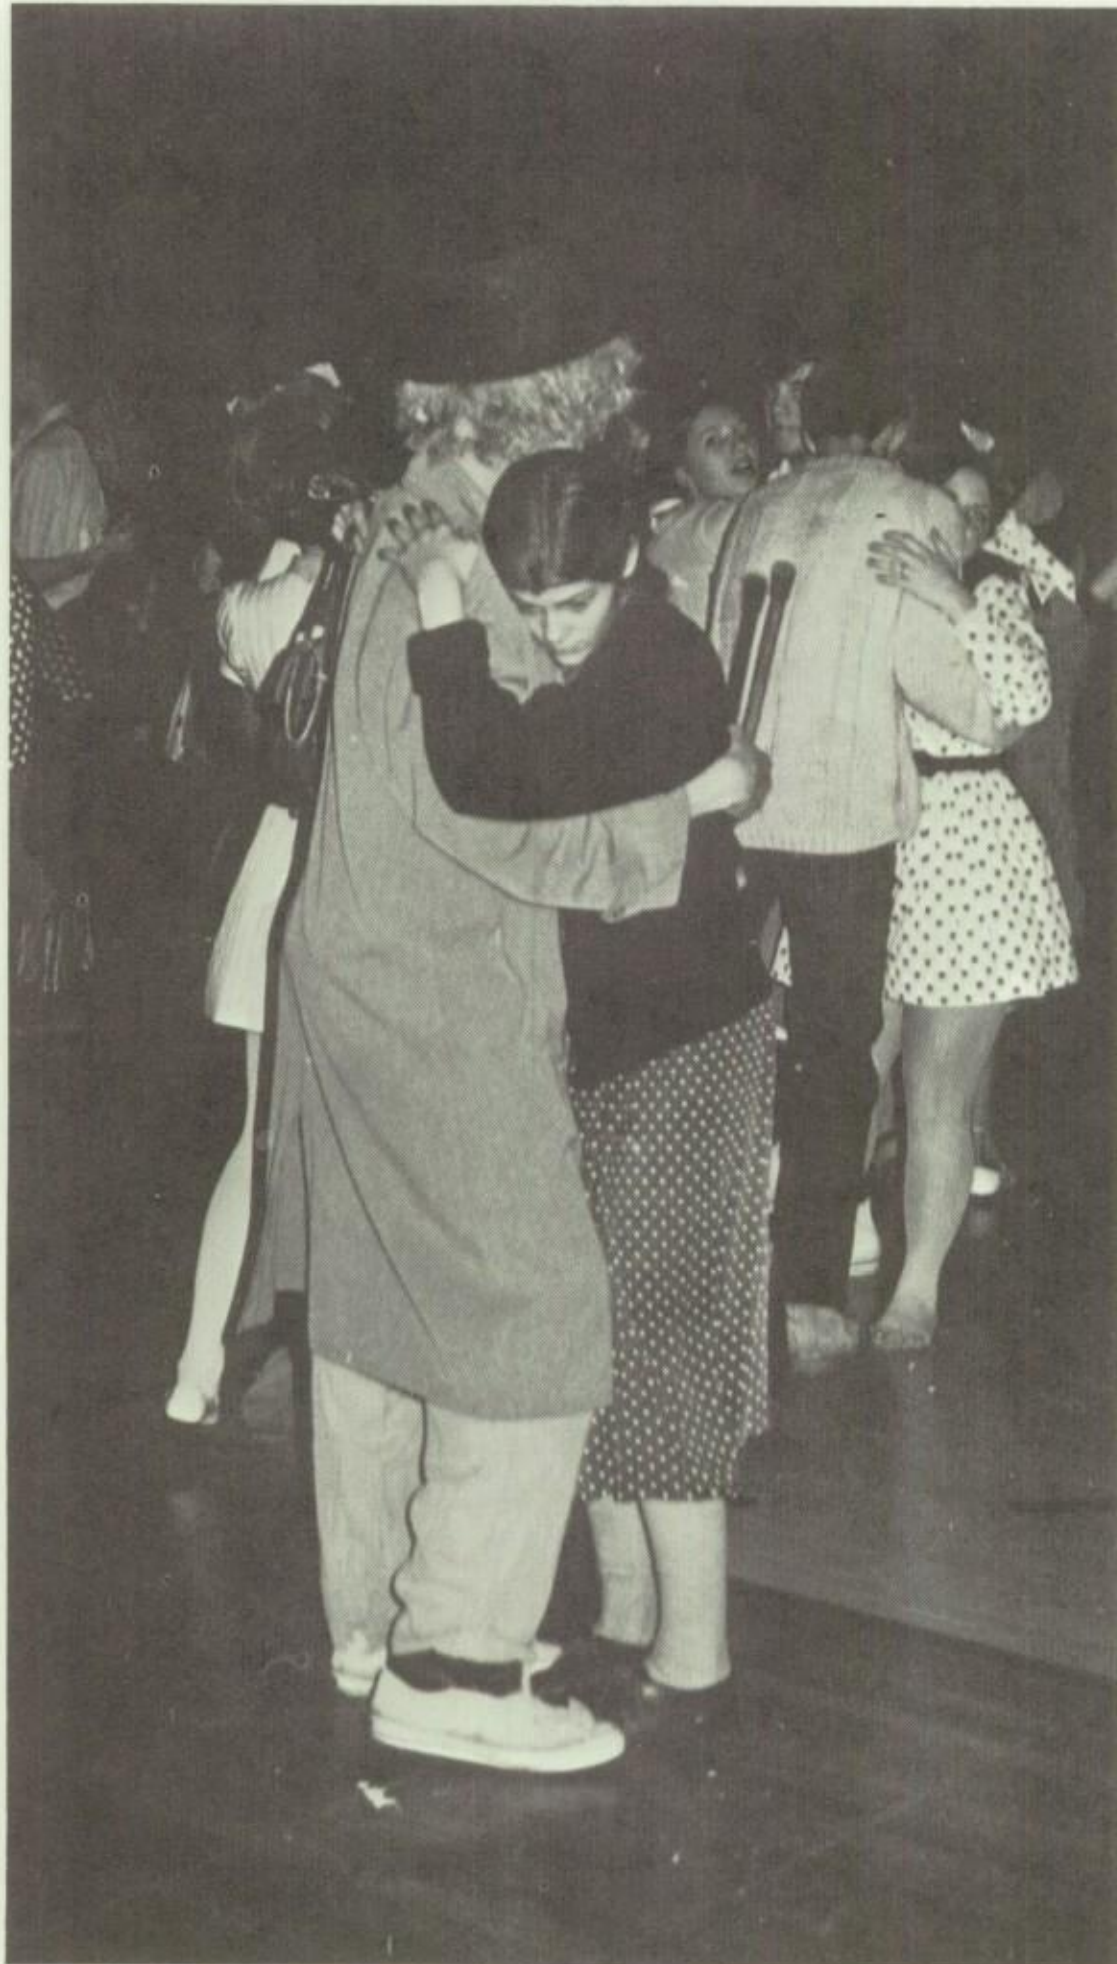

Ann Sheehy and other slaves attempt to talk Caesar (Tom Daudistel) into accepting the seven books of prophecies concerning his life in a skit put on by the Latin classes. Greg Kallio is Caesar's body guard.

The major attraction of the evening was the food. Ann Sheehy and other language students serve themselves a variety of foreign food.

The Sadie - A Twist in Tradition

The annual award at the Sadie Hawkins is the Best Dressed Couple, which Fred Borchers and Sherri Seitsinger received for their costumes.

Don Nimz and his escort Kitty Bond sport the dress of the evening.

Couples congregate outside the "Hitch 'n Box."

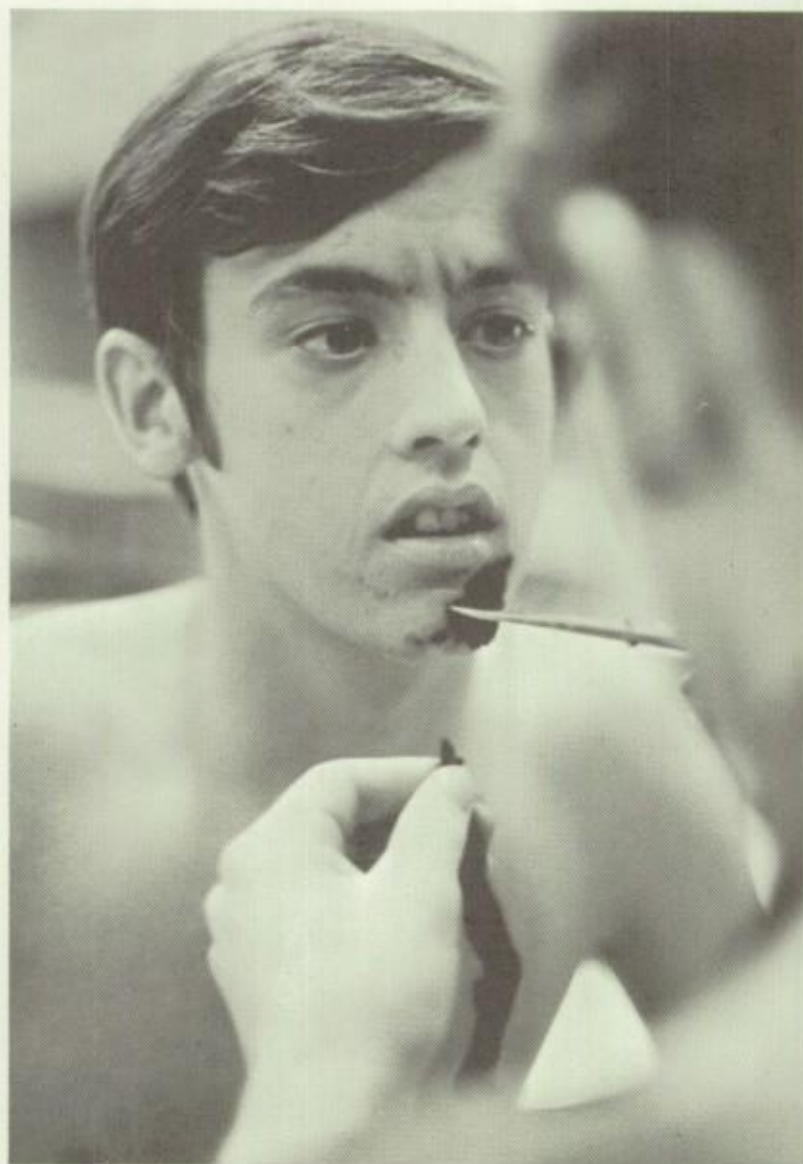

Karen Karki and Marsha Mollett pin corsages on their dates Gary Bowne and Larry Hicks.

Couples express their moods through dress and dance.

Rhinoceros: Possibly Man's Fate

Steve Carroll receives the final touches to his make-up before the play.

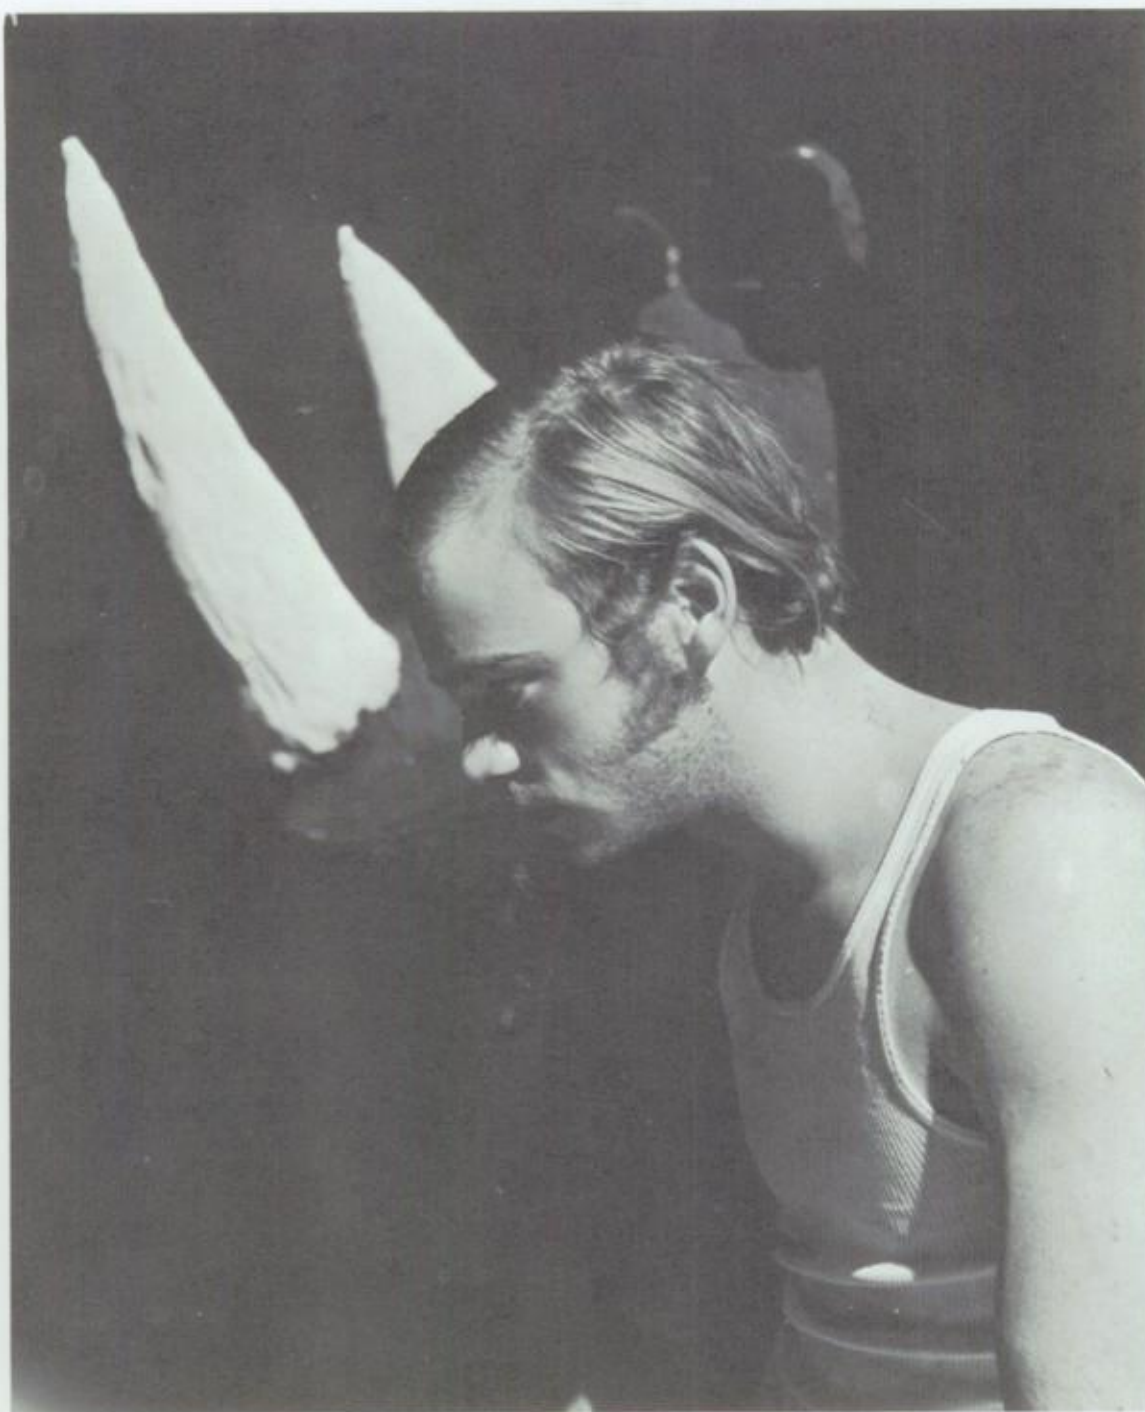

Without the proper lighting and sound effects, any theatrical production would be virtually impossible to present. Thanks to skilled people like Gary Anderson, the theater is much more enjoyable.

As the Old Gentleman and the Logician, Steve Carroll and Gary Bowne talk endlessly in some scenes of the play and end up saying really nothing at all.

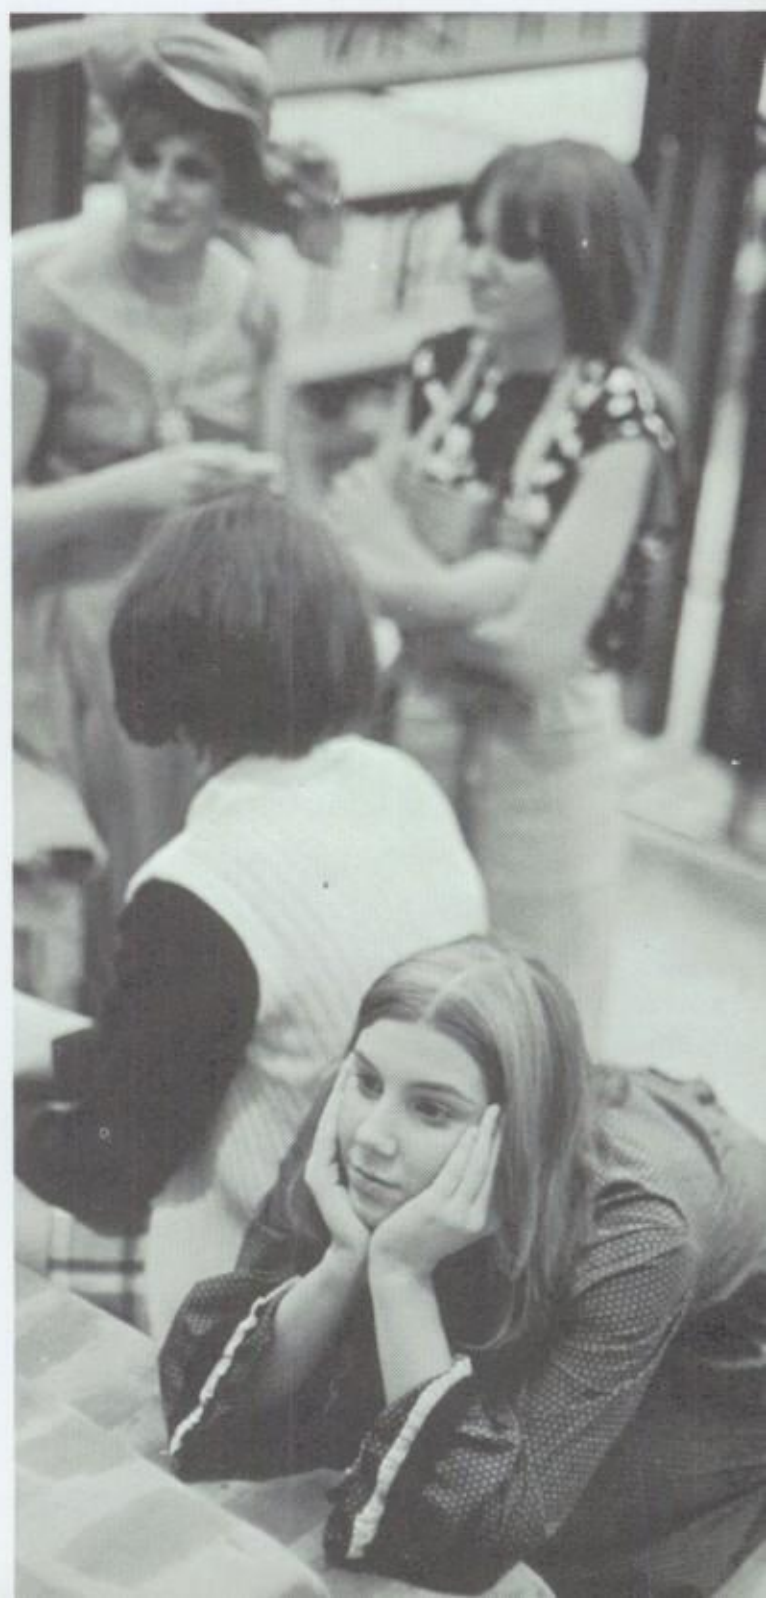

Eugene Ionesco's play, "Rhinoceros," carried a warning for modern man. In a brilliantly portrayed comic tragedy the hero, Berenger (Larry Hicks) finds himself the sole survivor of the human race. All others have turned into rhinoceros.

Marsha Mollett finds a brief moment of rest backstage during the dress rehearsal.

"Ice Palace" Theme Beautifies Winter Formal

The evening's decorations seemed to capture the moods of couples. Joe Medley, Master of Ceremonies, and his date Dixie DeHaven stop to gaze at the ice pond which was one of the decorations.

Cheri Selbee and Monroe Reimers pause for punch during the evening.

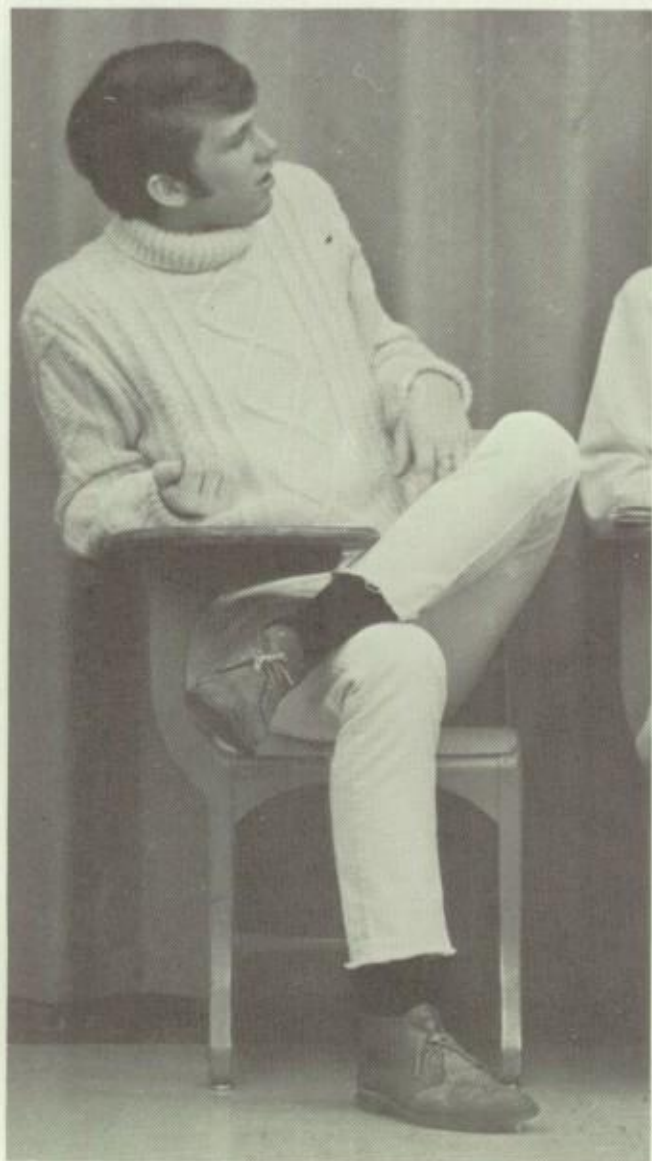

Couples take time to enjoy the refreshments and the company.

Debbie Heiden and Jim Olsen, Joyce Hartung and Steve Prakken, and Dale Denfeld and Marsha Mollett were among the couples who danced to the Jim Brown Orchestra.

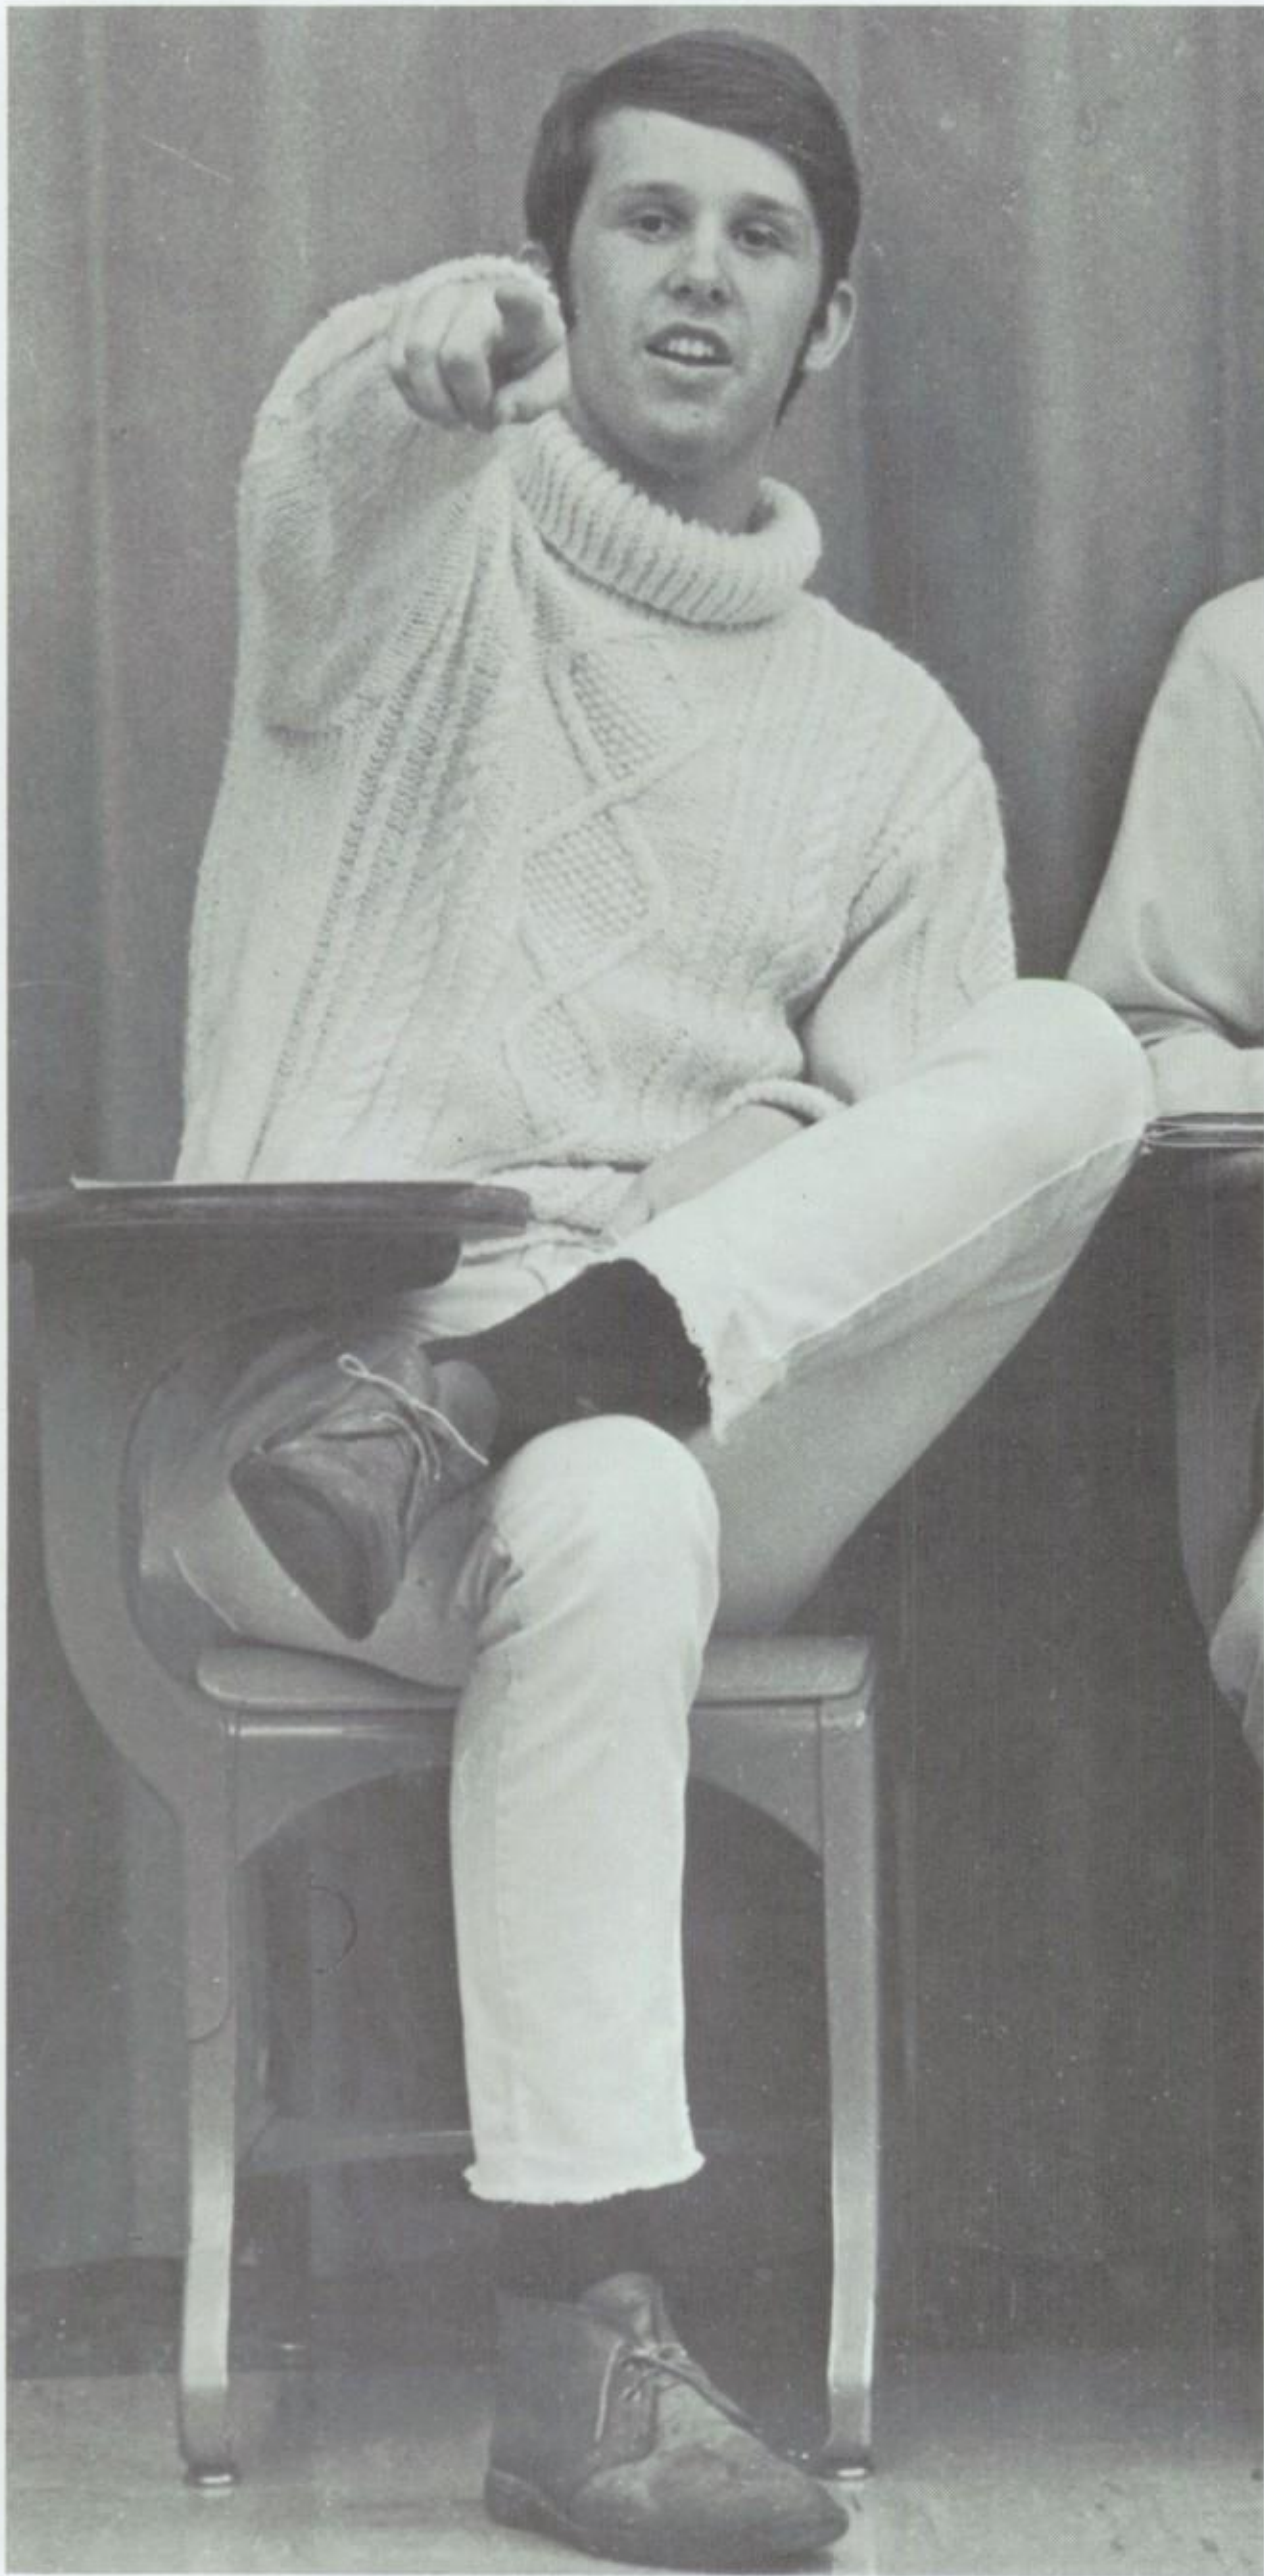

"When I think, I must speak."
Shakespeare

To be able to relate ideas, experiences, opinions, and also have the ability to listen to the minds of others are important in the art of communication. In high school modern problems, humanities, speech classes, and english courses help to build the ability to communicate through class discussions. In the future, this ability will prove invaluable.

Human Carnival Earns $1,348 for A.F.S.

Scott Bryant and Maria Burnham try to decide what room to visit next.

The second David Douglas Human Carnival earned $1,348 for the American Field Service. This money will be used to send Douglas students to study in foreign countries and to bring foreign students to Douglas.

This year the Carnival featured many of the same things as last year's—with some additions. One of the additions was an expanded Loch Ness Tea Shoppe. The "Tea Shoppe" featured English pastries, English folk songs, and the Highland Dancers performing folk dances.

Another addition was the "Off Market Theatre." The "Theatre" presented movies produced and directed by Douglas students.

Jamie Elliott helps serve patrons in the "Ye Olde Loch Ness Tea Shoppe."

Food appeared to be the most popular part of the Human Carnival. Here John De Roest and Marc Huey are served a piece of pizza by Mrs. Jabs.

The Human Carnival brought many interesting people to Douglas. One of the most interesting was Mr. John Binford, a representative of the Peace Corps.

Stephen Summers of the Young Democrats Club shows his button-painting ability during the Carnival. For twenty-five cents the club painted sayings on buttons for the buyer.

Brad Harrett announces one of the upcoming films of the "Off Market Theater."

Doug Detrick makes change for a visitor to the "Off Market Theatre." The theatre presented films made by Mark Krager, Tom Carter, Detrick, Brad Herrett, and others.

Mrs. Northrup (Left), English teacher from the Senior Building, reads Sandra Geier's palm in "Madame Northrup's Palm Reading Shop."

School is a Learning Experience

The between class exodus is a common sight at Douglas.

The libraries and resource centers of the Junior and Senior Buildings proved to be a great help to the student body.

Mark McMannis finds that typing requires a special type of concentration.

Teresa Eells listens intently to a secretary from the Alcohol and Drug Section of the Oregon State Health Association as she speaks to Teresa's field trip group.

From listening, one learns; from this learning, knowledge grows. Steve Monroe and Mr. Ostboe are caught in this process.

Lipman's Sponsors Father-Daughter Banquet

Beverly Johnstone models a Lipman's raincoat for David Douglas girls and their fathers at the Father-Daughter Banquet.

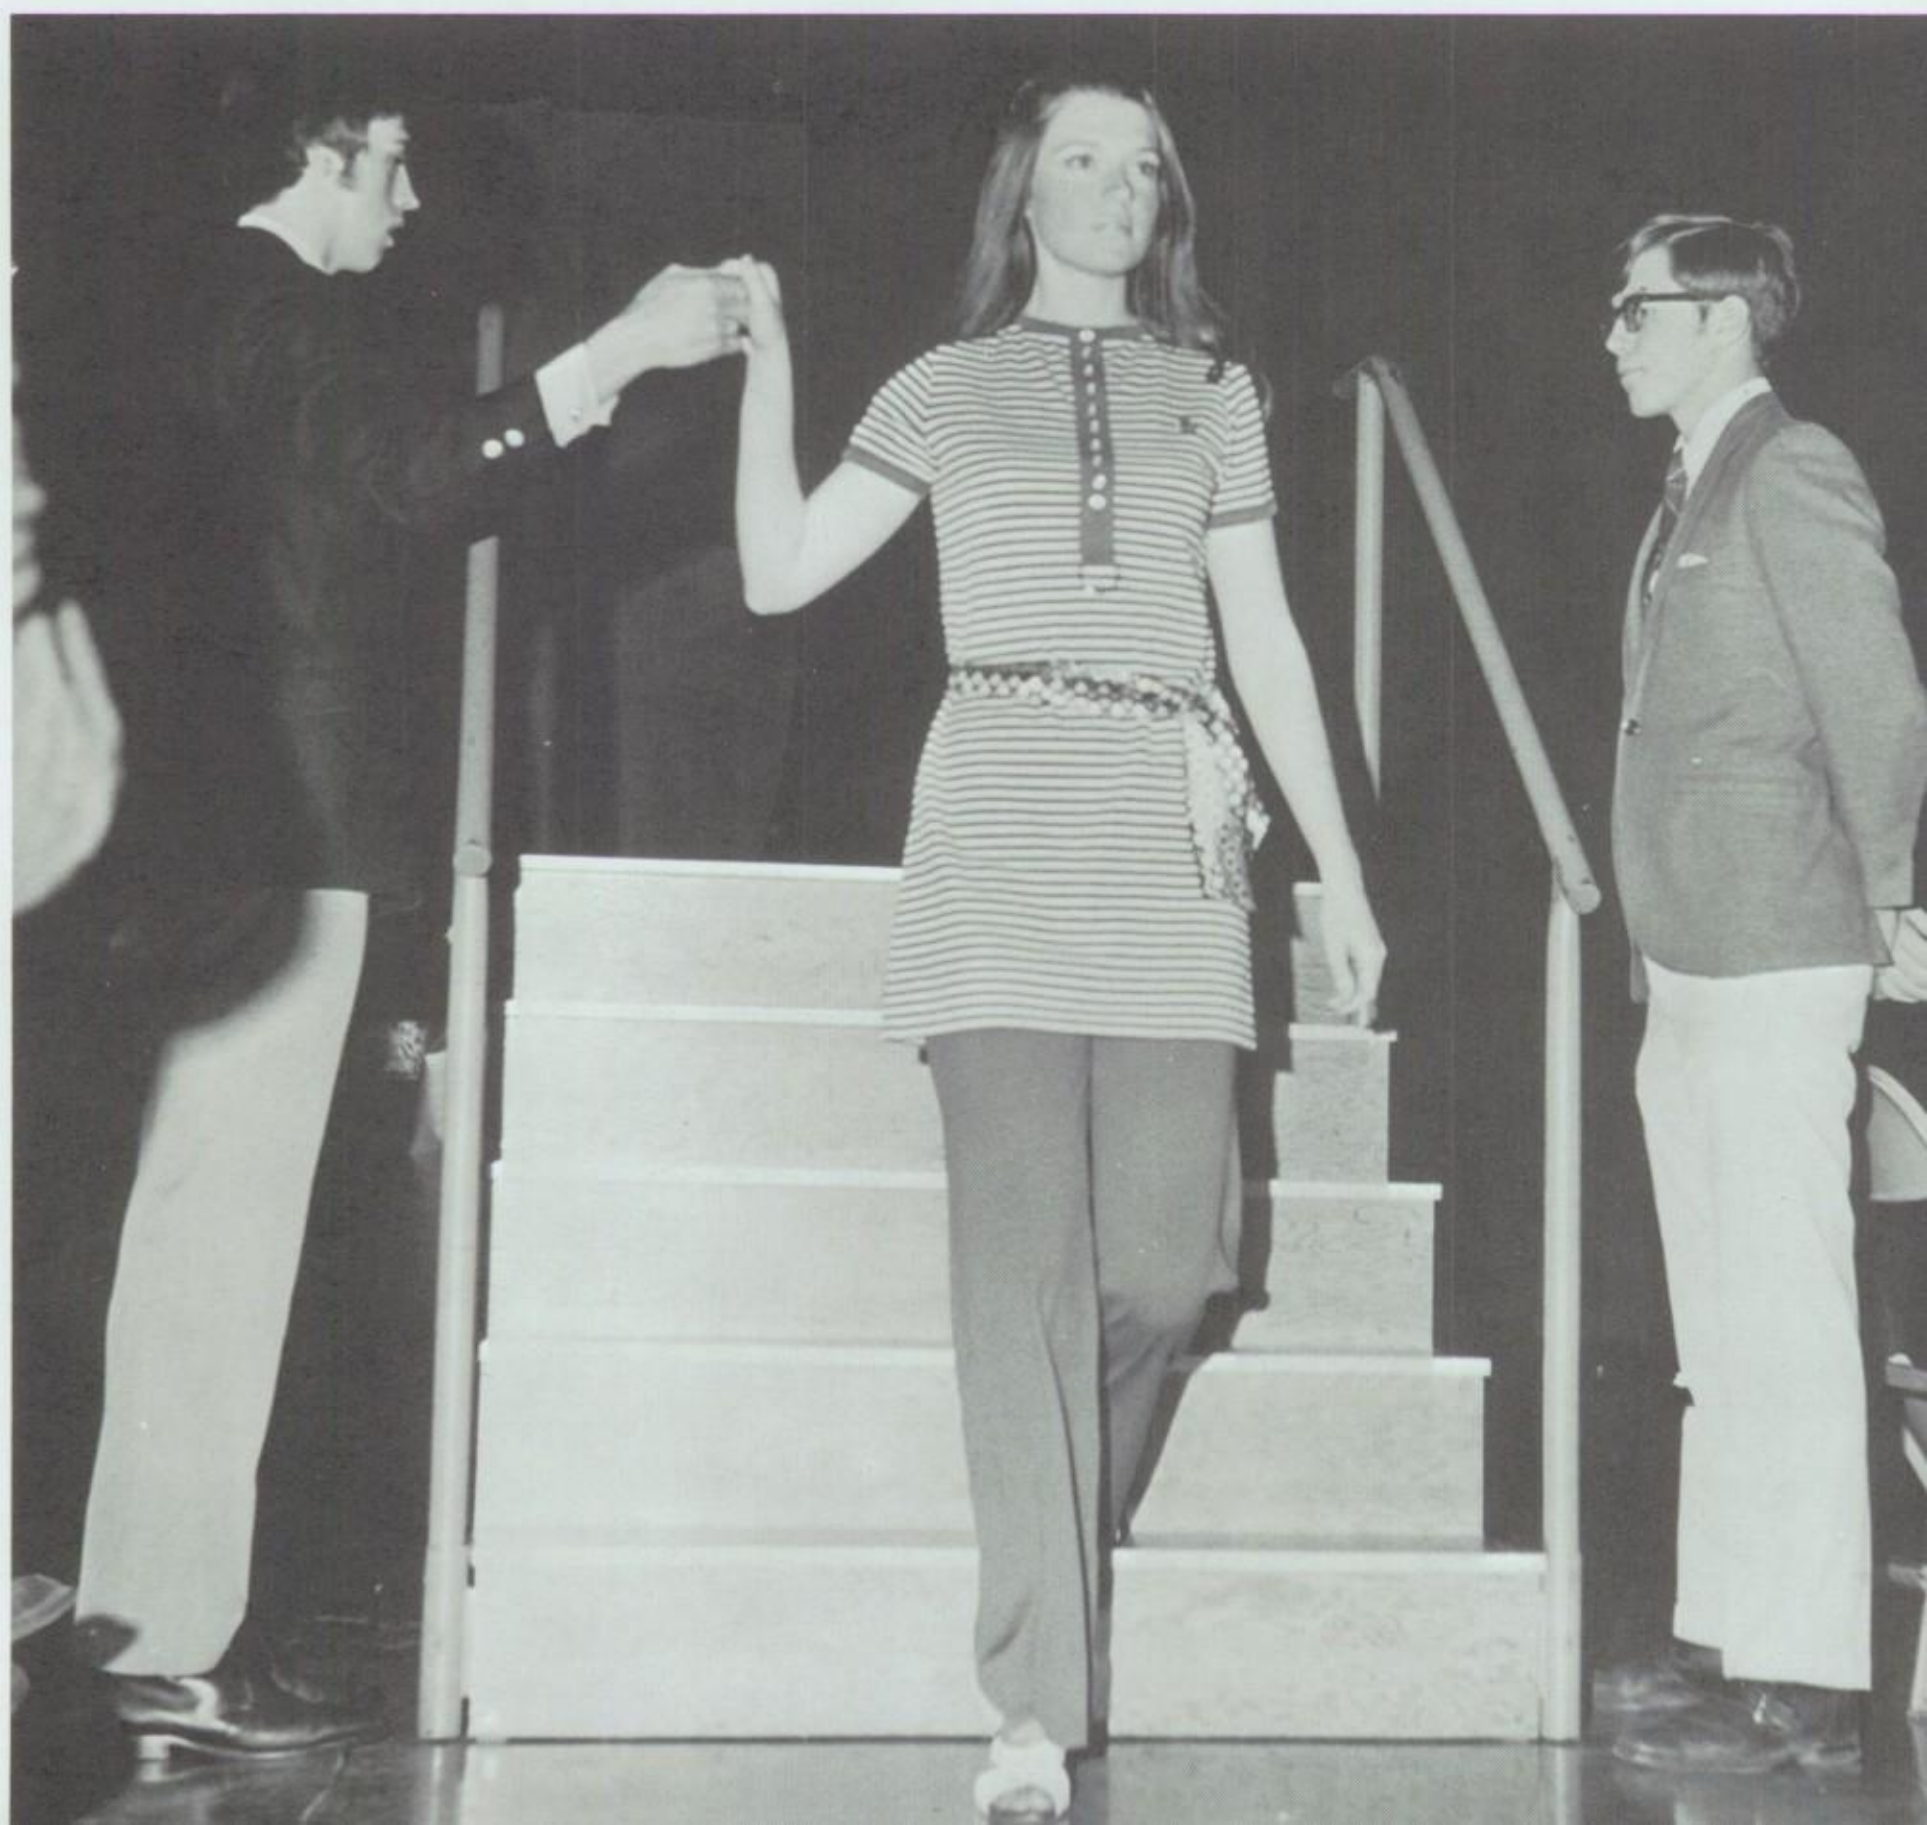

Many hours of work went into the preparation of the food at the Father-Daughter Banquet.

Entertainment was provided for the girls and their fathers by Ron Lorts and Randy Davenport.

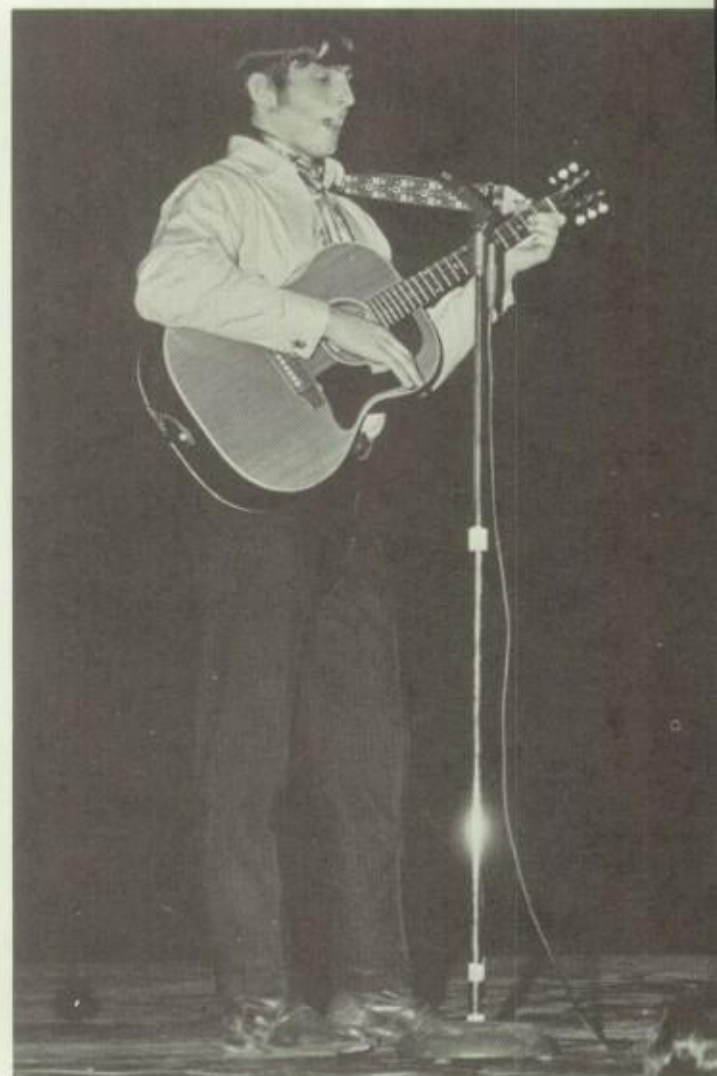

Diane Campbell, Lipman's Hi Board representative from David Douglas, models the new fashions with poise and confidence as Steve Carroll and Skip Amos escort her down the stairs.

Melissa Leichner does a modern jazz dance to the tune of "These Boots Are Made For Walking."

Ron Lorts and Randy Davenport sing "Lord, I."

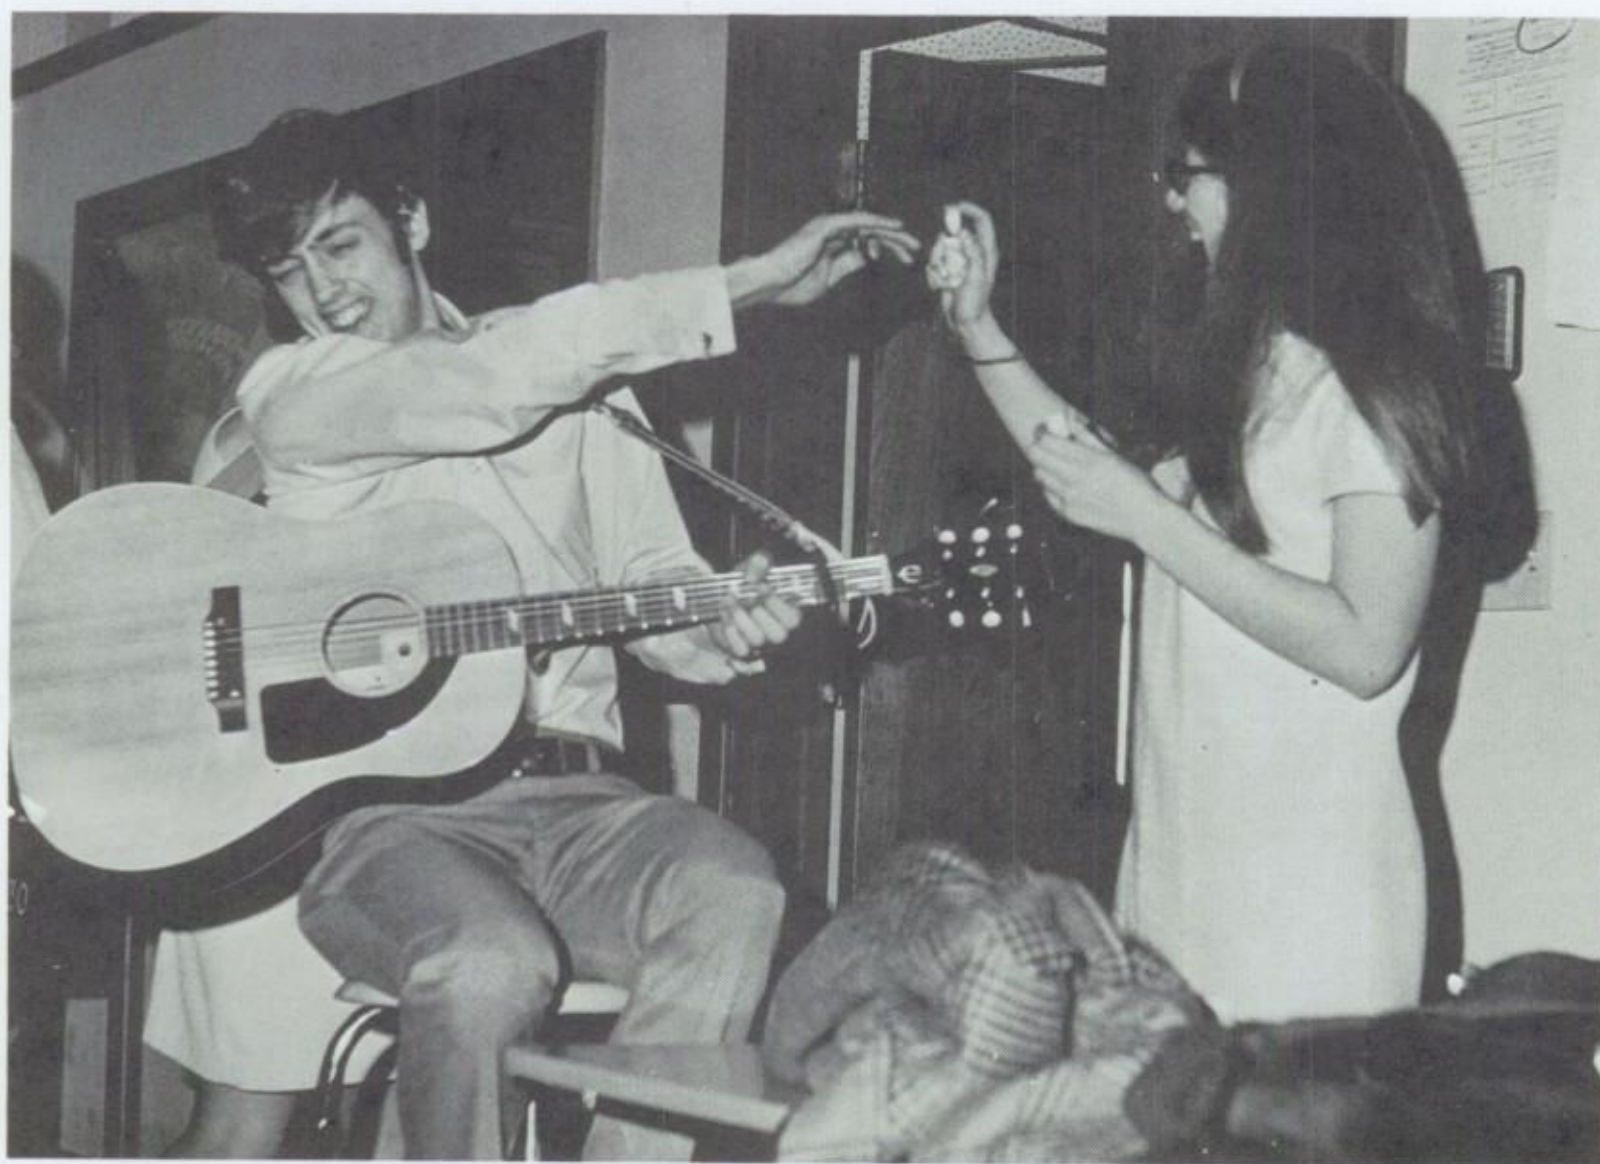

A captive audience watches a performer as the Variety Show proceeds.

Jan and Jean Purdy entertain the audience by singing and playing their accordions.

Debbie York decides Steve Carroll needs some help before he goes on stage to sing.

Regis members John Lansing and Ron Peebles come to the aid of Sealgair in decorating for the Sweetheart's Ball.

A delightful evening is spent by Shirley Capen and Ron Lorts at the Sweetheart's Ball.

Dave Harrington donates time in preparation for the dance.

Gymnasts Display Skills at Gymnastics Assembly

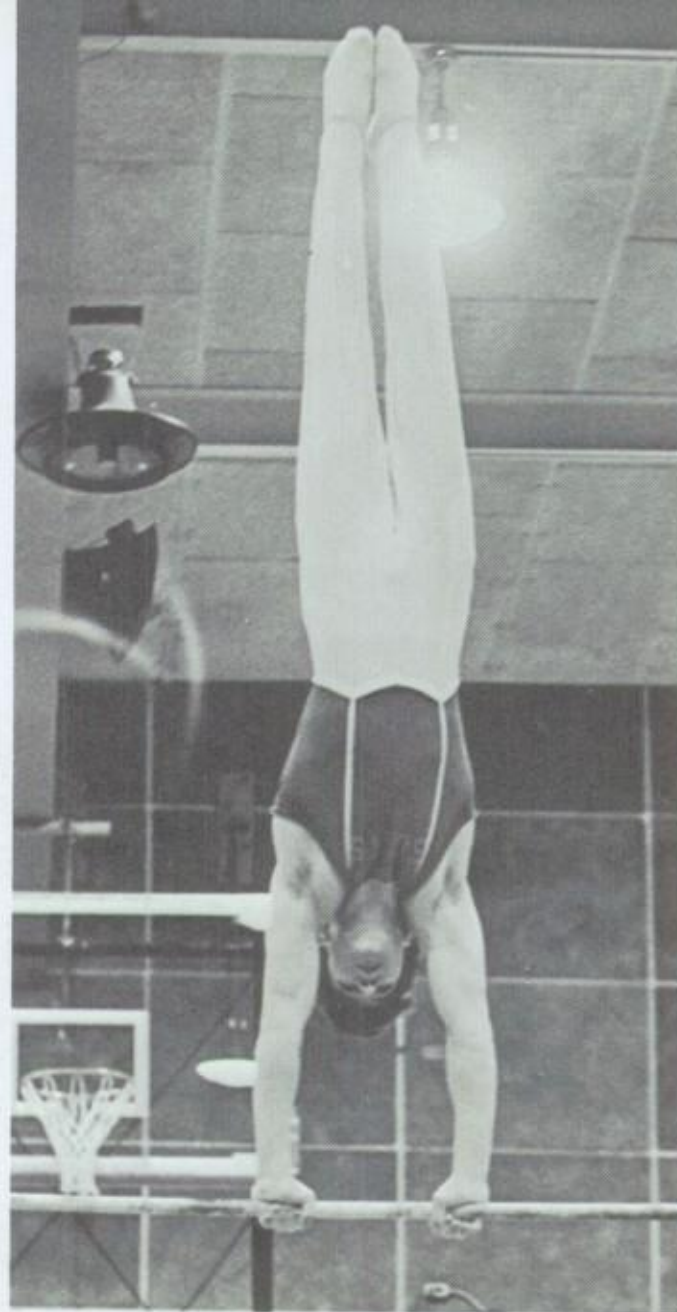

Doug Ingham demonstrates his agility on the side horse.

Karen Heber performs her routine on the balance beam.

Grace, balance and poise are essential ingredients when working on the balance beam. Peggy Ball shows that she possesses all of these ingredients.

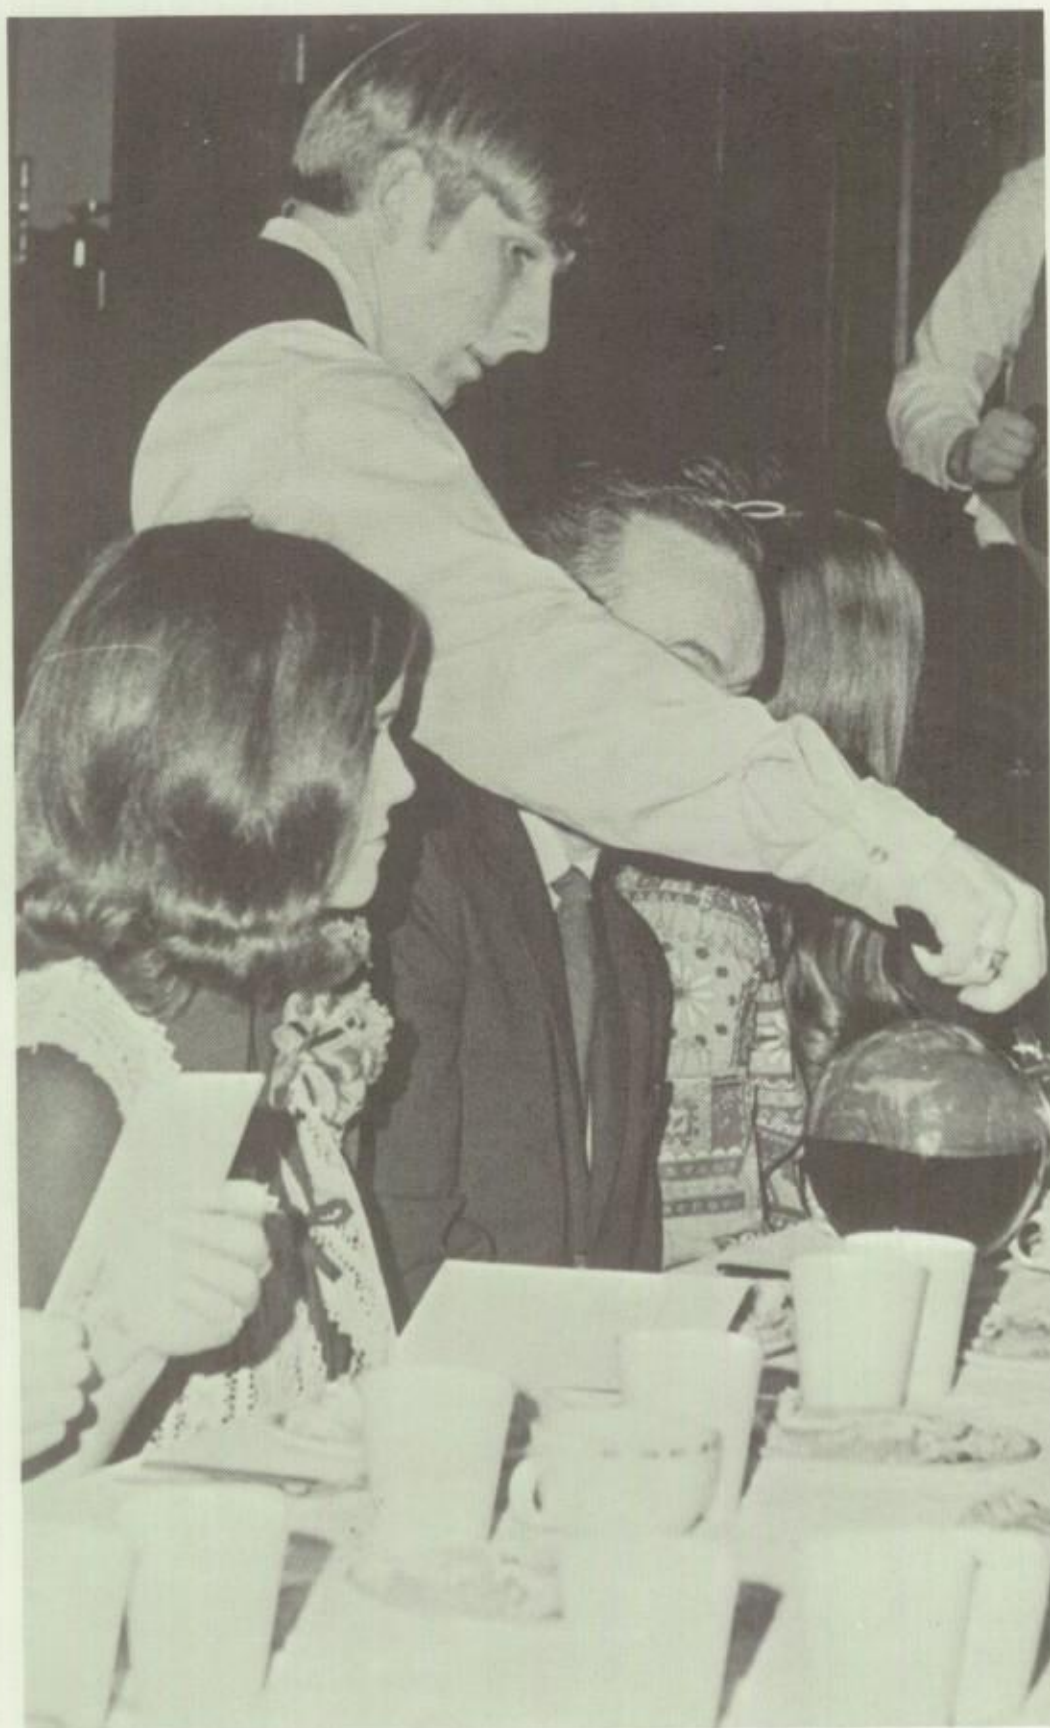

Ross Cauthorn exhibits the strength that the high bar requires.

Chris Berry flies gracefully over the vaulting horse.

Larry Cerotsky, a member of Sealgair, serves Pam Kelsay and her father at the Father-Daughter Tea.

Clubs Perform Services for School and Community

Small jobs and services within the school and community are supplied by the social service and interest clubs. These clubs have been involved in the preparation of the Thanksgiving Assembly, the Sweethearts Ball, the Father-Daughter Tea, and the Easter Assembly. The grand opening of Pay Less Drugstore and the activity boards located in various places throughout the school have presented other services for the clubs to perform.

Royal D volunteered services at the grand opening of Pay Less Drug Store. Member Chet Stevens directs traffic for parking spaces in the huge lot.

The activity board located in the senior building gym lobby receives attention from Debby Mayer and Julie Henderson. The board is changed weekly by members of the DeFreya social service club.

Jack Baur, Royal D member, contributes a Saturday to the direction of traffic at the Pay Less Drugstore.

Carnicapers Provides Money for PTSA Scholarship Fund

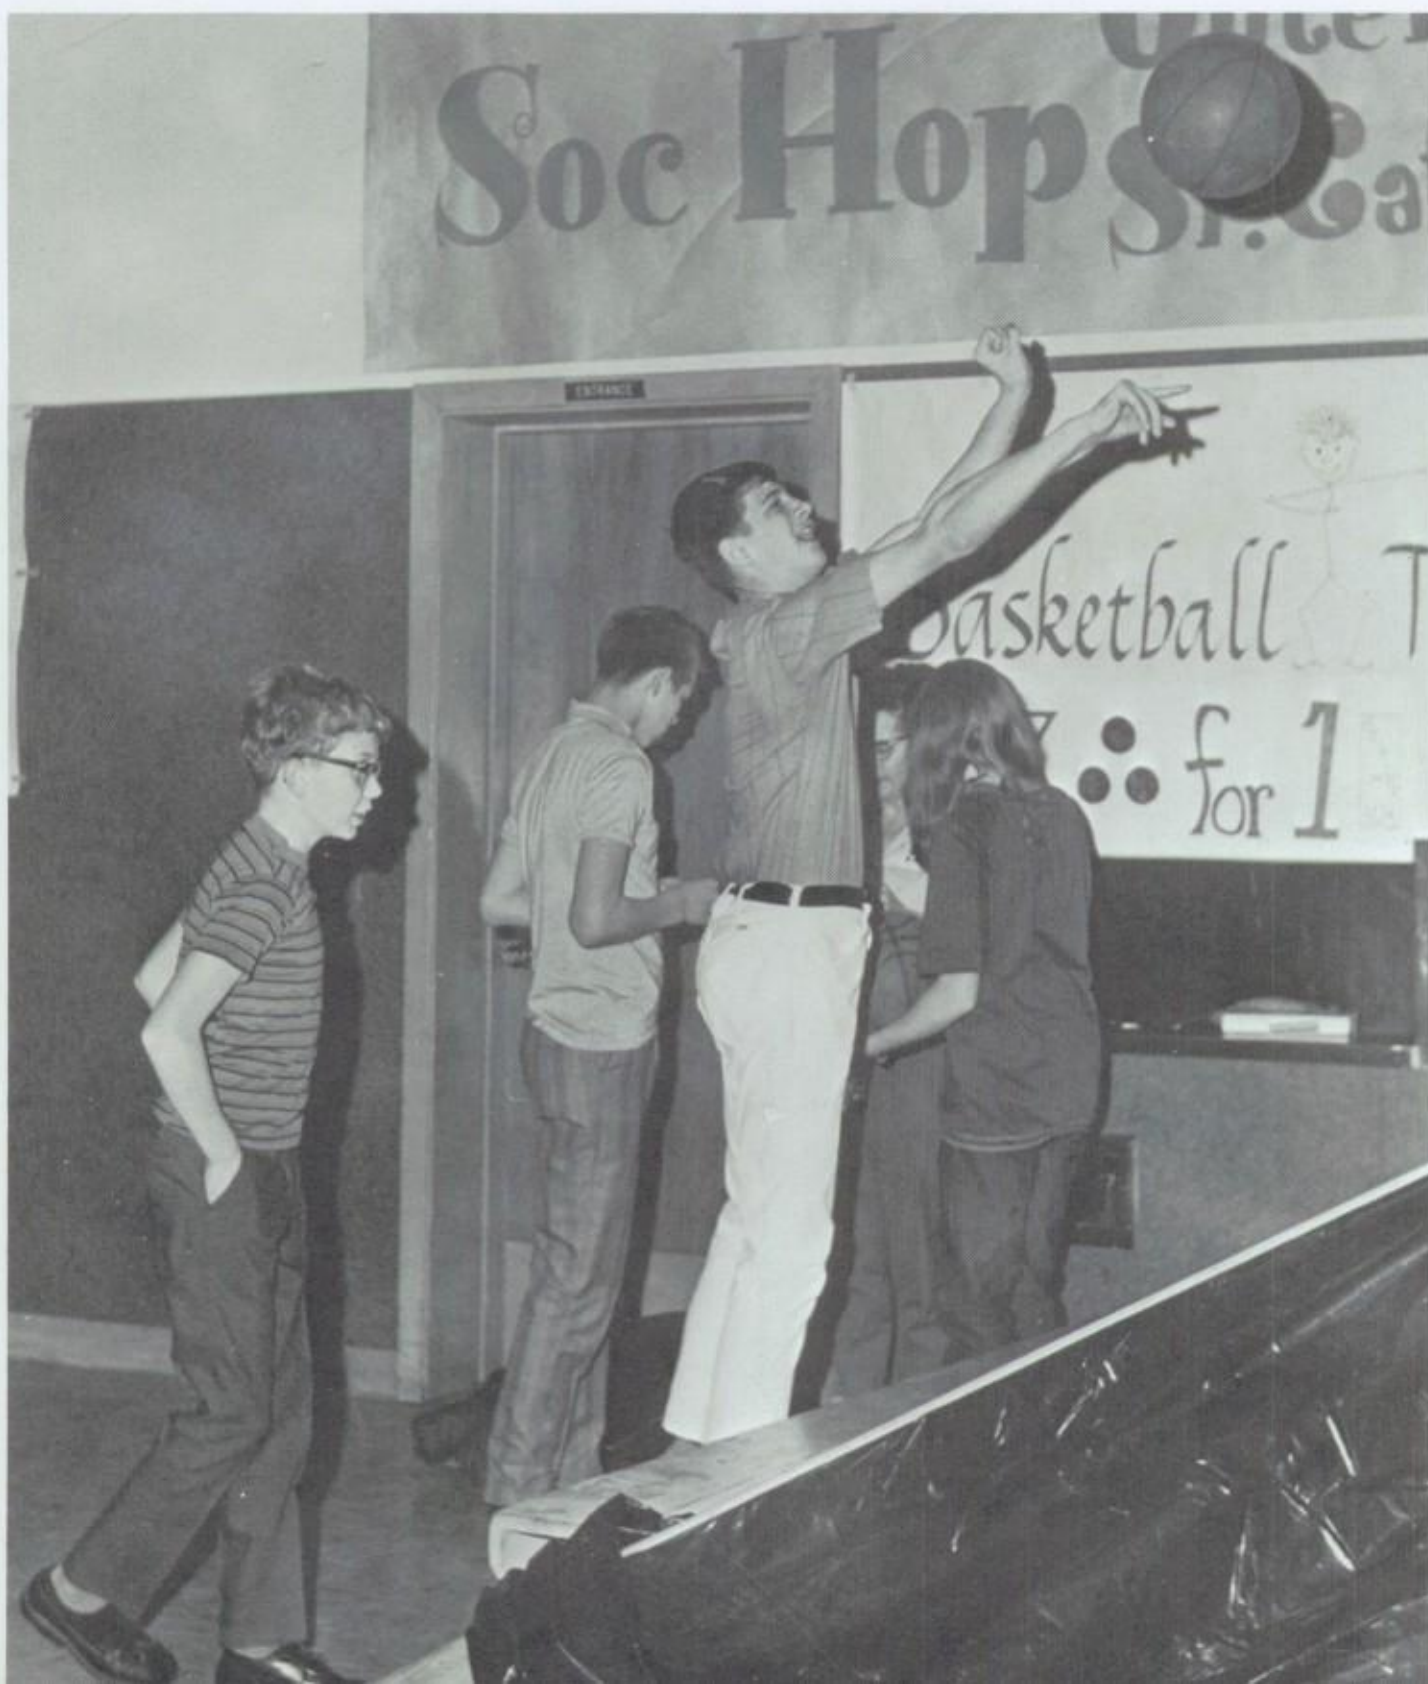

The shooting gallery was one of the many booths provided to raise money for the PTSA Scholarship Fund.

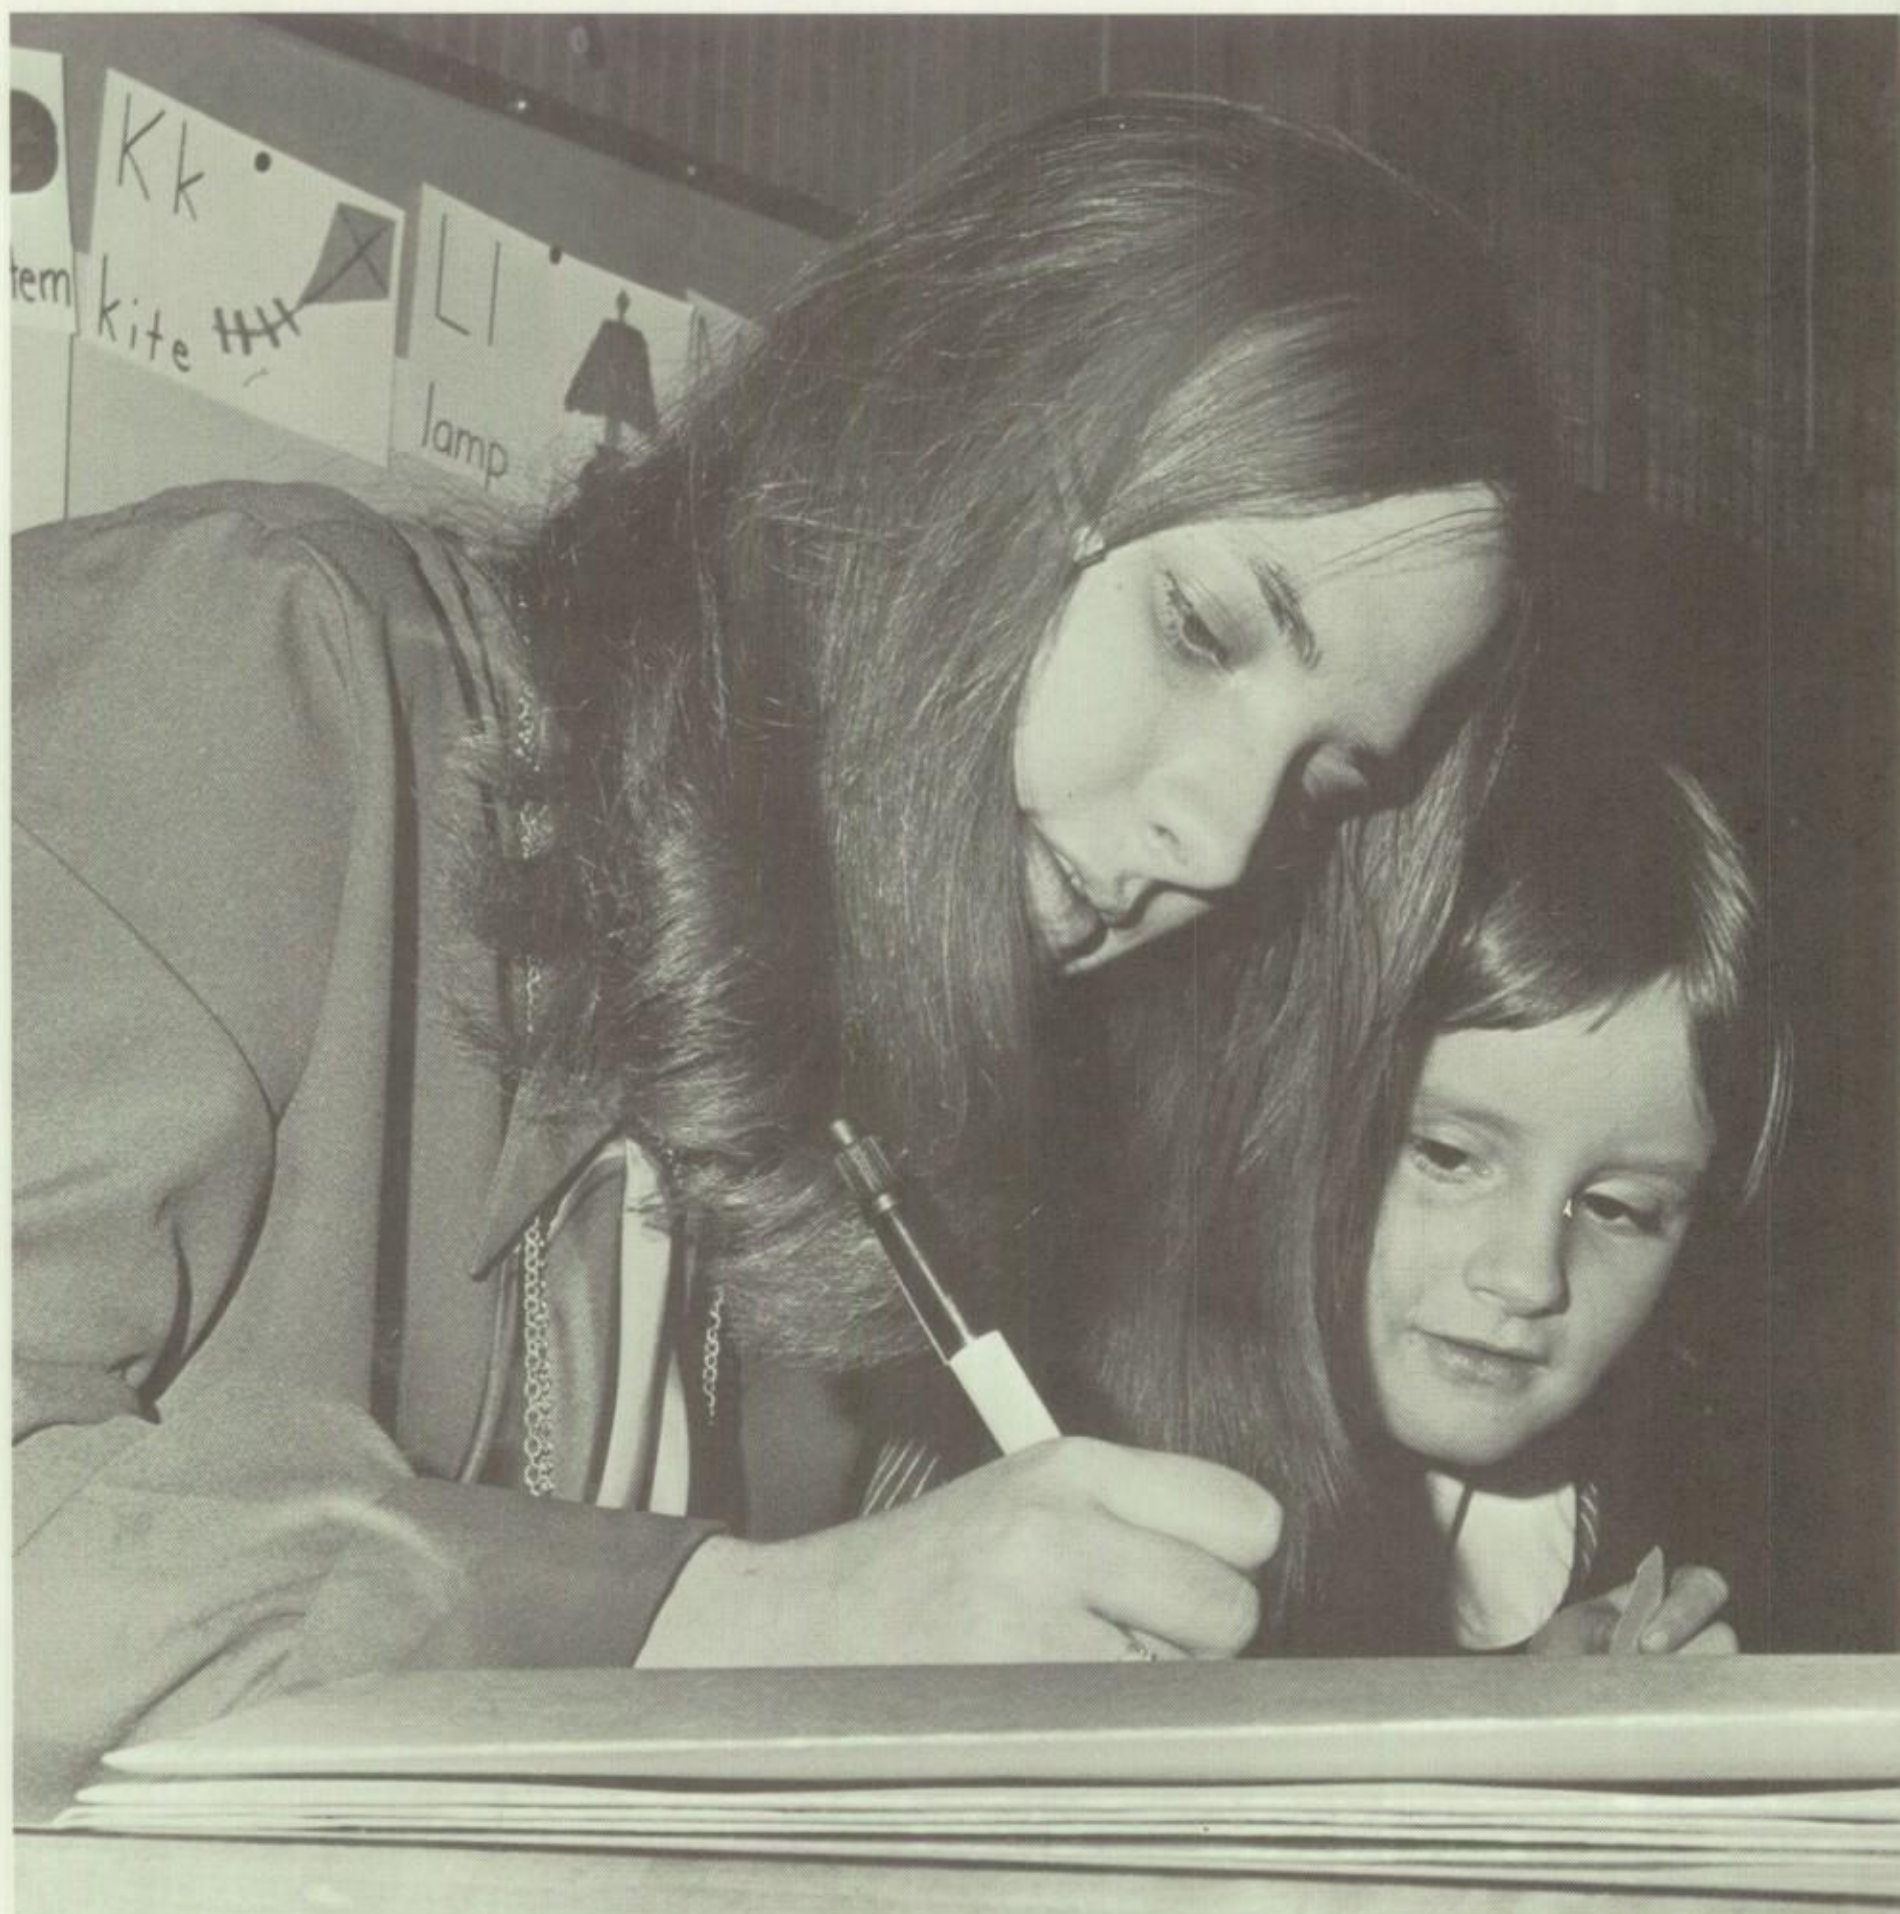

Mrs. Bakke and Mrs. Roehm look for bargains at the 'garage' sale.

These two PTSA mothers donate their time selling tickets for entrance to various activities. The games ranged from the ball throw, darts, fishing for prizes, ring toss, shooting gallery, throwing ping pong balls into fish bowls, to the rat race and cake walk. A dance was held in the gym for the teenagers.

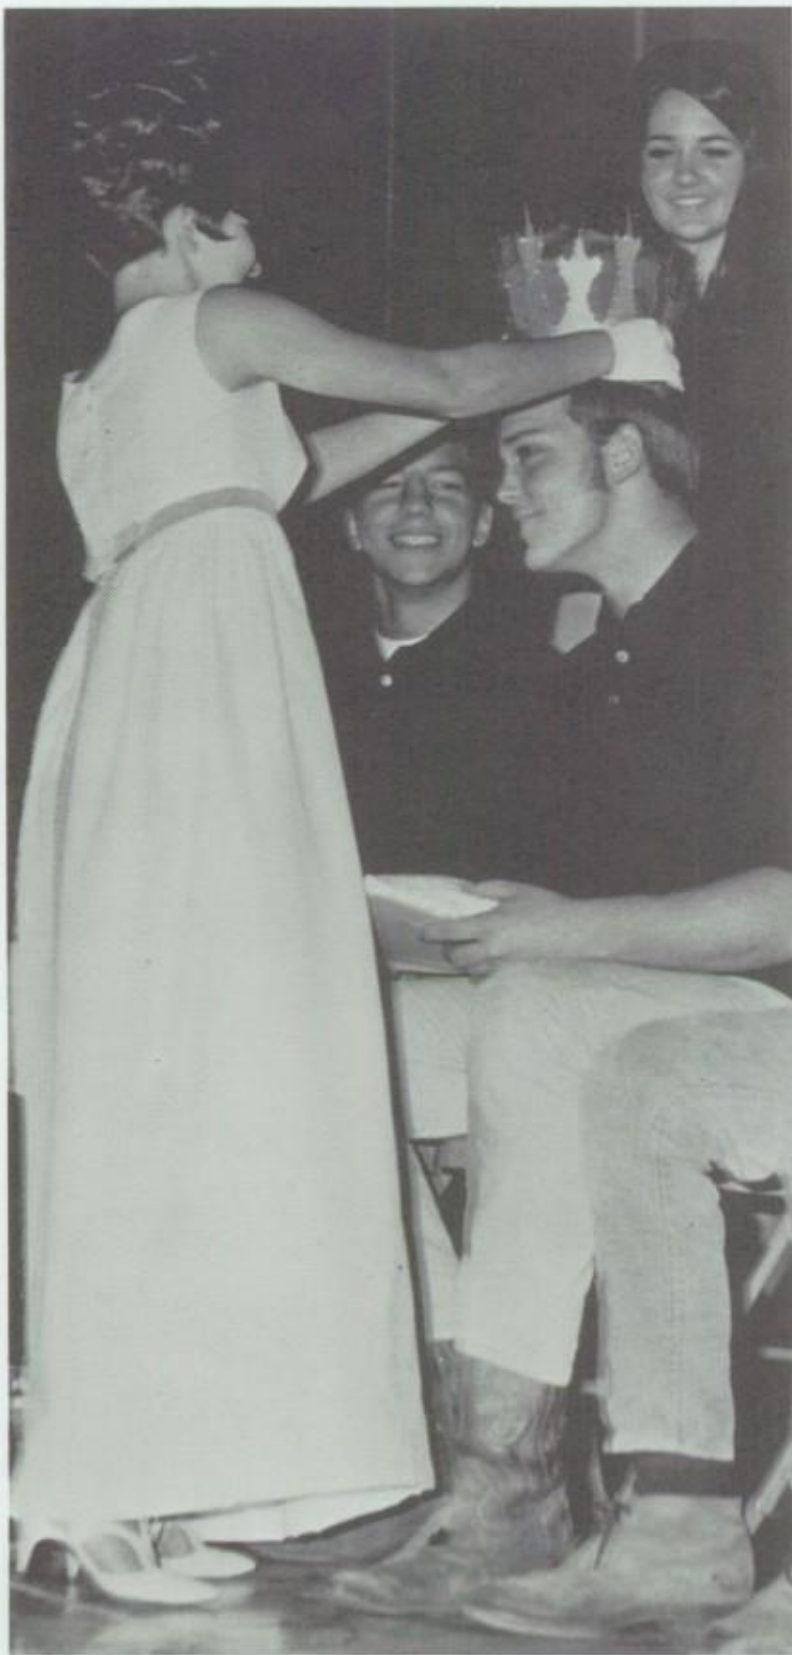

Many came to try their luck at the basketball throw.

F.T.A. member Donna Measner assists a first grader at North Powellhurst while cadet teaching.

Clubs Supply an Opportunity for Individual Interests to be Cultivated

The Thanksgiving Assembly is a combination of efforts supplied by girls of the Taif social service club. Member Jean Reyburn crowns Rich Palmer Mr. Thanksgiving.

Brian Andersen and Jeff Blackmer find concentration the key to a good chess game.

The Ski Club takes time away from the slopes to sell hot dogs at the Homecoming game.

Speech Squad Offers Long Trips, Hard Work, Dry Throats, and a Lot of Satisfaction

Throughout the year at various times during the school day a handful of people may be seen piling into a small mini-bus and chugging away to such places as O.C.E., Linfield, Lewis and Clark, Stanford, and other colleges and high schools. These people are members of the speech squad, and under the able guidance of Mrs. Simpson they have brought many honors and awards to David Douglas High School.

Douglas has produced an unusually fine number of serious and humorous interpreters. In this field Jane Berry and Joe Medley have won district honors. Other winners are Tom Blair and Gary Walmark who have earned two first place trophies in debate this year. All in all, it has been a very successful year for the Speech Squad.

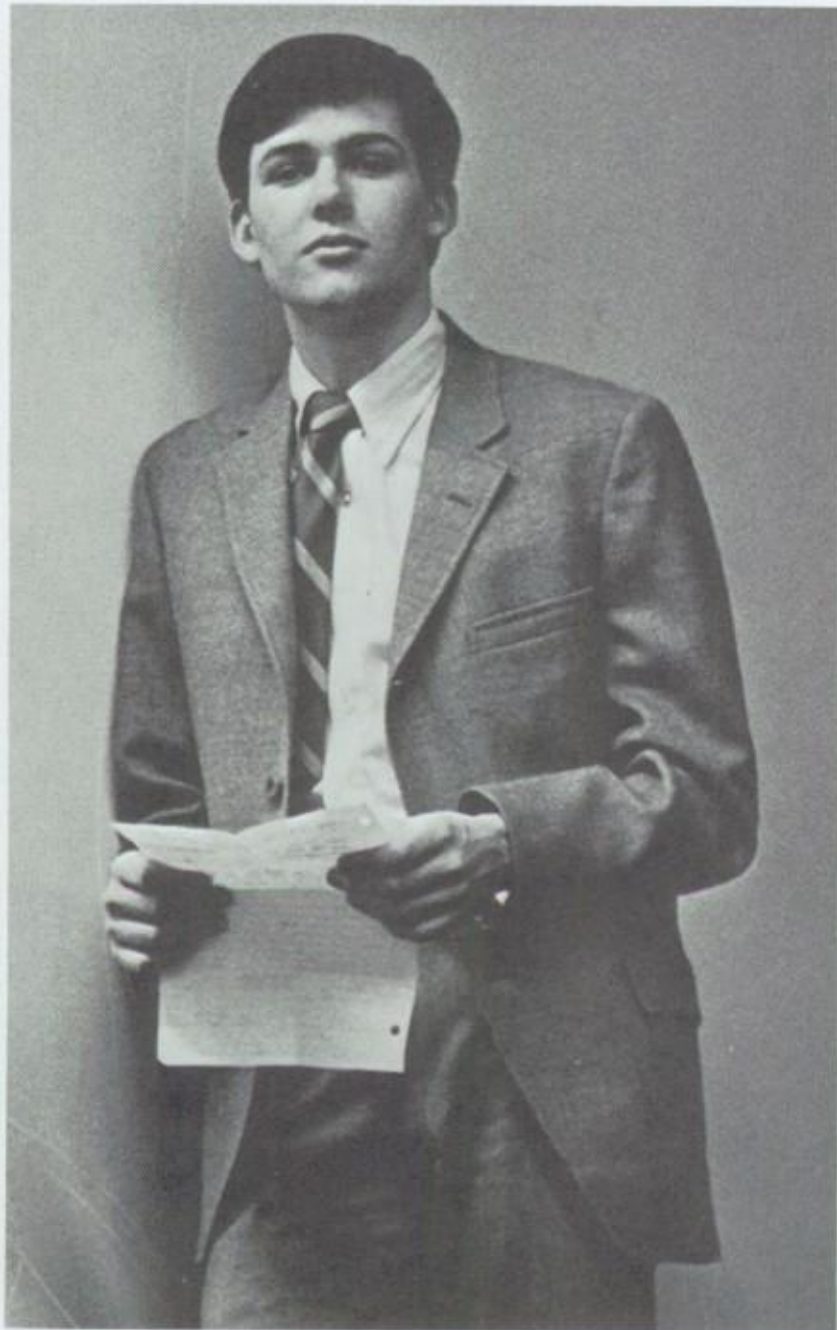

Public speaking requires a certain amount of training and guidance. However, when one is born with the gift of gab, like Joe Medley, training is secondary. Joe has won honors for his humorous After Dinner Speeches and seems to be holding a captive audience as he imparts one such anecdote.

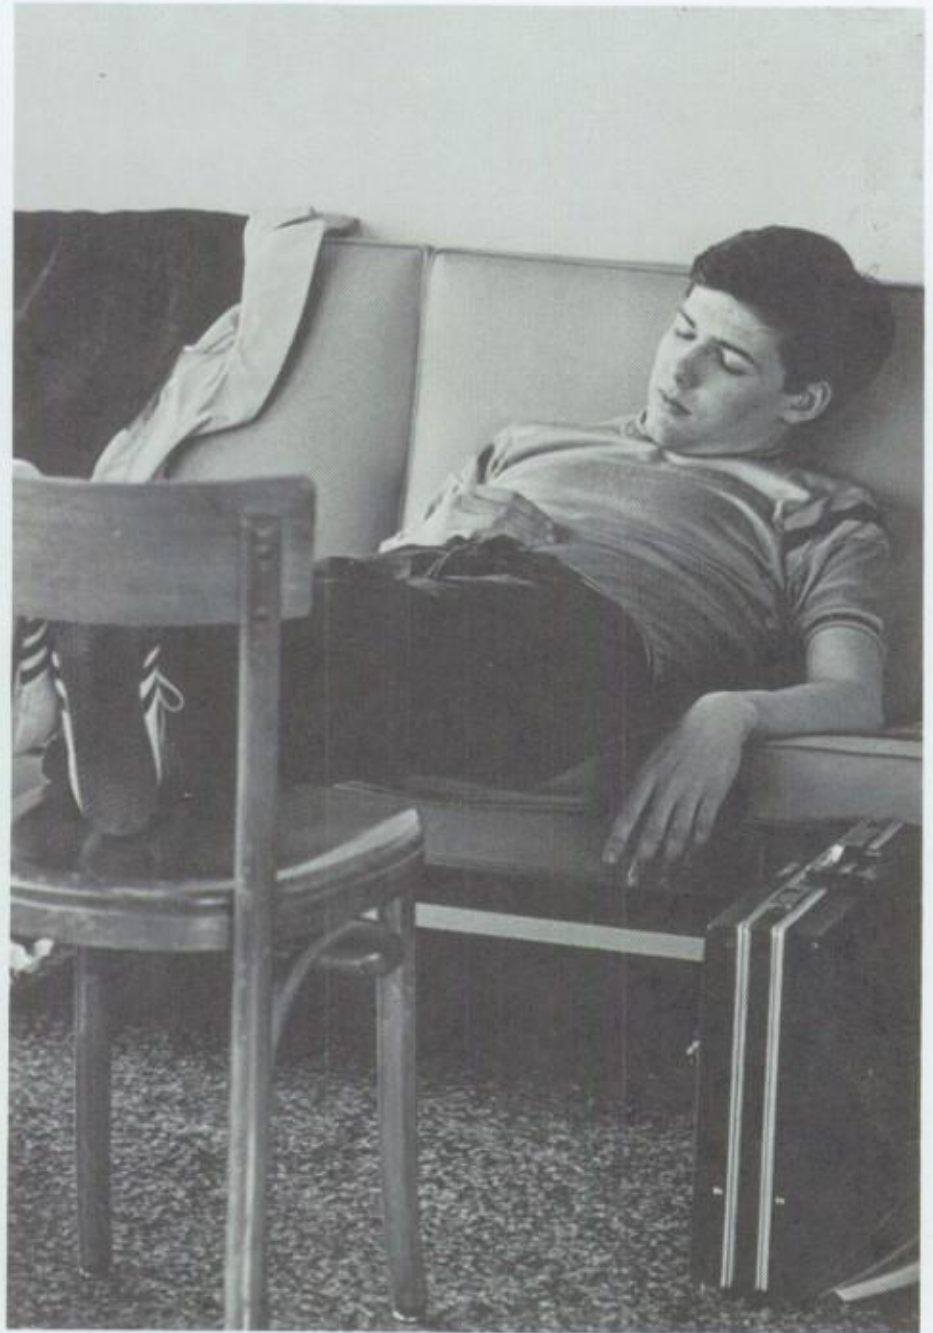

While en-route to the Linfield tournament Monica Correia studies her presentation in the mini-bus.

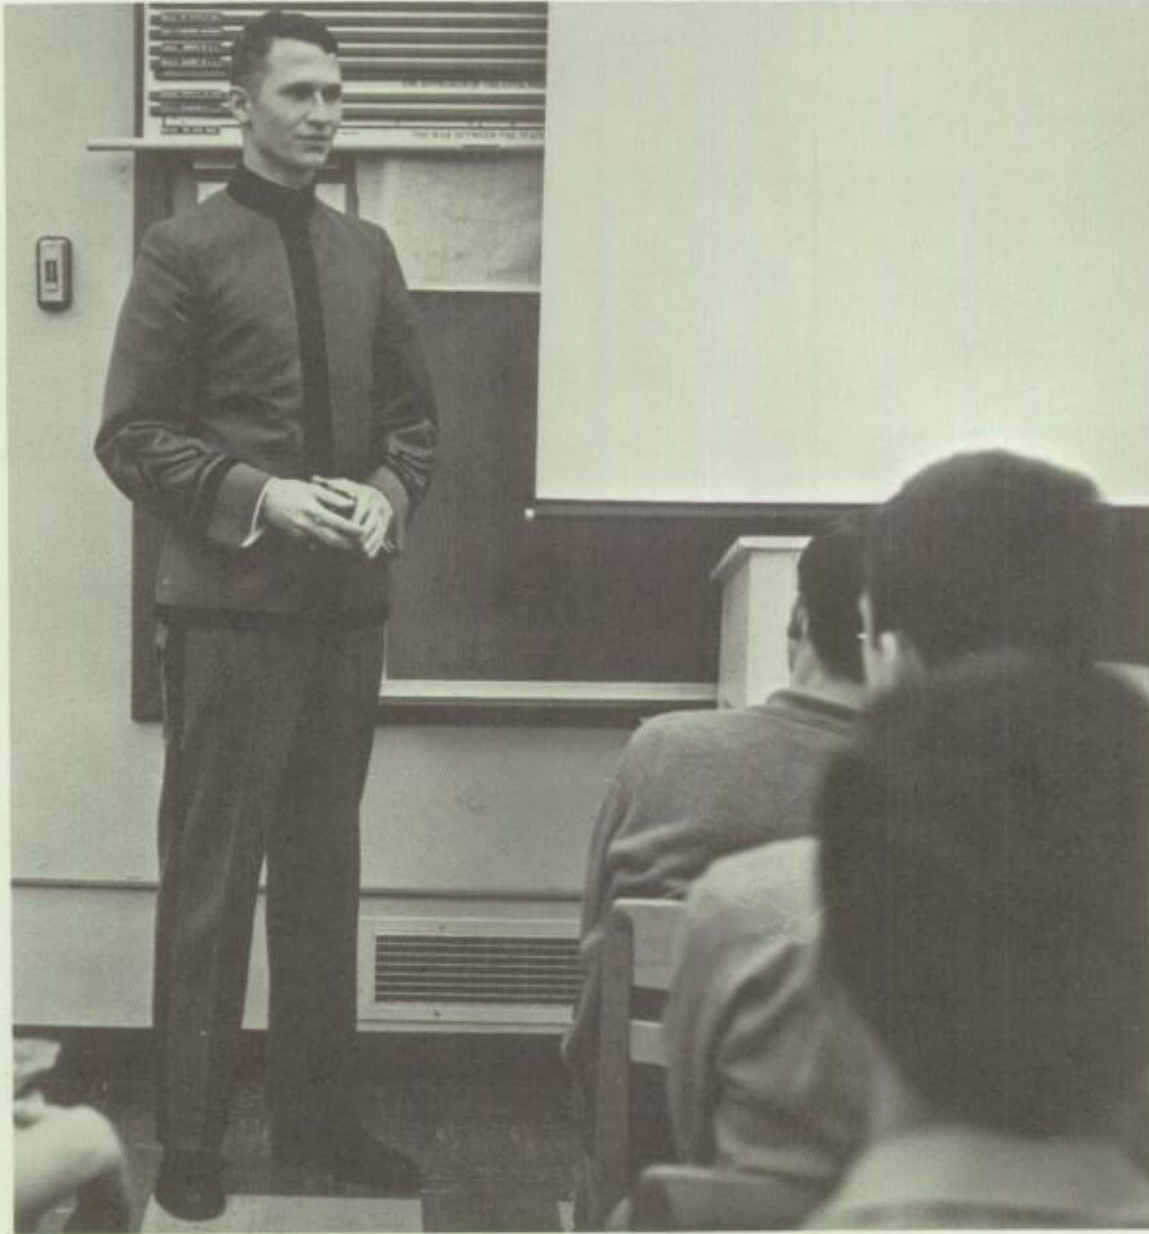

Craig Stevens waits for an attentive audience before he delivers his speech.

Although some members of the squad find socializing an enjoyable way to pass the time between events, others, such as Craig, find a pleasant relief in slumber.

College Visitations Give Students Chance to Plan for Future

West Point Cadet Rodney Miller talks to interested students about going West Point.

Each year representatives from various colleges and universities visit David Douglas. The purpose of these visits is to inform students about the institutions they represent.

Two of the many schools that visited this year were Mt. Hood Community College and West Point.

The West Point representative was Cadet Rodney Miller. Cadet Miller told of the age, educational, and physical requirements necessary for becoming a cadet.

From Mt. Hood came Mrs. Maxine Watson, Mr. Chuck Reinmuth, and Mr. Jim Chittick. They explained the possibility of students attending Mt. Hood for either one or two years. They also explained the entrance requirements for attending Mt. Hood.

Through these visitations students are better prepared to make intelligent plans for their lives after high school.

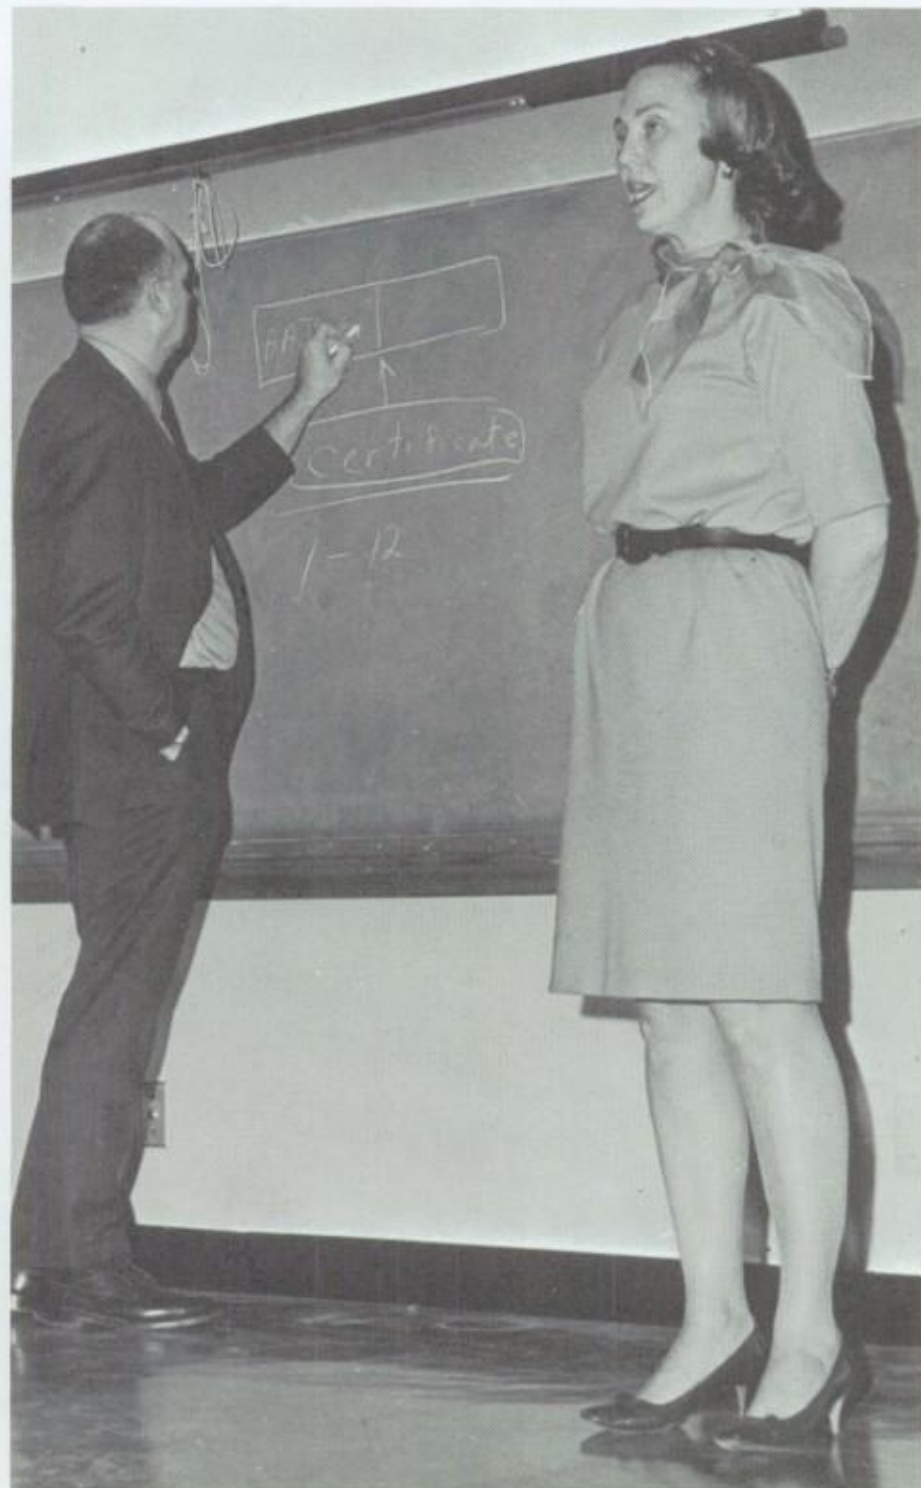

Debbie Heiden and Jim Olson listen intently to representatives from Mt. Hood Community College speaking to David Douglas students.

Mrs. Maxine Watson and Mr. Chuck Reinmuth explain the many different programs that Mt. Hood Community College offers.

Of the many representatives that came to Douglas, Cadet Miller was one of the most informative. He spoke of the various requirements for becoming a cadet, life as a cadet, and opportunities after graduation.

Clubs Provide Time and Place for the Development of Interests

Much time is required for the understanding of audio-visual equipment. Keith Gutierrez, audio-visual club member, practices his skills continuously to the benefit of other students.

School life at Douglas is not only that of books and studies, but also of involvement and anticipation. An adventuresome interest in the outdoors can lead through a wilderness of excitement, one which the Adventurer's Club members have come to know.

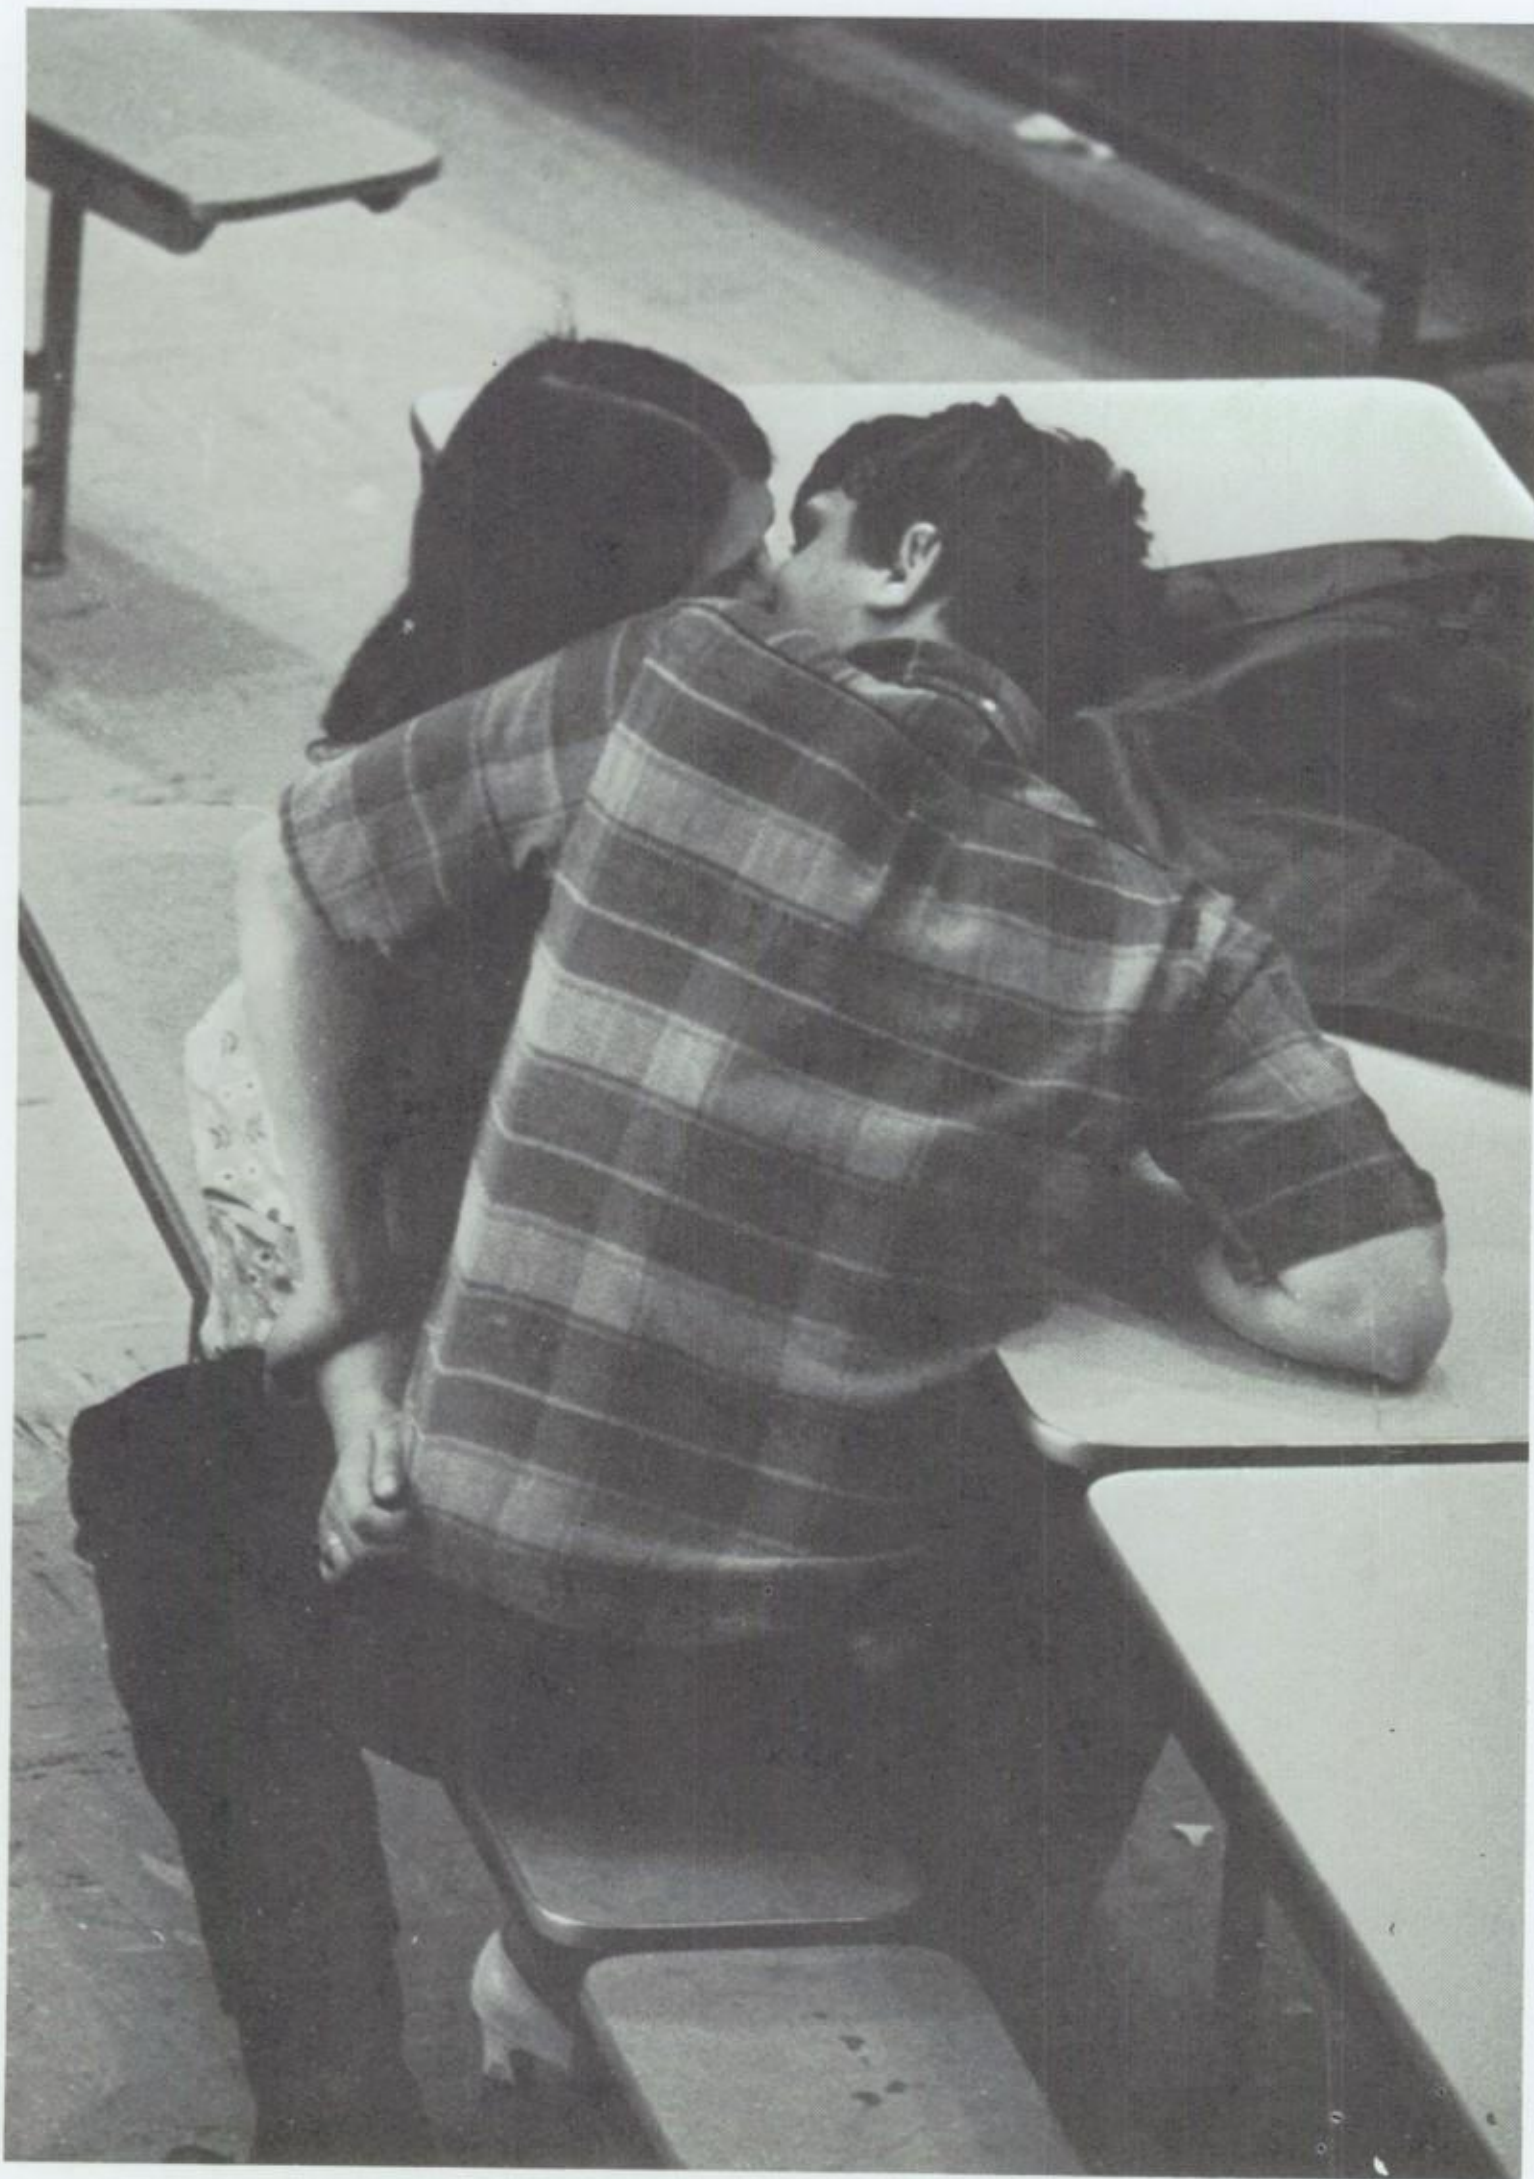

Diane Wheeler and Sandra Hansen prepare a table for the A.F.S. Human Carnival spaghetti dinner. The dinner was offered to help raise money to send students overseas to study.

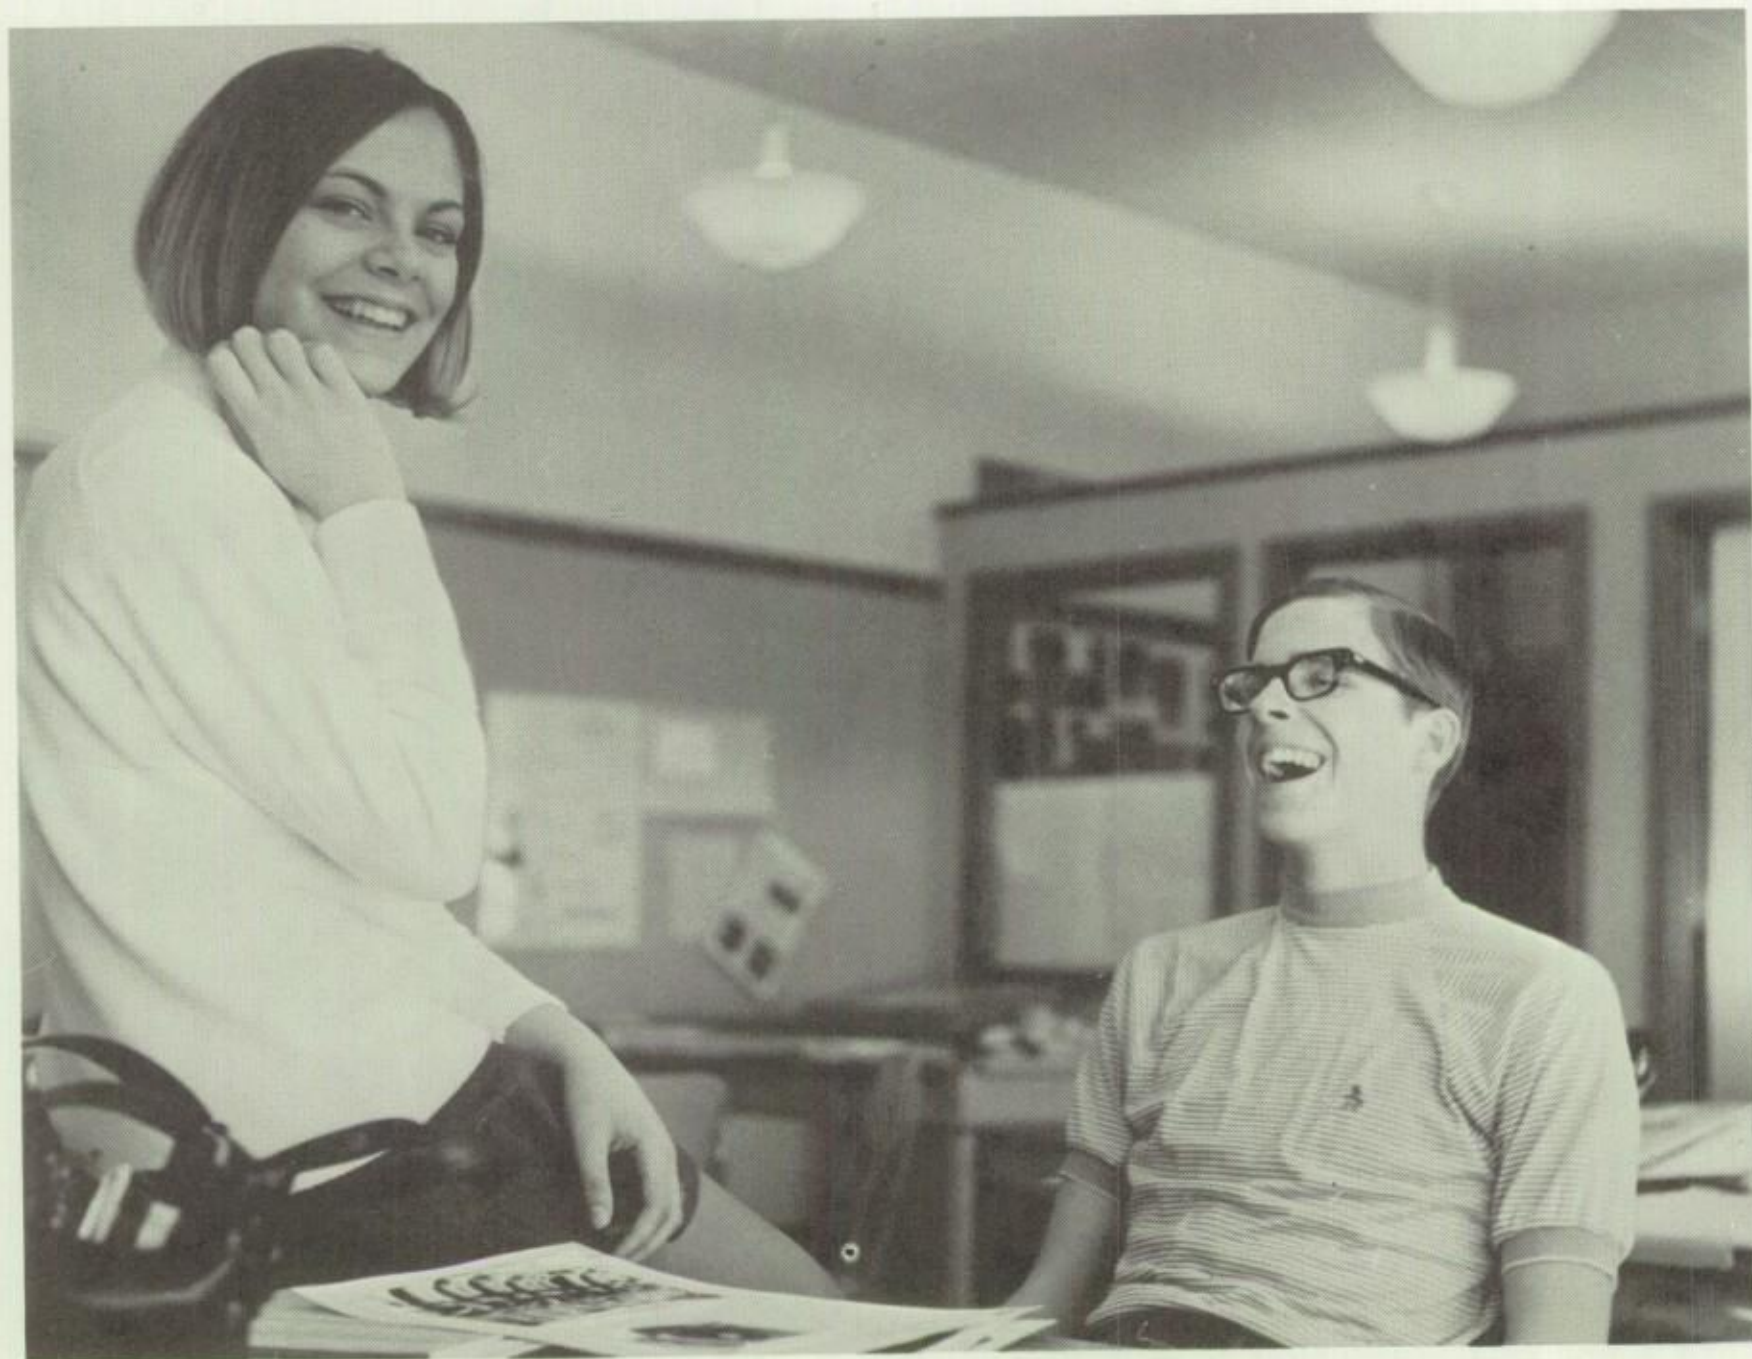

Socializing is not the only function of the social service clubs; they also participate in various school activities. Mike Lichty, a Regis member, serves coffee at the Father-Daughter Banquet.

Students Find Other Uses for Newly Acquired I.S. Time Than Studying

Teamwork Produces the 1970 Celtic

A few moments of leisure is important to any hard working staff. Sue Woods and Stan Skreslet relax after a day of hard work. The production of the yearbook involves many such hours of work spent in searching for the exact phrase or word needed in a cutline, headline, or copy block and wandering through piles of pictures to find the right one. Working as a team, the book is put together by the staff as the year progresses. The co-operation of the whole staff is needed to present to the student body an accurate account of the school year. Through the guidance of Marilyn Ruttle, this year's editor, and with the help of Mr. Darby, the Celtic advisor, this teamwork produces a yearbook that is the combination of many minds and talents.

Bert Whalen searches his mind for one elusive word that is needed to finish his copy.

Corrections are necessary every now and then to present an accurate account of school events. Sharon Sullivan and Roger Swayze look carefully at a layout to see if any corrections need to be made.

Editor Marilyn Ruttle is perhaps the hardest working member of the staff. She must plan all color pictures, arrange the pages of the yearbook, and assist staff members when they need help.

The photographers on the staff spend much extra time each week going between the staff and the darkroom to meet the staff's need for pictures. Dave Brandenburg listens for another assignment.

Drama Department Presents Hamlet: A Story of Revenge

Laertes (Tim Watts) and King Claudius (Bob Kinney) prepare the poisoned sword to kill Hamlet.

Ophelia's brother, Laertes, shows concern and sympathy for her madness as a result of her father, Polonius' death, and her love for Hamlet who killed him. King Claudius and Queen Gertrude (Judy Hudson) watch Ophelia (BoDee Burnett) as she sings in her madness.

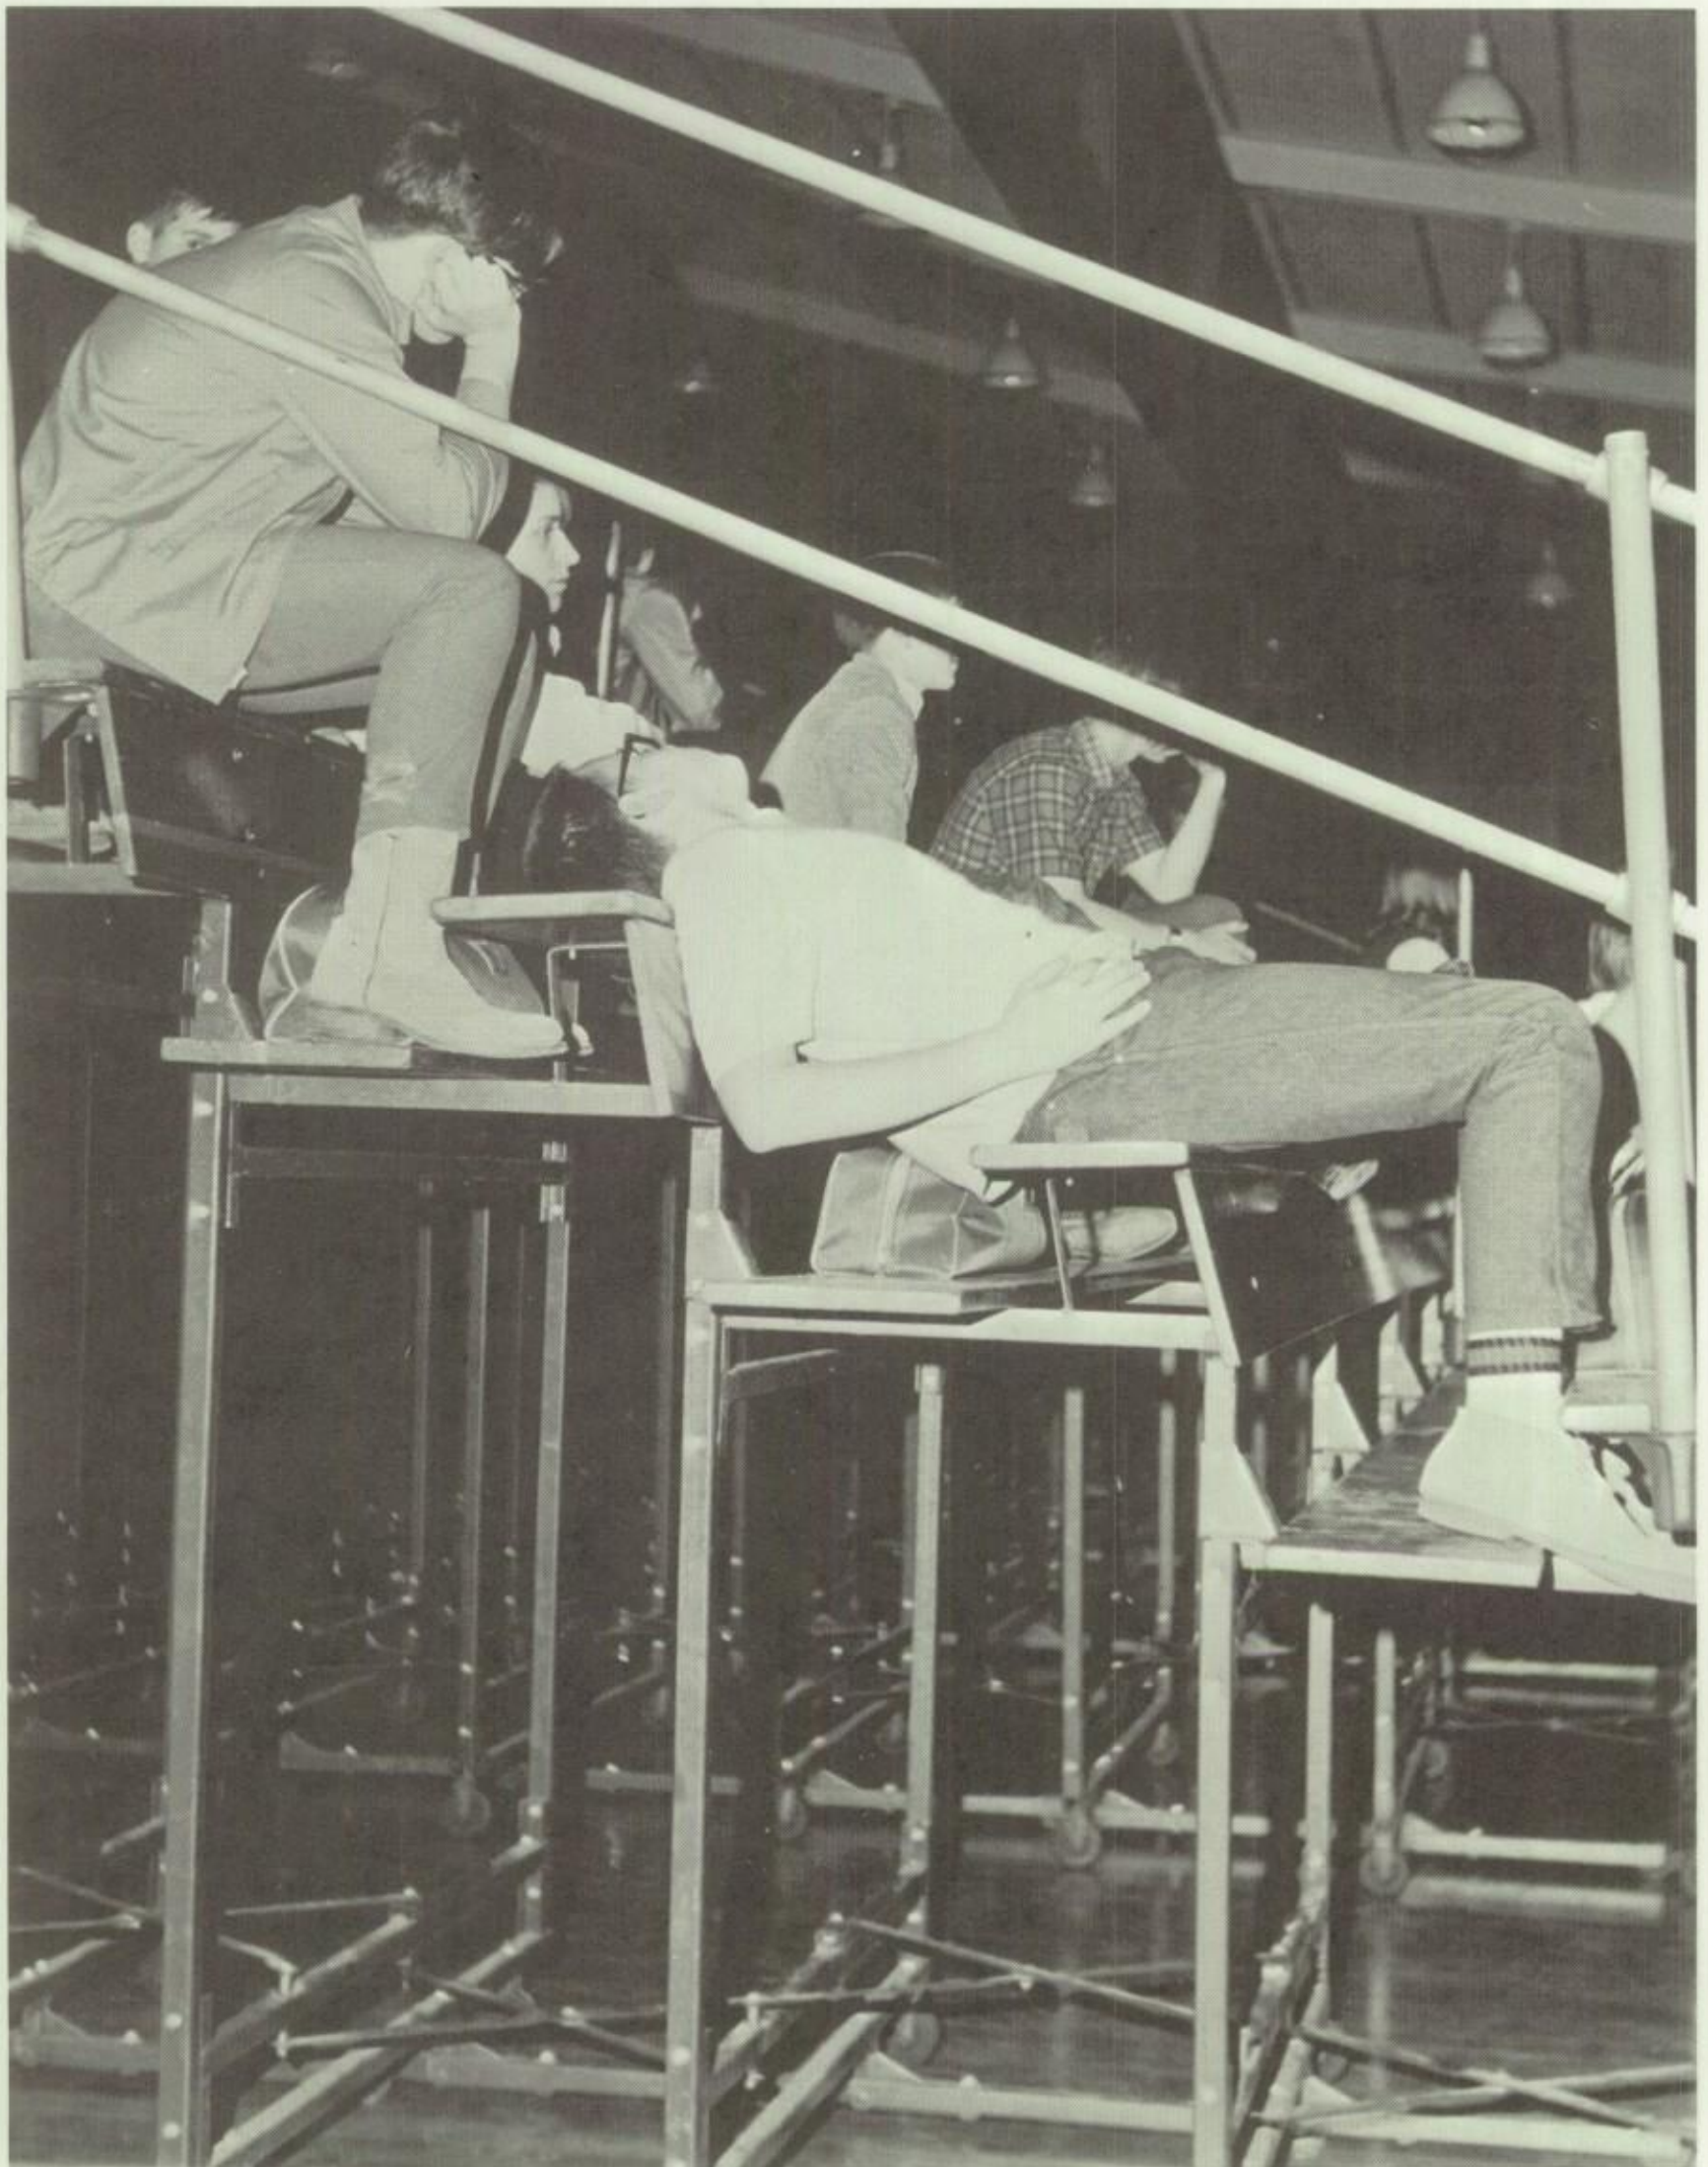

Hamlet (Steve Carroll) watches King Claudius pray for forgiveness for killing Hamlet's father. According to tradition, if Hamlet kills Claudius while he is praying, Claudius will go to heaven, so he waits for another opportunity.

Hamlet contemplates the revenge of the death of his father.

EASTER: Different Meanings to Different People

Joe Medley as the Easter rabbit gives best wishes for a very happy Easter.

Barbie Bucholtz and Terry Clarke join junior Qualha members in the presentation of Peter Rabbit.

Steve Carroll, Jim McDonald, and Bruce Sinclair entertain with the senior choir and the dance band at the Easter Assembly.

KGW Televises Douglas Choral Groups

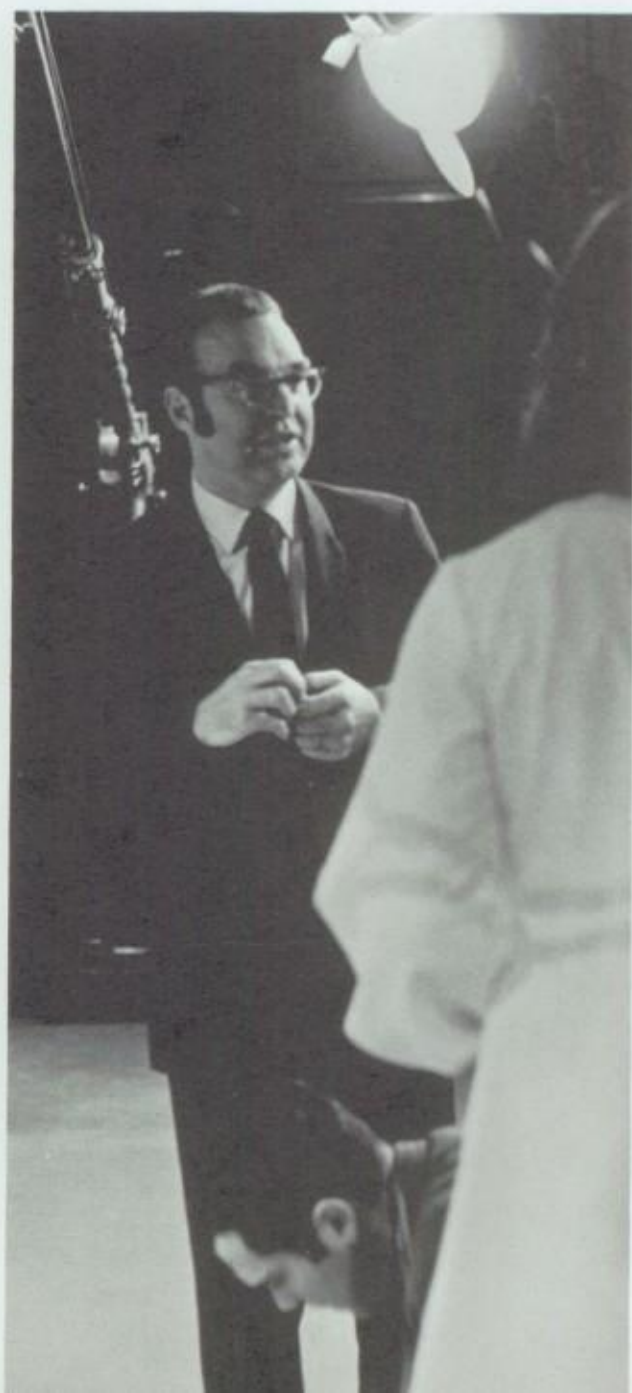

The Senior Choir and Vagabonds had the opportunity this year to perform for KGW television station. The groups taped a solid half hour of songs for a show that was released Easter Sunday entitled "Spring Is Sprung." Singing in the new media did not seem to phase the groups, as they appeared very relaxed and poised when taping the show.

Mr. Funk, the choir director, led the choir through such songs as "This Guy's In Love With You" and "No Man Is An Island" and led the Vagabonds through tunes like "It's Not Unusual" and "Mack the Knife." The efforts of these people were rewarded by the formation of a well rehearsed and pleasurable show for public viewing on Easter Sunday.

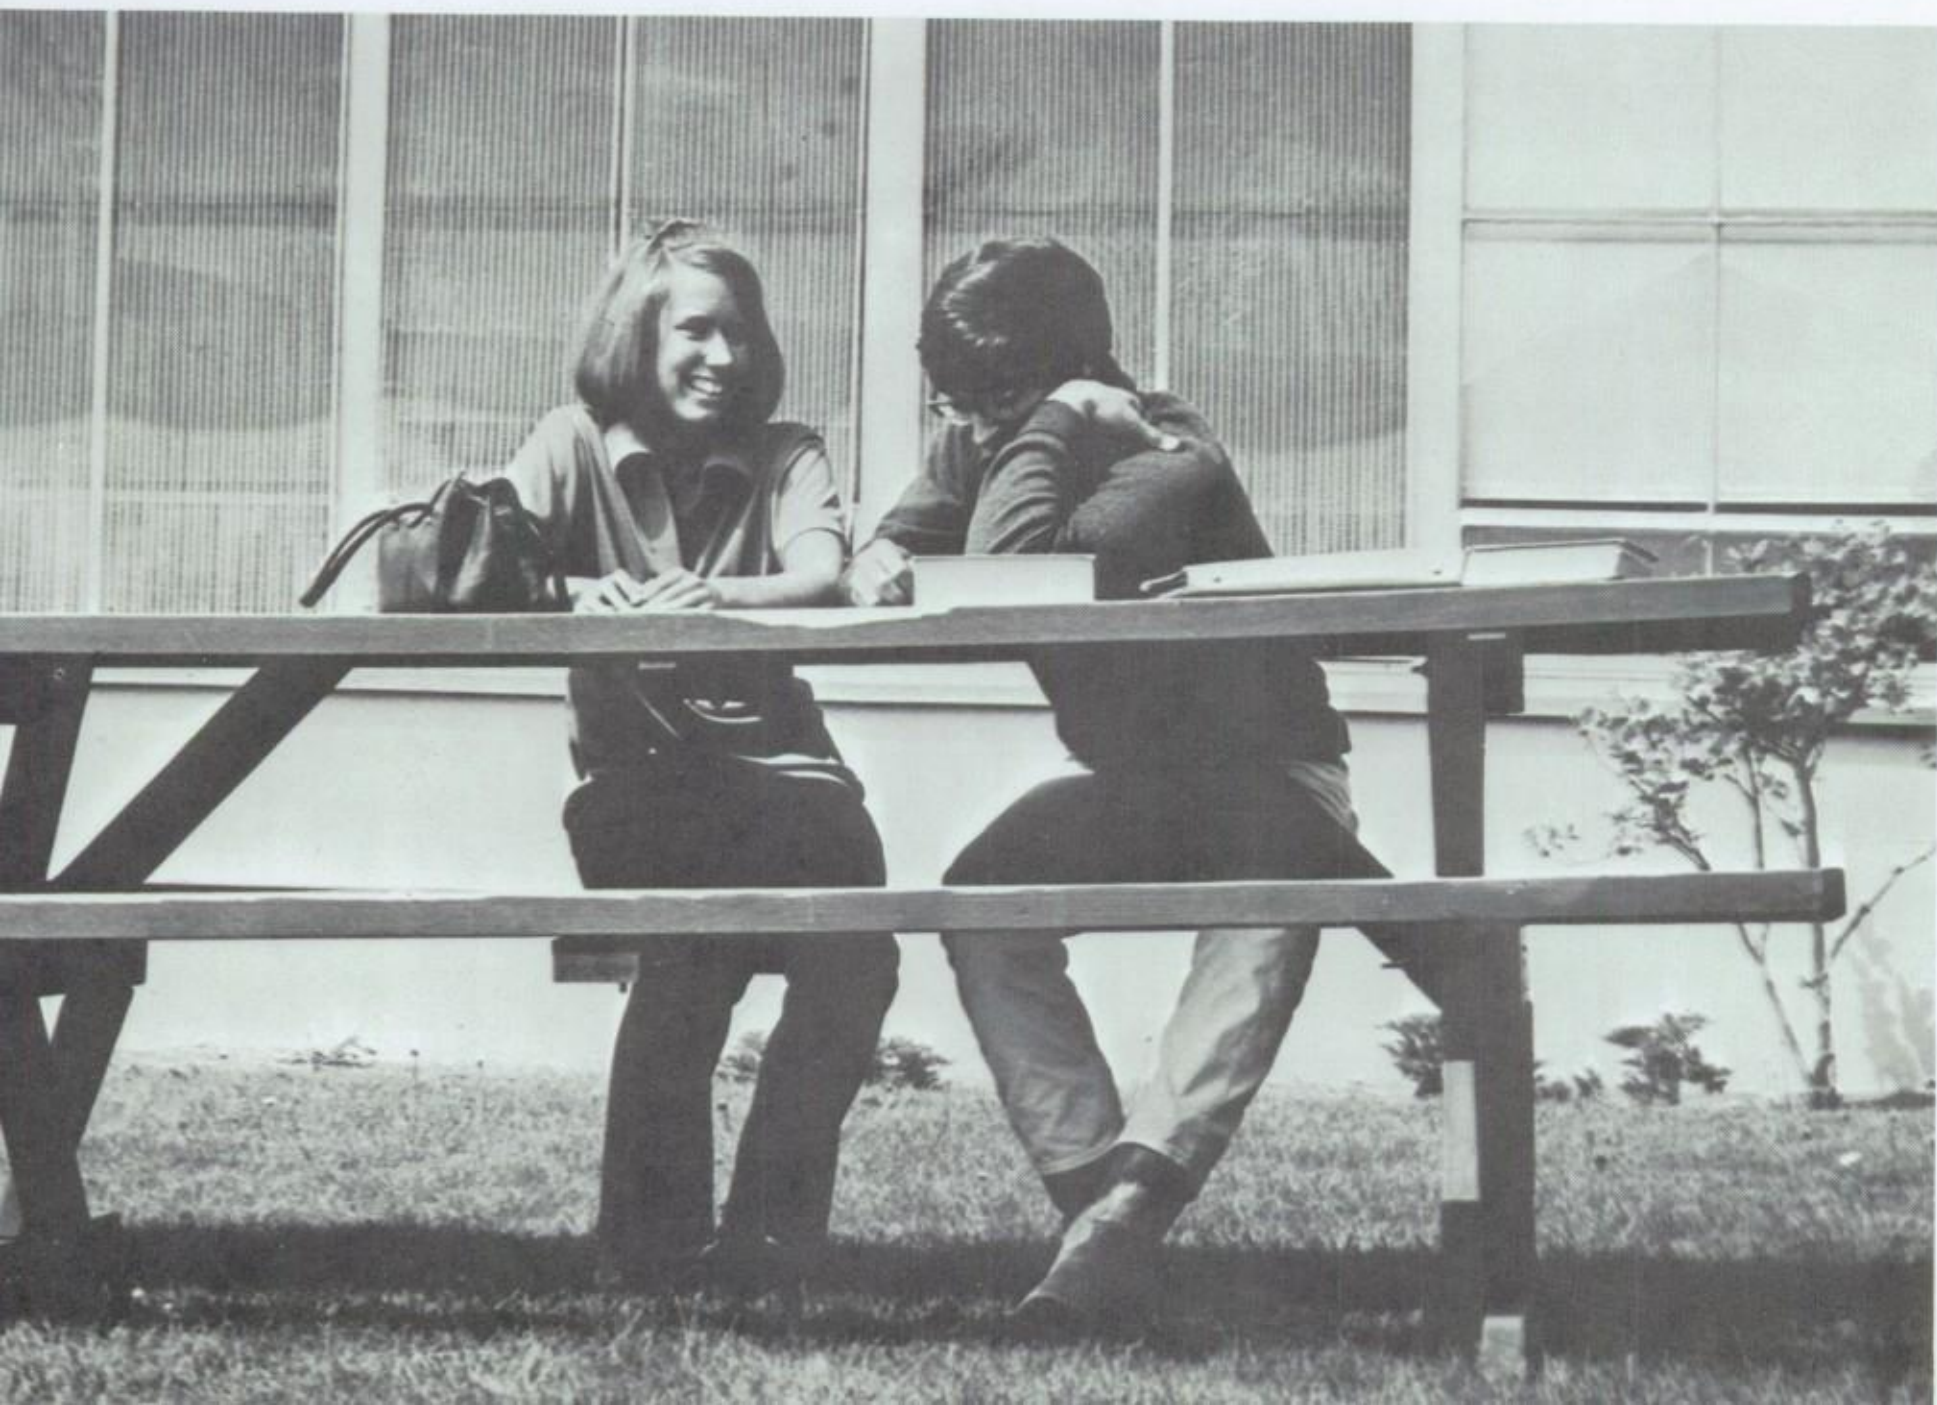

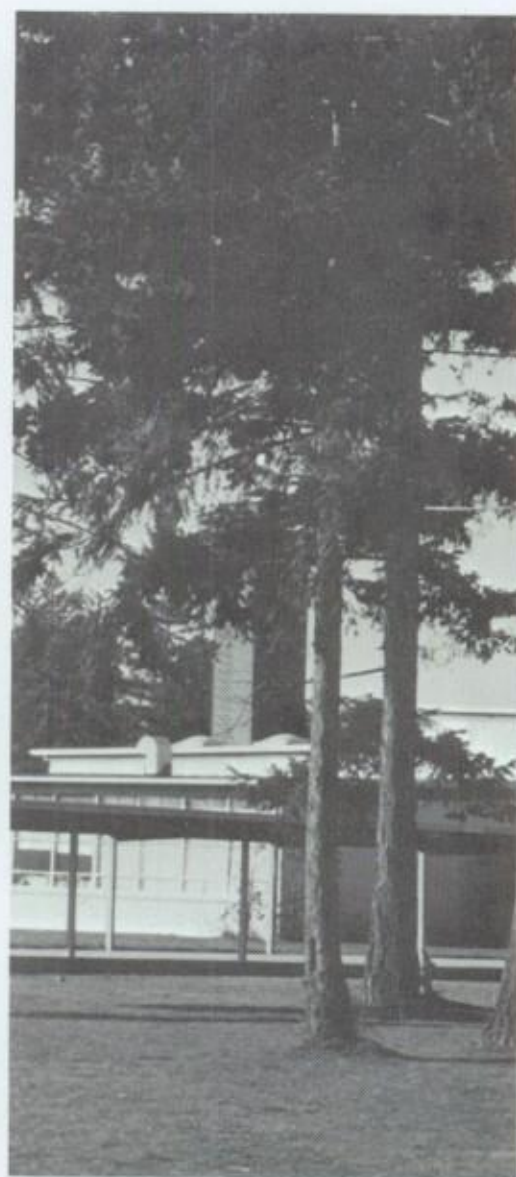

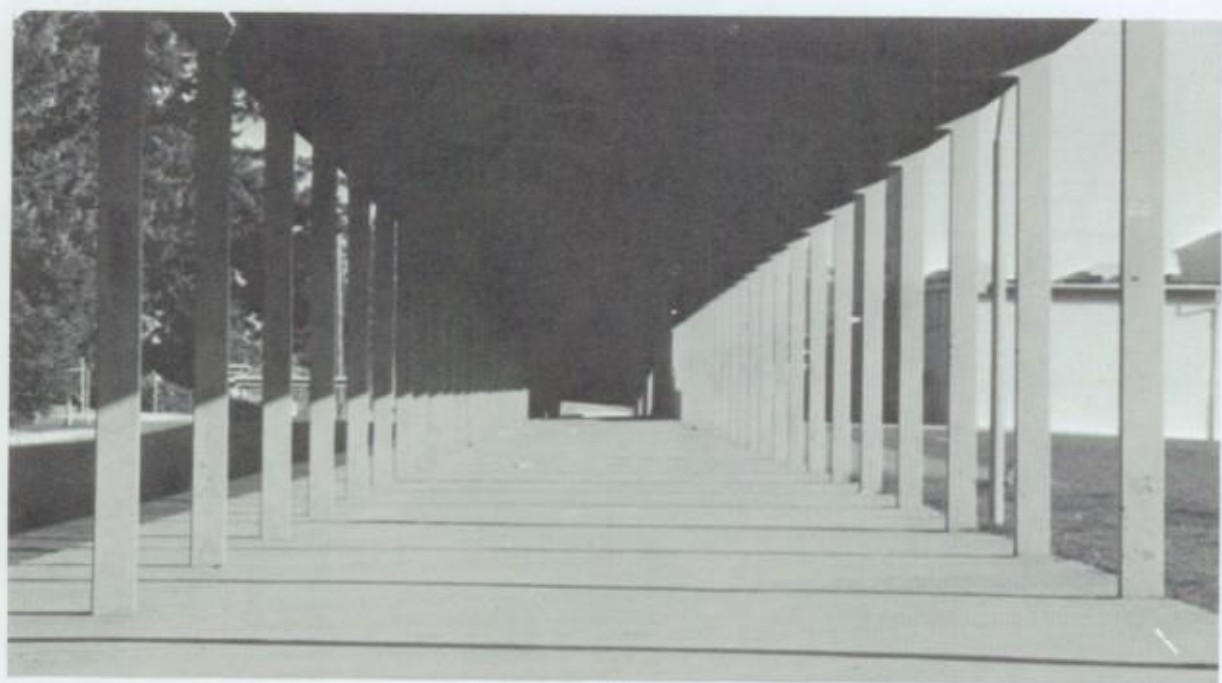

Mr. Funk takes time to go over last minute details with the Vagabonds before they perform. Soon, the tempo from the accompaniment will begin to grow, and on their cue from Mr. Funk the Vagabonds will jump into another lively tune.

Spring Sunshine Brings Brighter Appearance to Many Faces of David Douglas

The campus at David Douglas becomes a very familiar site to all who attend the school. After attending classes through the fall and winter, the bright sunshine and fresh air of spring are greatly appreciated. In the spring students can be found on the benches, tables, or carelessly sitting on the lawns. The breezeway is often packed as they travel between buildings to attend assemblies. At other times the campus seems to be completely deserted.

Princess and the Pea Performed for Grade School Children

Prince Daniel (Ron Reidlinger) and Alfred the Good Wizard (Kelly Amos) hide behind Princess Paula as they walk through the Woods of Wonder, the home of the vicious ogre.

"You'll fail just like all the rest." Kathy Jamison, Pam Kehril and Nancy Benner turn up their noses at Princess Paula.

Everyone waits in anticipation as the false princess (Debbie Carlson) tries to answer the riddle, which is one of the tests to find the real princess.

Princess Paula (Wendy Walters) cries for help as the ogre (Ed Synder) tries to boil her for a people snack.

Go-19 Attempts to Lower Voting Age

Sally Ham works with Bruce Etlinger, a Go-19 representative from Lewis and Clark.

All over Oregon Go-19 chapters are working to get a lowered voting age passed. At David Douglas, the chapter canvasses the surrounding area trying to interest people of voting age in the movement.

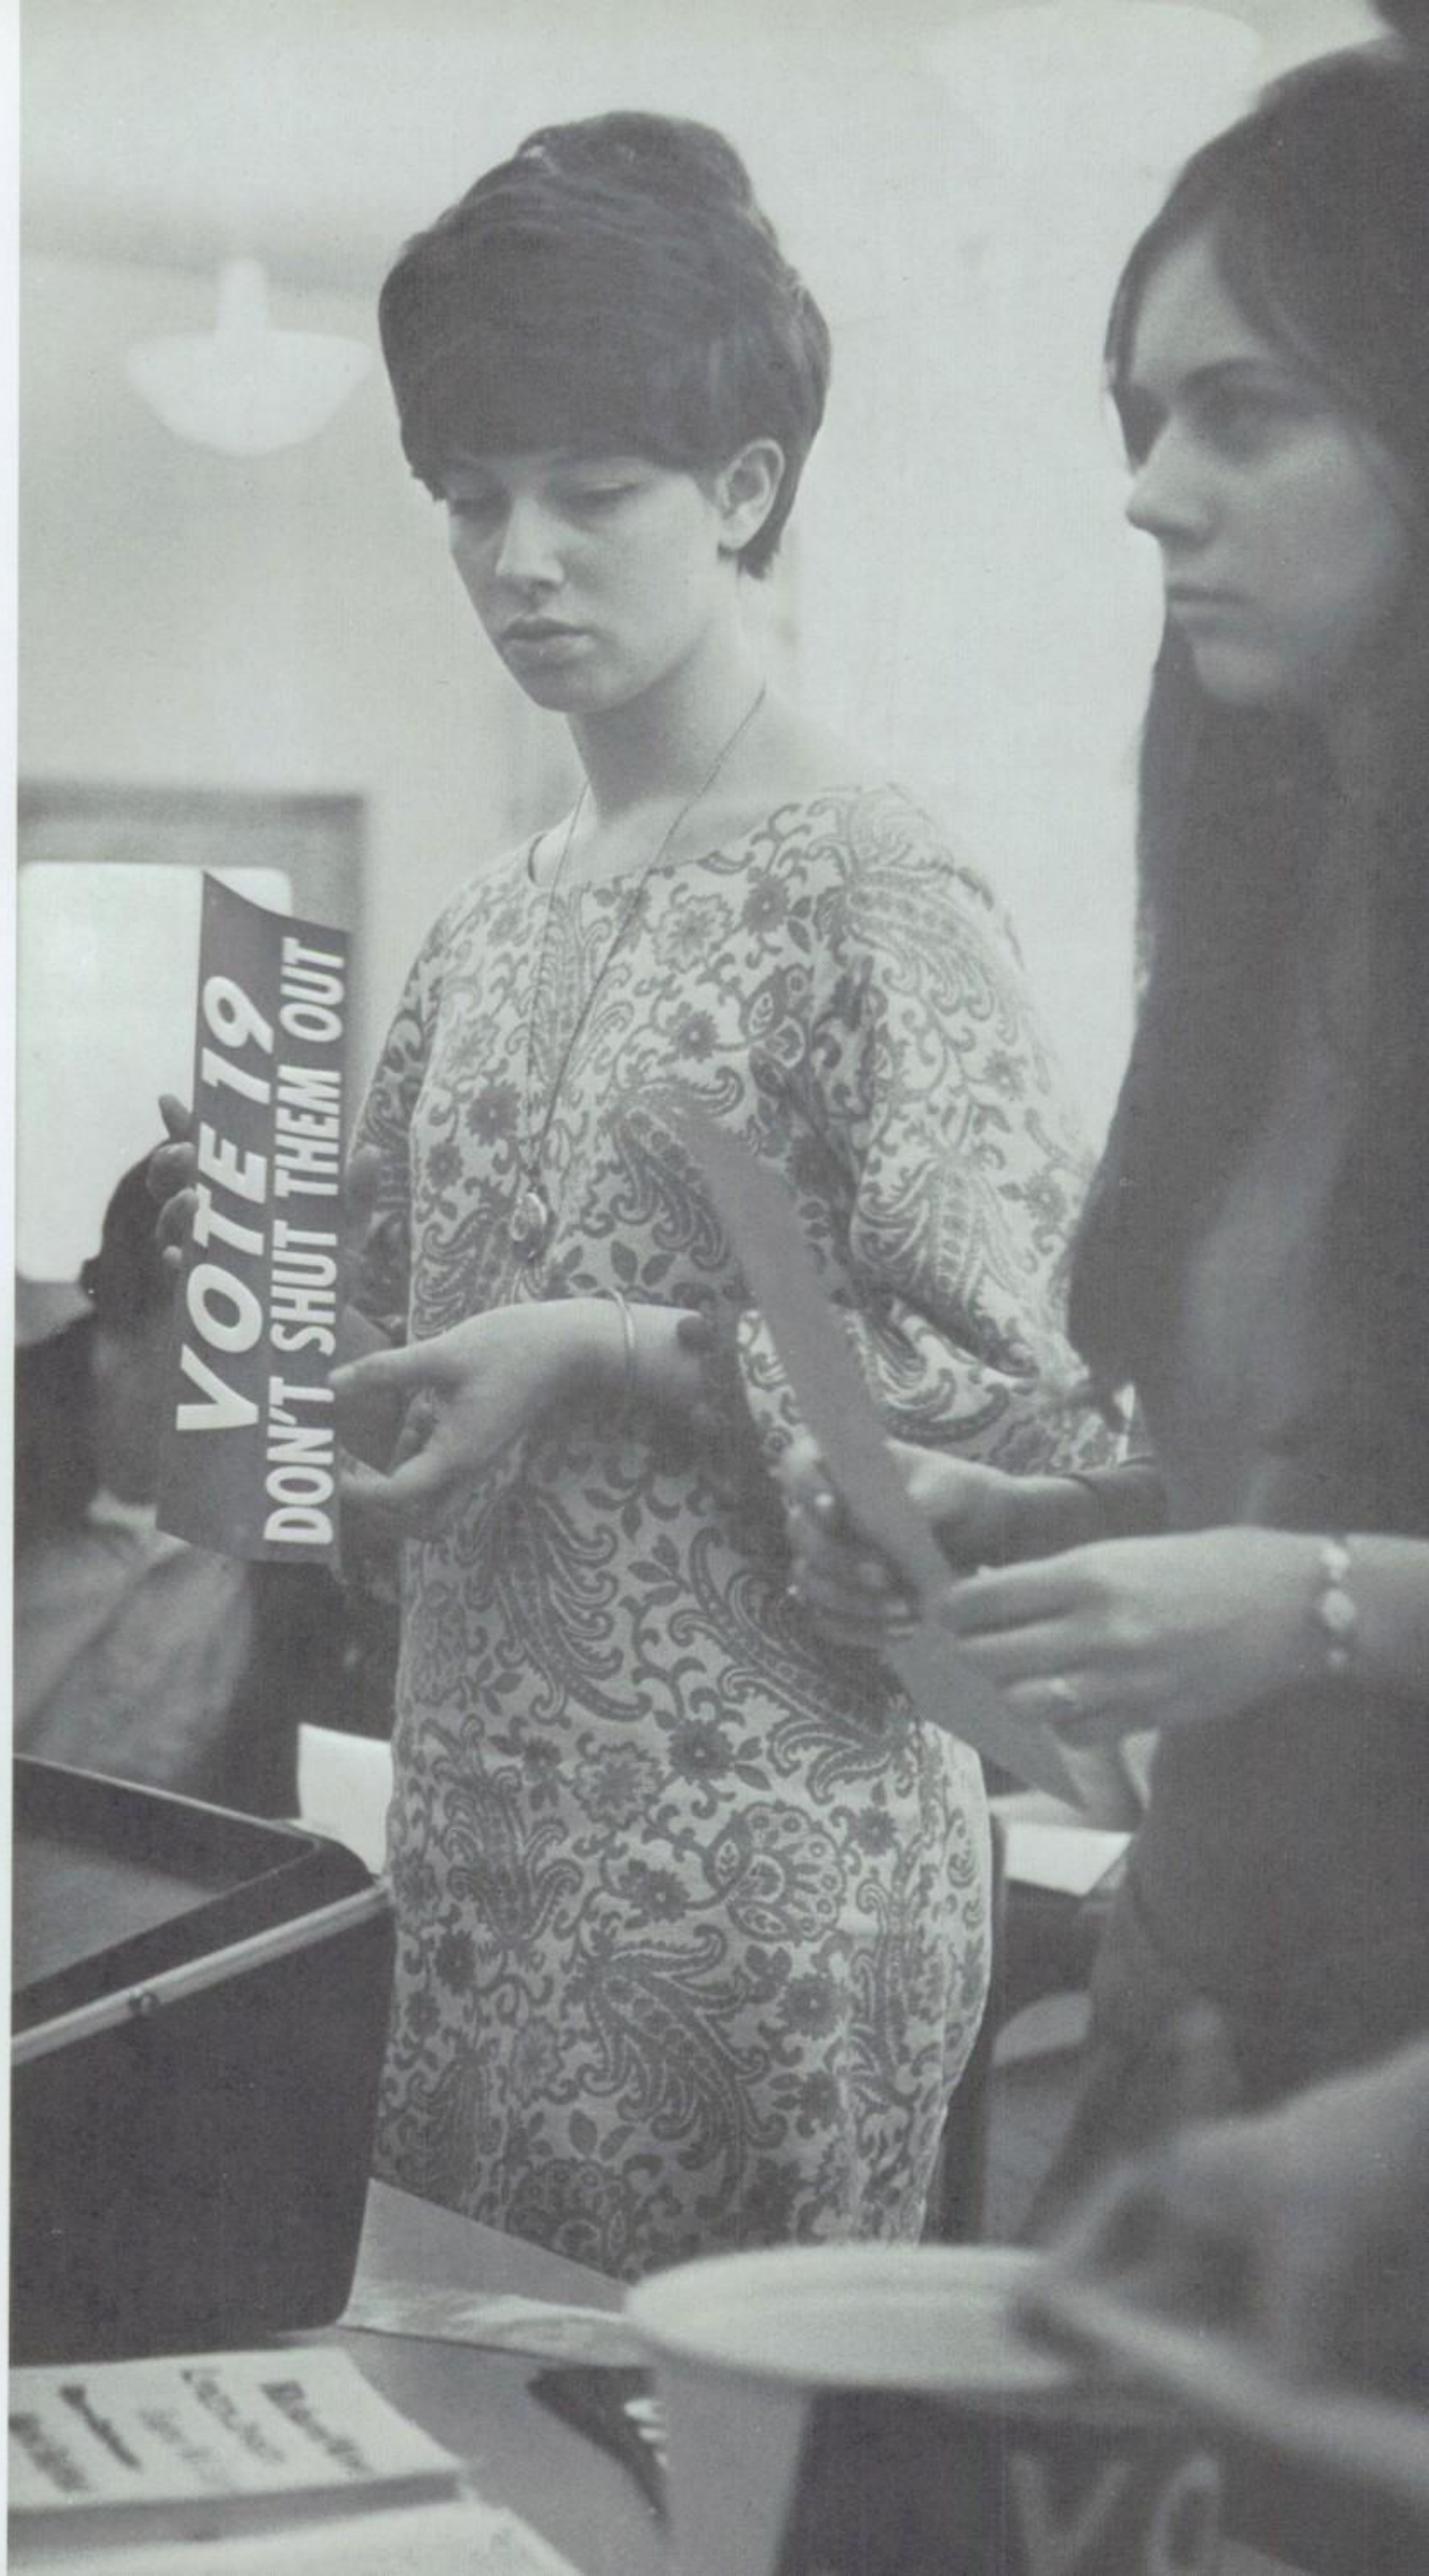

Many foreign countries and other states have a voting age lower than 21. In Oregon, this issue was voted upon on May 26.

..Led by their advisor, Mr. Dennis Bryson, Go-19 members go to stores to sell buttons and bumper stickers, go door-to-door to inform residents about the measure, and use the telephone to get information to the voters.

Mr. Bryson said, "It's just a group doing something that they are interested in." This symbolizes the whole movement: kids doing something that is not only interesting, but extremely important to their lives.

Go-19 is an organization dedicated to lower the voting age to 19. Because of this, the burden of the work falls on the students. Here Pat Bergwin discusses a point of interest with Mr. Bryson and other students.

Clackamas Youth Circus Delights People of All Ages

Circus! That very word brings joy and fond memories to many people. These memories include the big top, animals, jugglers, acts in three rings, and clowns.

The Clackamas Youth Circus brought some memories to people on April 10. The acts that were presented included balancing acts, tightrope walkers, jugglers, and clowns.

Along with these common circus acts, the Circus presented an act borrowed from a Japanese Circus. This act was to put ten people on a bicycle—all at one time!

Another act that was well received was an act to put a boy on a chair that was resting on the shoulders of another performer. It worked, and the crowd applauded loudly.

The circus went well until the last act when an attempt to walk across the tight-rope resulted in a fall due to new equipment. Luckily, no one was injured.

The circus was started as a class in tumbling after their advisor, Mr. Williams, visited Florida and saw a similar tumbling act. It has since blossomed into a full-fledged circus that will travel to South America in June.

All circuses have acts on the tight wire, and the Clackamas Youth Circus is no exception. Here Linda Barclay prepares to get onto the shoulders of Mark Cartmill in preparation for their ride across the wire.

Juggling and clowns are two of the most popular acts of circuses. The Clackamas circus combined these two acts and the result is a delightful and skillful act by Dave Nowell, the clown, and Rick Gilbert, the "straight" juggler.

Tests of strength interest almost everyone. They may be weight-lifters, balancing acts, or the test of strength used by this circus, a human pyramid.

One of the more dangerous acts presented by the circus was an attempt to put Dave Nowell on a chair perched on the shoulders of another performer.

Literary Magazine Gives Students the Opportunity to Express Themselves in the Arts

The Crosstown Bus is one of a few literary magazines produced by a high school in this state. It is published once each semester and contains photographs, essays, poems, and drawings of many students at Douglas. The staff members use their own discretion on what will go into the magazine which means wading through many works that students submit in search of the best ones. Staff members also write and do art work themselves which may eventually be put into the magazine after it has received the approval of all the staff members. For those who have an interest in art and literature the Crosstown Bus offers a true journalistic opportunity.

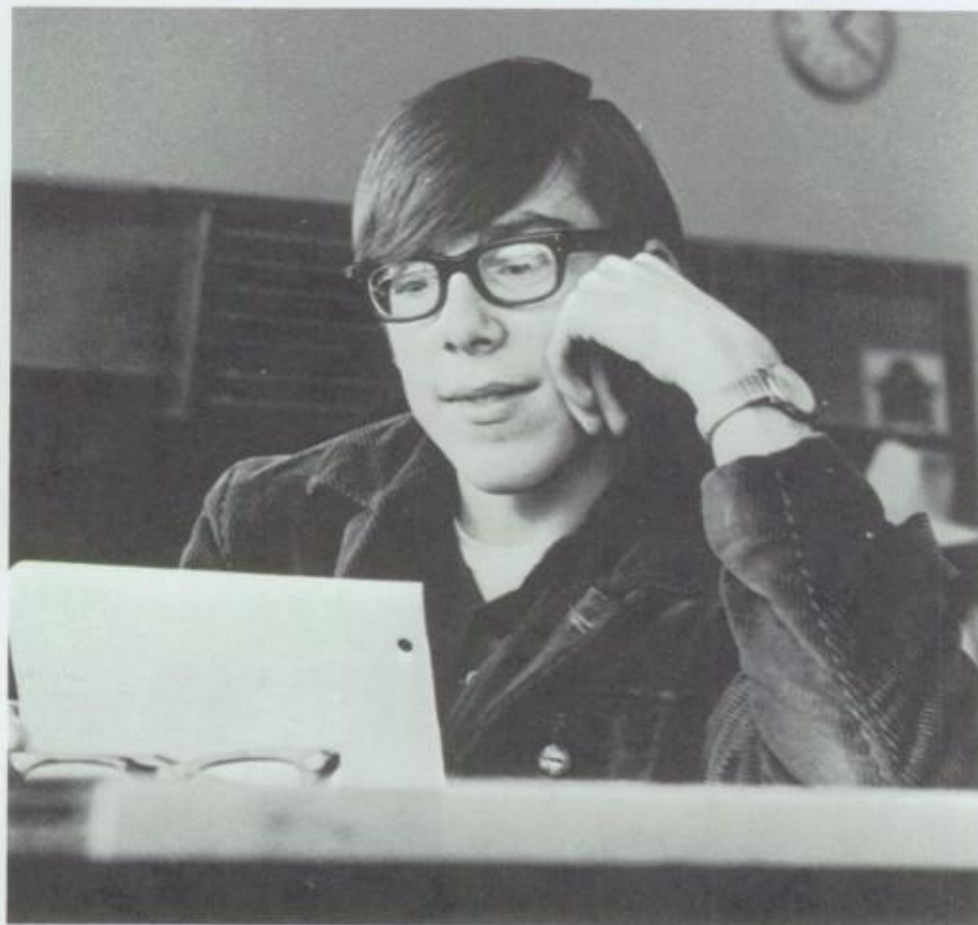

Advisor Mr. Rick Pullen states his opinion on an issue while Toni Ralonde listens with interest to what he is saying.

Candi Douglas and Mike DeSylvia take a breather to talk with another staff member.

Besides looking at other peoples work staff members also write or create their own works in hopes that they will be published. Mark Fischer seems to be pleased with his work and is dreaming about how it will look in print.

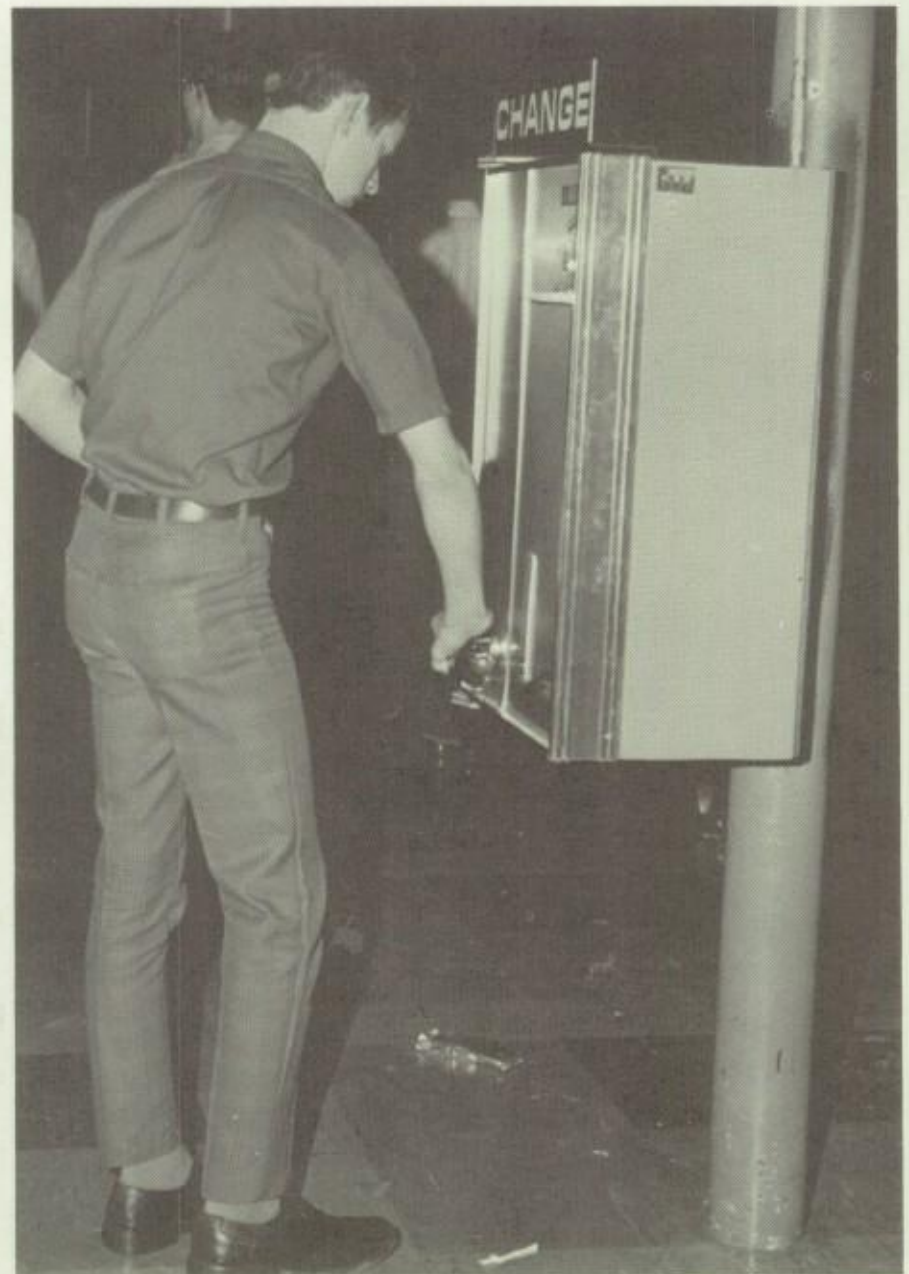

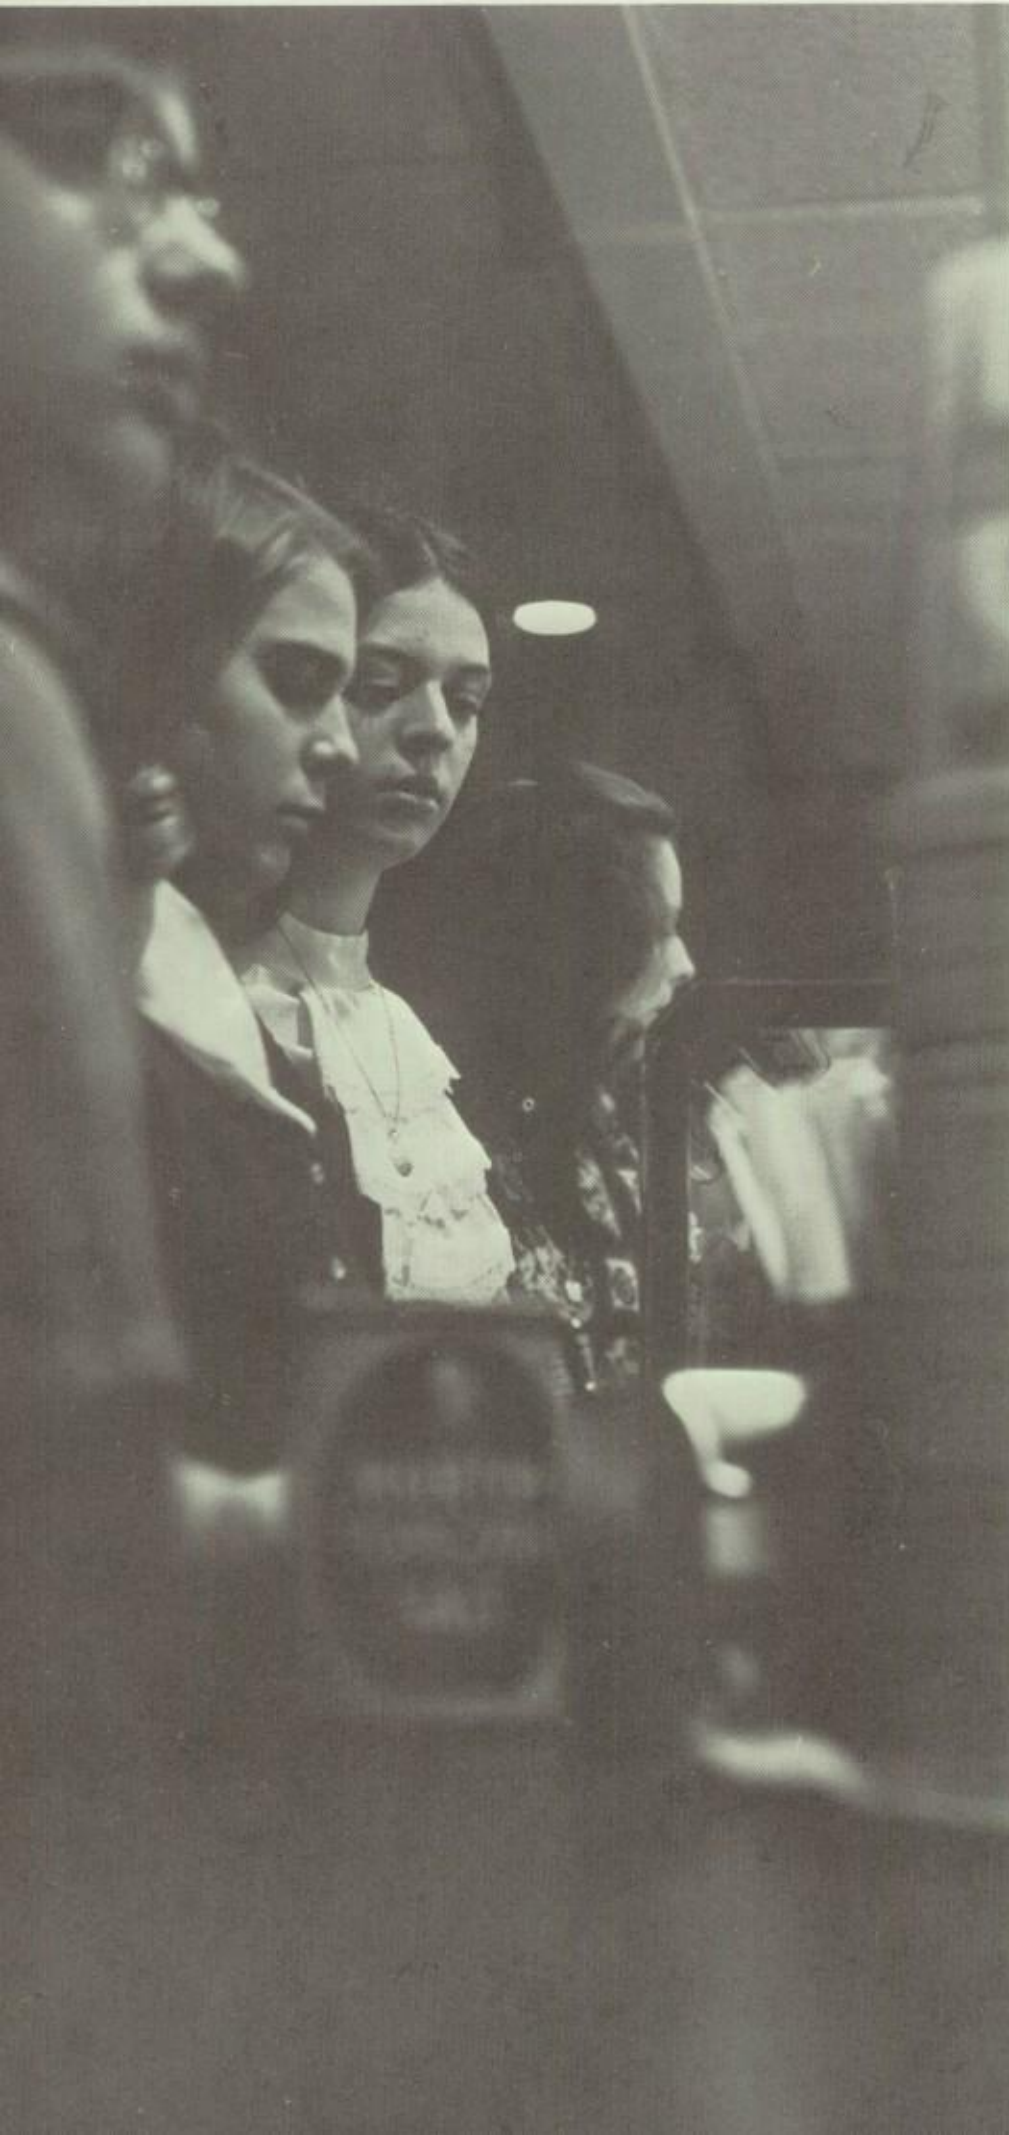

Kathy Beyer surveys the work of a student which she is retyping for publication in the magazine.

Addition of Vending Machines Brings a Change to the Cafeteria

This year the newly acquired vending machines provided a variety of choices that weren't on the menu. Snacks, drinks, desserts, and hot and cold sandwiches were some of the choices provided. Although the vending machines are widely used, the cafeteria line still produces a great amount of food. The problem of getting change to use these machines was dissolved by the new change machine. The three separate lunch periods cut down on the over-crowded lines, but greatened the litter problem especially in the Senior Building because of student liberty to use the machines during IS.

Students find it handier to use vending machines than to stand in long lines waiting for their lunches. A refrigerated vending machine allows this Junior Building student to select ice cream without the bother of the snack bar.

Modern Problems Classes Study Land Management Problems

The students on the field trips were very fortunate to have very capable guides. On the first field trip the guide was Ernie McDonald and on the second trip they were Ken Lindsey, Roger Hamilton, and Norm Grinnell of the United States Forest Service. Here Mr. McDonald tells the students about the plans to make an aquatic park out of a swamp area called Oaks Bottom near Oaks Amusement Park.

Two weeks after "Earth Day" modern problems classes went on two field trips to study land management problems of two areas of Oregon. Misuse of land is one of the main causes of pollution.

The first field trip involved a bus ride to various places in the Portland area that were potential places of mismanagement of land. The classes visited Johnson Creek and Oaks Bottom in southeast Portland, downtown Portland, and the Portland Airport in northeast Portland.

The second trip was to Bull Run Watershed, the area that supplies fresh water to Portland and the surrounding area. The major land management problem discussed was the limited use of a large area (218 square miles). In this area the public is prohibited from using the area for any reason, because of the fear of water pollution.

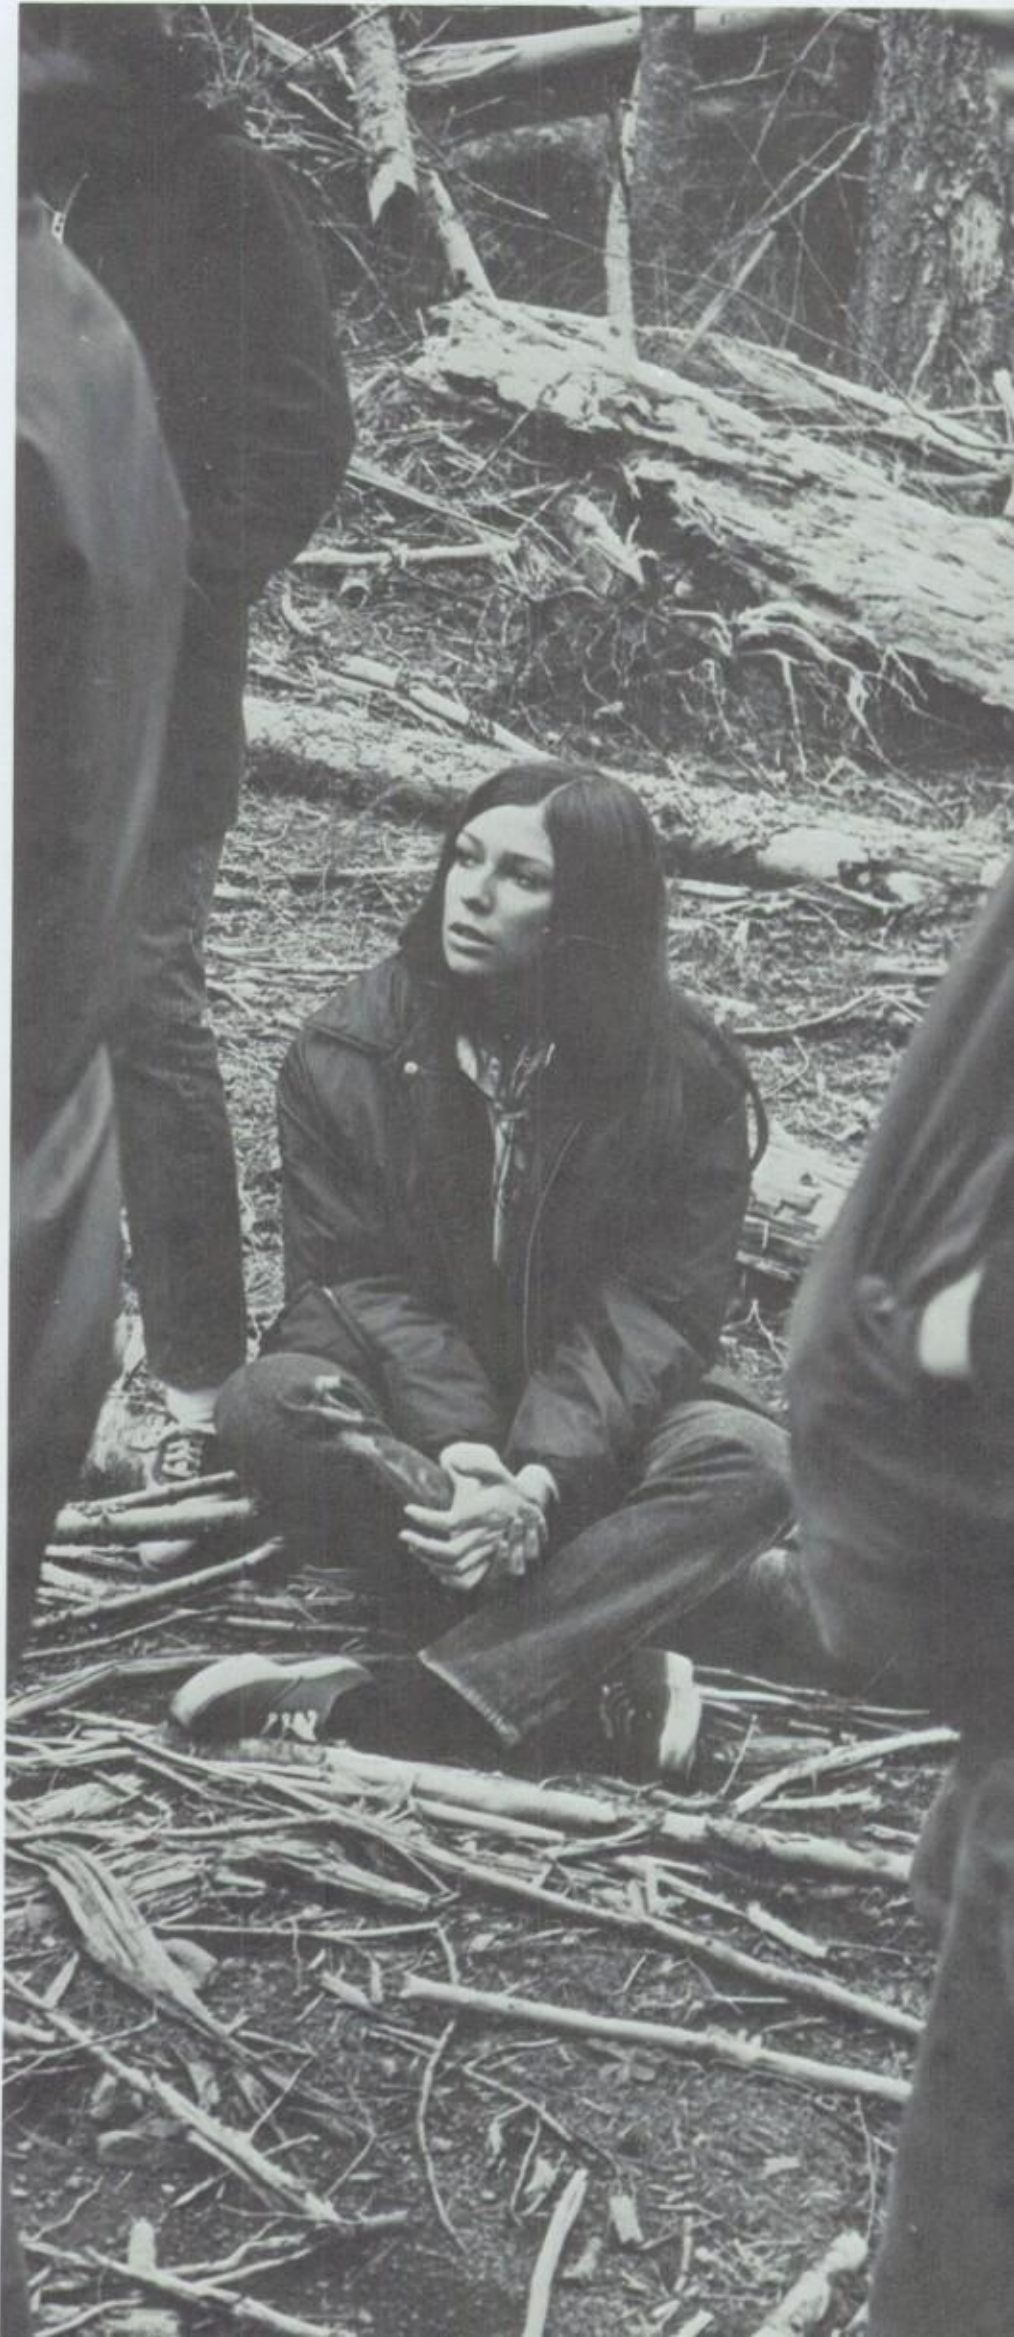

There is one exception to this rule. Lumber companies buy the right to cut timber in a specified area.

If more people could go on trips like these, pollution could become less and less of a problem in today's world.

Following a long day of walking through the Bull Run area, Susan Hiebert catches a few minutes of sleep on the way back to school.

One of the places that was visited on the second field trip was a logging operation. Because the students had to walk to the site over logging roads, many students, like Brenda Ranes, took the opportunity to rest when they arrived.

One of the more colorful candidates of this election year was Gracie Hansen, Democratic candidate for governor. Miss Hansen is the owner of the "Roaring Twenties Room" at the Hoyt Hotel.

Political Candidates Campaign at David Douglas

Because this was an election year, many candidates held rallies to raise support for their campaigns. Two of the candidates who visited David Douglas were Gracie Hansen and Robert Straub, both Democratic candidates for governor.

Mr. Straub's talk concerned pollution and the Go-19 movement. Following his talk, a reception was held during which Straub answered questions posed by the students. Miss Hansen, in her comments to the Young Democrats club, stated that her platform centered around three things: someone to love, something to work for, and something to hope for.

Both candidates helped to make the students aware of the candidates and issues in the primary election.

A candidate must have volunteers in order to win the election. Many of Robert Straub's volunteers are teenagers. The reason-Mr. Straub is in favor of the 19 year-old vote. This, along with the environmental crisis, were the two topics that he spoke about when he came to Douglas.

When people hear that a candidate is going to speak, most of them think that they will be bored. This is not the case when Miss Hanson talks. Miss Hanson told many jokes that broke up the audience.

Spade Club Organizes Zoo Trip

The Spade Club is a newly formed group which gives aid to mentally retarded children. Students began by assisting special classes held at Lincoln Park School during their independent study periods, and because the interest developed in large number of students, Mr. Etzkorn organized the club. It has proven to be one of the most active clubs in the school, involved in several car washes for the purpose of raising money to sponsor a dance and a zoo trip for the retarded children.

Ken Fitzgerald (above) helps his young charge put on his coat as Monroe Reimers (on slide) and Jim McDonald play with the children.

Caren Cardew and Tammy Brown take a day off from school to accompany mentally retarded students on a trip to the zoo.

Highlander Provides Students With Informative News

Highlander advisor, Mr. Pullen, assists Judy Murphy with her write up.

Getting the paper out, whatever the circumstances, is the job undertaken by this year's Highlander staff. Every day during ninth period the sound of typewriters, discussion over a layout, and an occasional telephone ring can be heard in Room 12. Such things are common events in the production of the newspaper. Producing the paper includes short minutes of relaxation, combined with much longer and more frequent periods of hurried, and sometimes frustrating, hard work. Under the leadership of Jeff Davis, this year's editor, and Mr. Pullen, advisor, the staff's determination, along with many interesting events during the school year, help to make the 1969-70 Highlander a success.

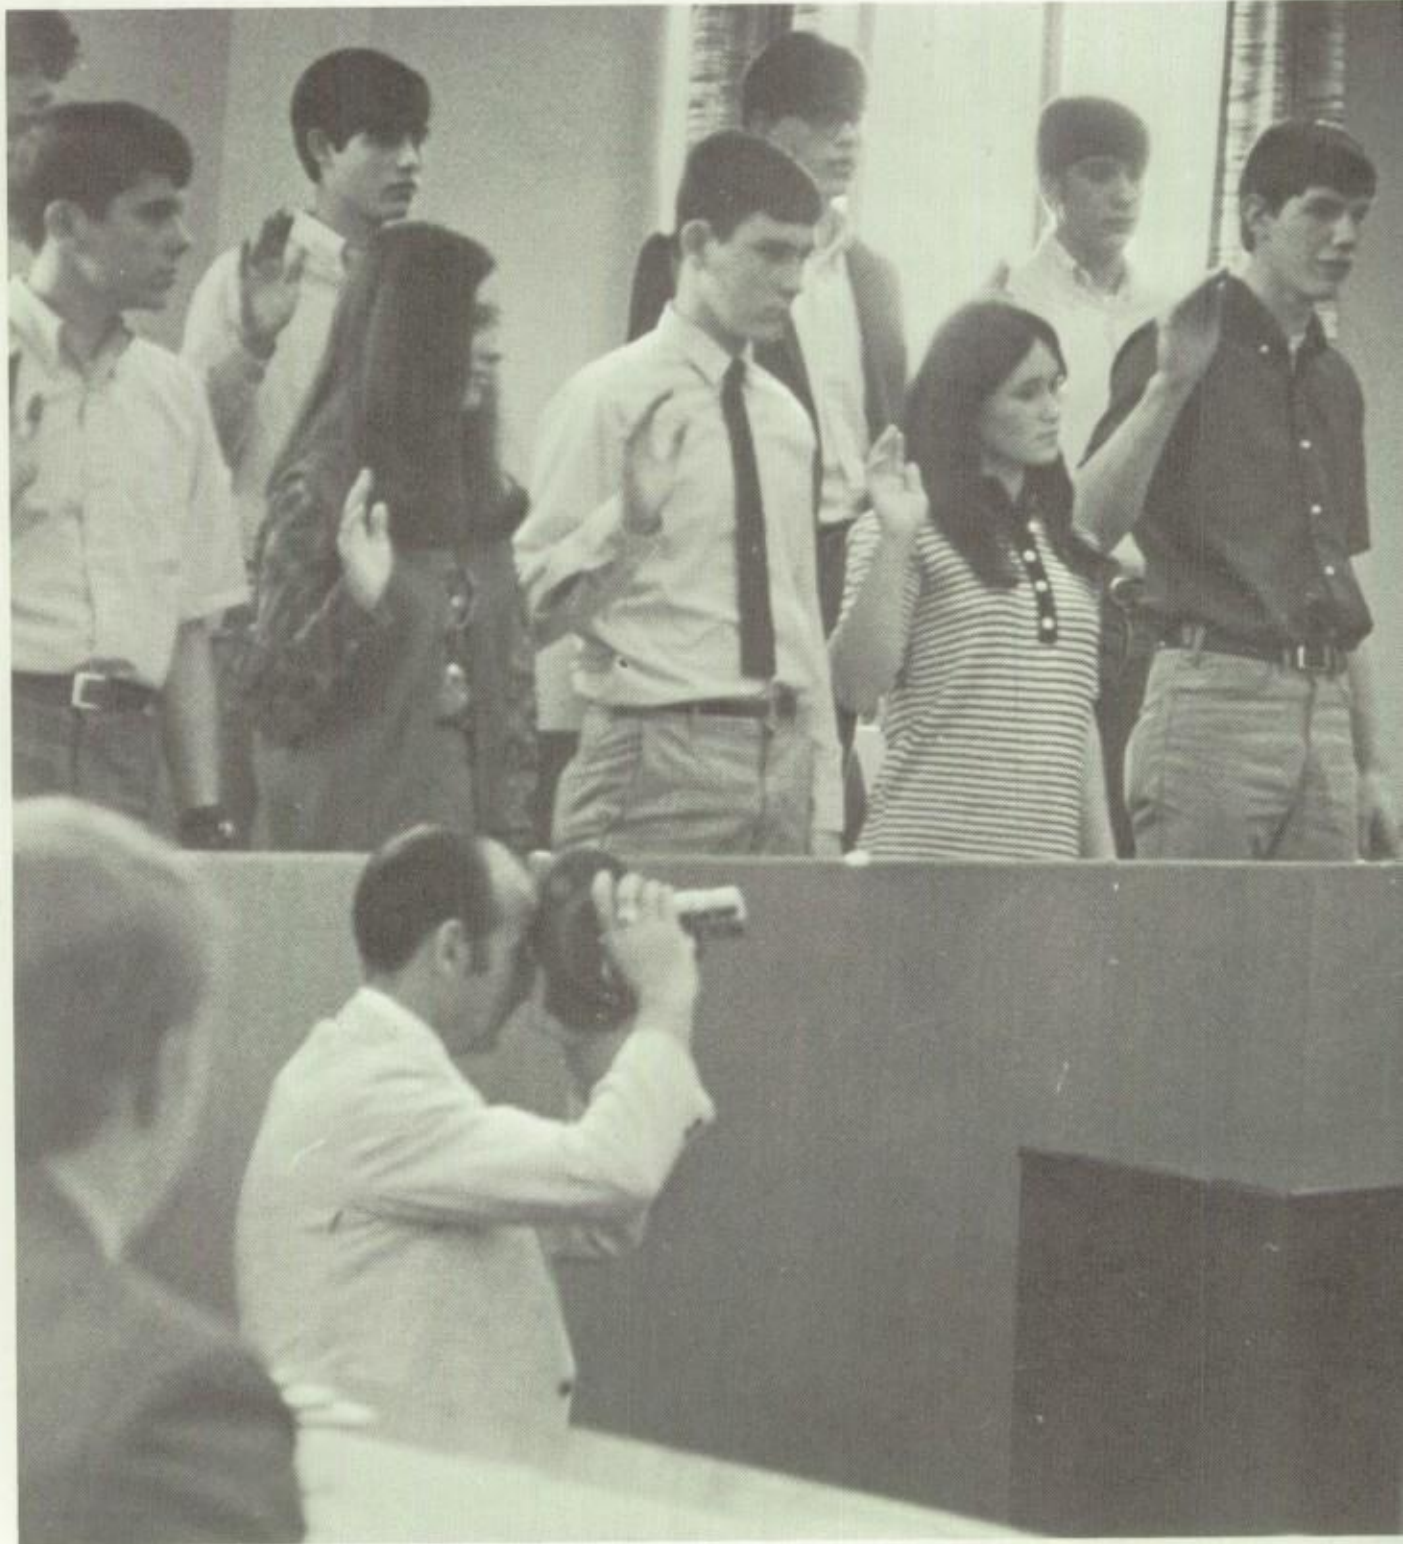

Making layouts is the task undertaken by Janice Carter, Carolyn Poff, and Barbara Cole.

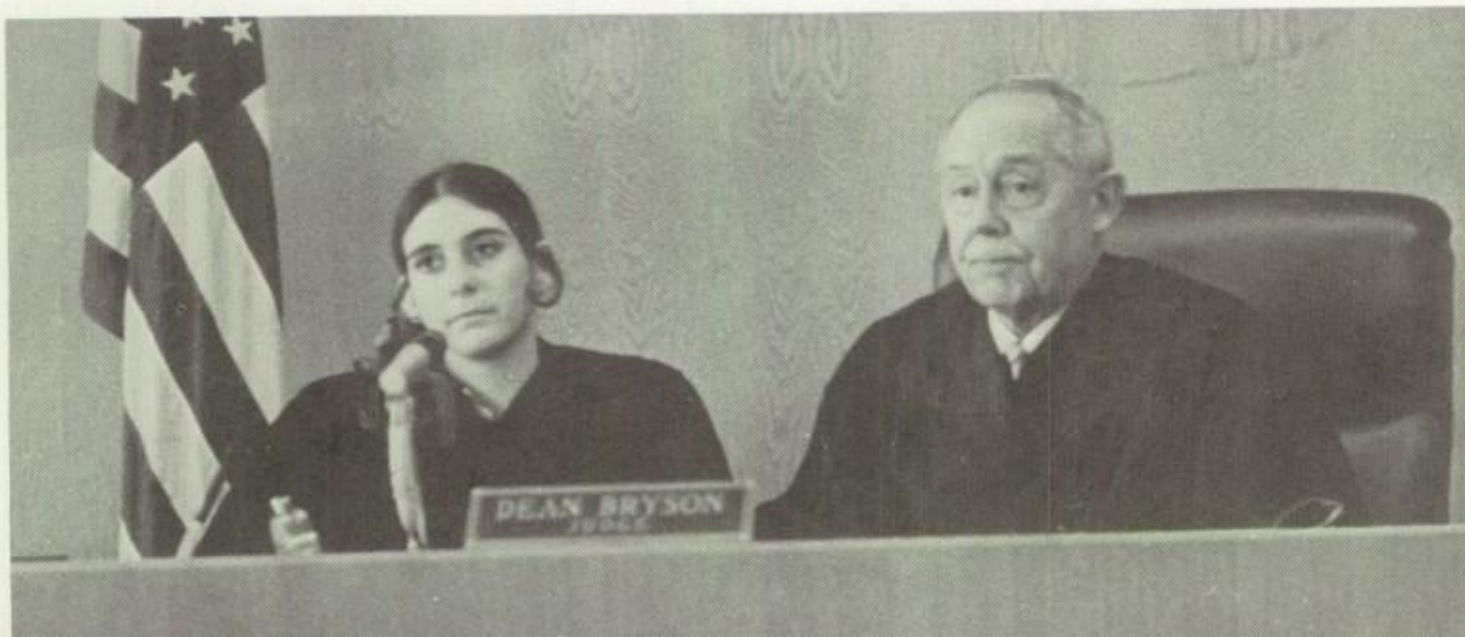

A typical scene in the Highlander room is depicted by Steve Chinn, Bill Harrington, and Sharon Phillip, hard at work laying out news articles.

This Year's May Fete Combines Tradition With Originality

This year's May Fete was slightly out of step with its predecessors in the traditional organizing of the affair. The Command Performance was linked with the Coronation of Queen Pam I in an assembly, and the traditional May Fete dance was not held. However, the format for the selection of the Queen and the assembly to announce the May Fete Court to the student body were retained.

Decorations have always been left in the hands of the students, and this year was no exception. Many willing workers turned out to transform the Junior Building Gym into a "Fantasy in Wonderland" and also to work on the stage setting for the musical comedy "Little Mary Sunshine" which was presented at the Coronation and Command Performance Assembly.

This combination of tradition and originality made 1970's May Fete a memorable event at David Douglas.

“Little Mary Sunshine” Highlights the Command Performance and Enhances the Theme of “Fantasy in Wonderland” for Queen Pam I.

The theme of the Tea, "Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head," was performed by Wendy Walters during the entertainment segment of the show.

Mother-Daughter Tea Highlights Girls League's Year

"Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head" was this year's theme of the Girls' League's annual Mother - Daughter Tea. It featured the installation of the new Girls' League officers, a fashion show, entertainment in the form of songs and dances by various talented girls, the presentation of outstanding girls for each month, and refreshments which were served in the Junior Building Cafeteria. All mothers and girls were invited to attend this affair, and it was well received by them. The show moved at a steady pace and proved to be an enjoyable event.

School Ends With Flurry of Activities

In the confusion of the last day for seniors, some cap and gown orders could not be found. In such a case, the senior had to see Mr. Sam Fort of Master Engravers to try and find his or her order. Such a student was Don Helzer.

As the school year proceeds, events like Homecoming, Carnicapers, and May Fete come and go at a leisurely pace. However, in the last few weeks of school, activities seem to rush by with the approaching end of school. Just three of these events were the last day for seniors, the spring sports dessert, and graduation.

A sports dessert is an event held three times a year to honor athletes that participated in sports at that time of year. In the spring baseball, golf, tennis, and track teams are honored.

On the last day for seniors a class meeting was held to finalize plans for graduation. Following the meeting, seniors received their cap and gowns and then were dismissed.

The morning of graduation the one and only practice was held at the Memorial Coliseum. At this practice the students were told how to enter, how to leave, and how to receive their diplomas.

Later that night, 716 students graduated leaving behind four years of struggle, fun, and fond memories.

For the first time in 12 years David Douglas won a Metro League baseball title. The team had great spirit and determination, and one of the team leaders was first baseman Tim Chapman. Here Chapman receives his award from Head Coach Jack Nash.

Sports play an important part of life at David Douglas. Throughout the year both boys and girls teams receive recognition for their achievements at sports desserts. In the spring the baseball, track, tennis, and golf teams are presented with their awards.

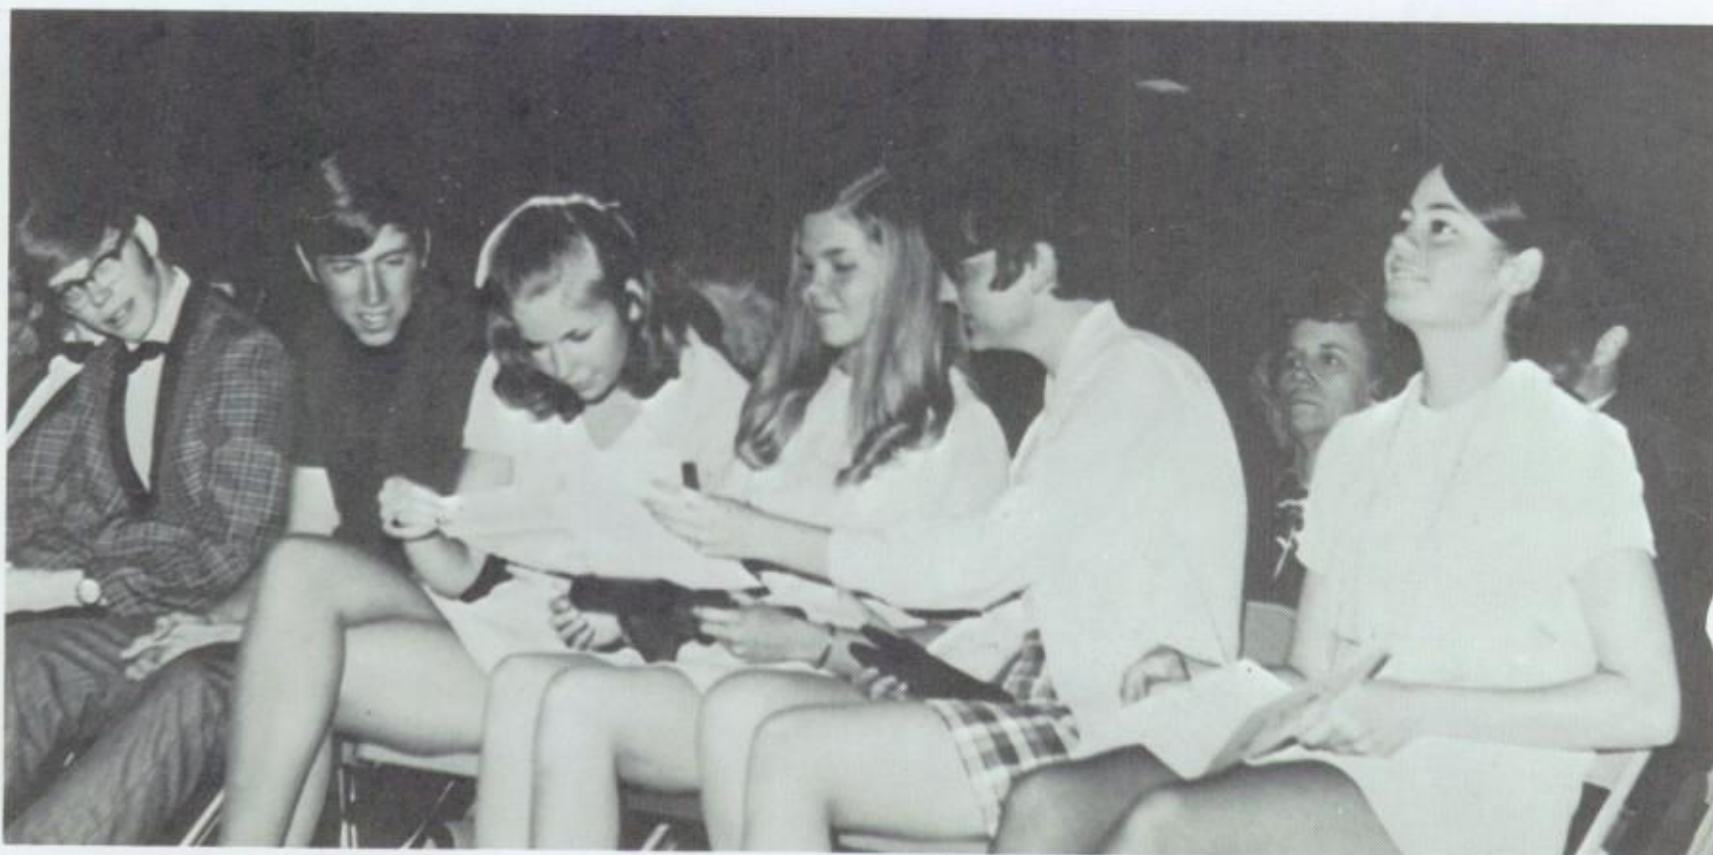

Tradition calls for the singing of the school alma mater at graduation. At the graduation practice (from left) Jeff Wison, Steve Christenson, and Dave Jahrs practice the song.

Senior Recognition Night Replaces Senior Banquet

Speech award winner, Jane Berry, exhibits trophy after delivering a delightful interpretive reading at the Senior Recognition Night.

Change came to the 1970 graduating class as old traditions were cast away and new ones created. The traditional baccalaureate ceremony which comes on the Sunday preceding graduation was done away with as individual churches in the area held ceremonies for interested students and families. The senior banquet was replaced with a senior recognition night in which awards were issued to seniors for various activities throughout their high school year.

Senior recognition night included scholarships awarded by P.T.S.A., Dad's Club, and individual colleges, awards for scholarship by the State of Oregon, and National Merit Awards, athletic awards, and departmental awards for students outstanding in their fields. Entertainment was provided by the Dance Band and the Vagabonds.

Four long years of hard work and competition resulted in a top honor for Mike Strader and Marilyn Coats. They are shown receiving the Outstanding Senior Boy Athlete Award and the Outstanding Senior Girl Athlete Award respectively.

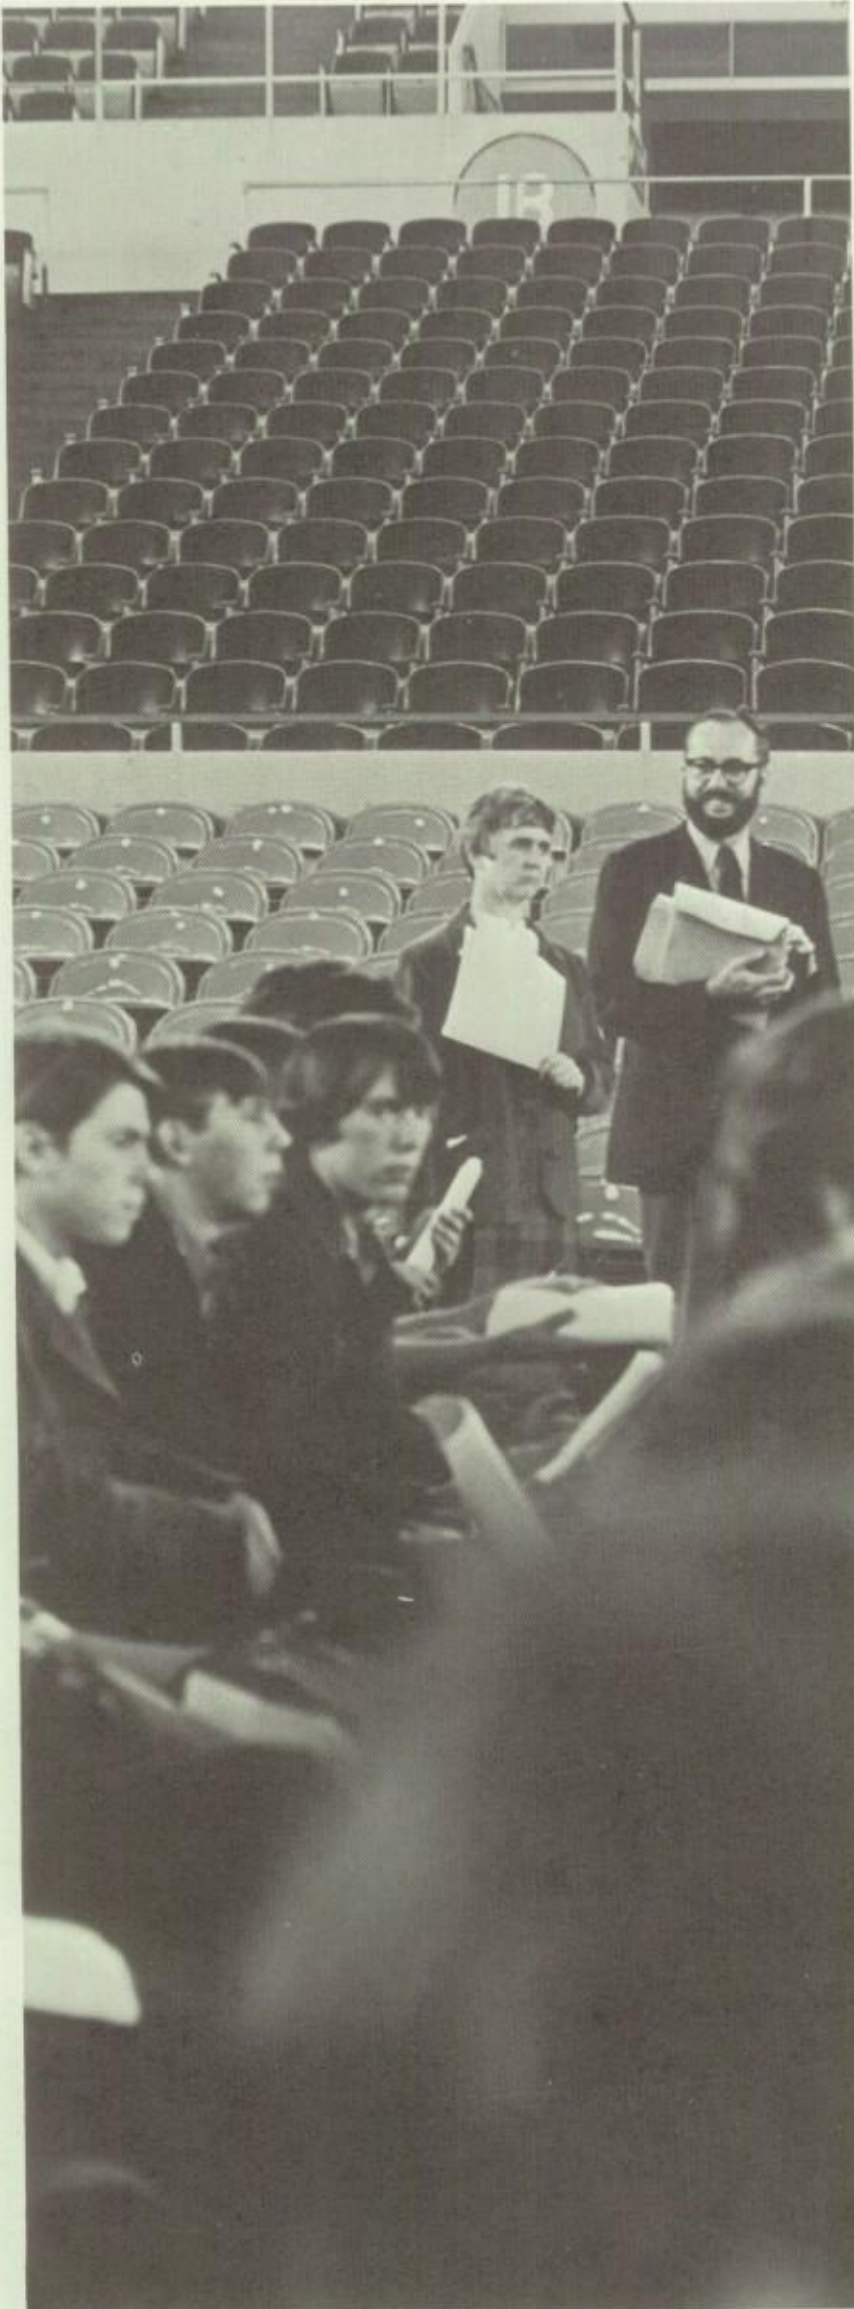

Clubs, Advisors, and Musical Groups Combine Efforts For a Successful Graduation

Graduation is more than just seniors. It's a combination of teachers and students, all working to provide a memorable occasion for those graduating.

From the musical entertainment provided by the choir and band, to the actual organization of the total commencement proceedings, which is carried out through the advisors, graduation entails the use of the many individuals who volunteer their services.

The band supplied the traditional processional march, "Pomp and Circumstance," while the National Honor Society assisted the young lady graduates off the stage, and the choir and orchestra performed two numbers for the pleasure of the graduates and guests.

Groups and individuals giving of their time—that's what it takes to make a successful graduation.

Senior class advisors, Miss Brown and Mr. Etzkorn, help prepare seniors for rehearsal of the graduation procession.

Rick Boro and Dennis Goodyear, juniors in the National Honor Society, enact their roles as escorts by helping Sheryl Friday off the stage.

The remaining juniors of the Concert Choir pause to watch the graduation activities between their performances.

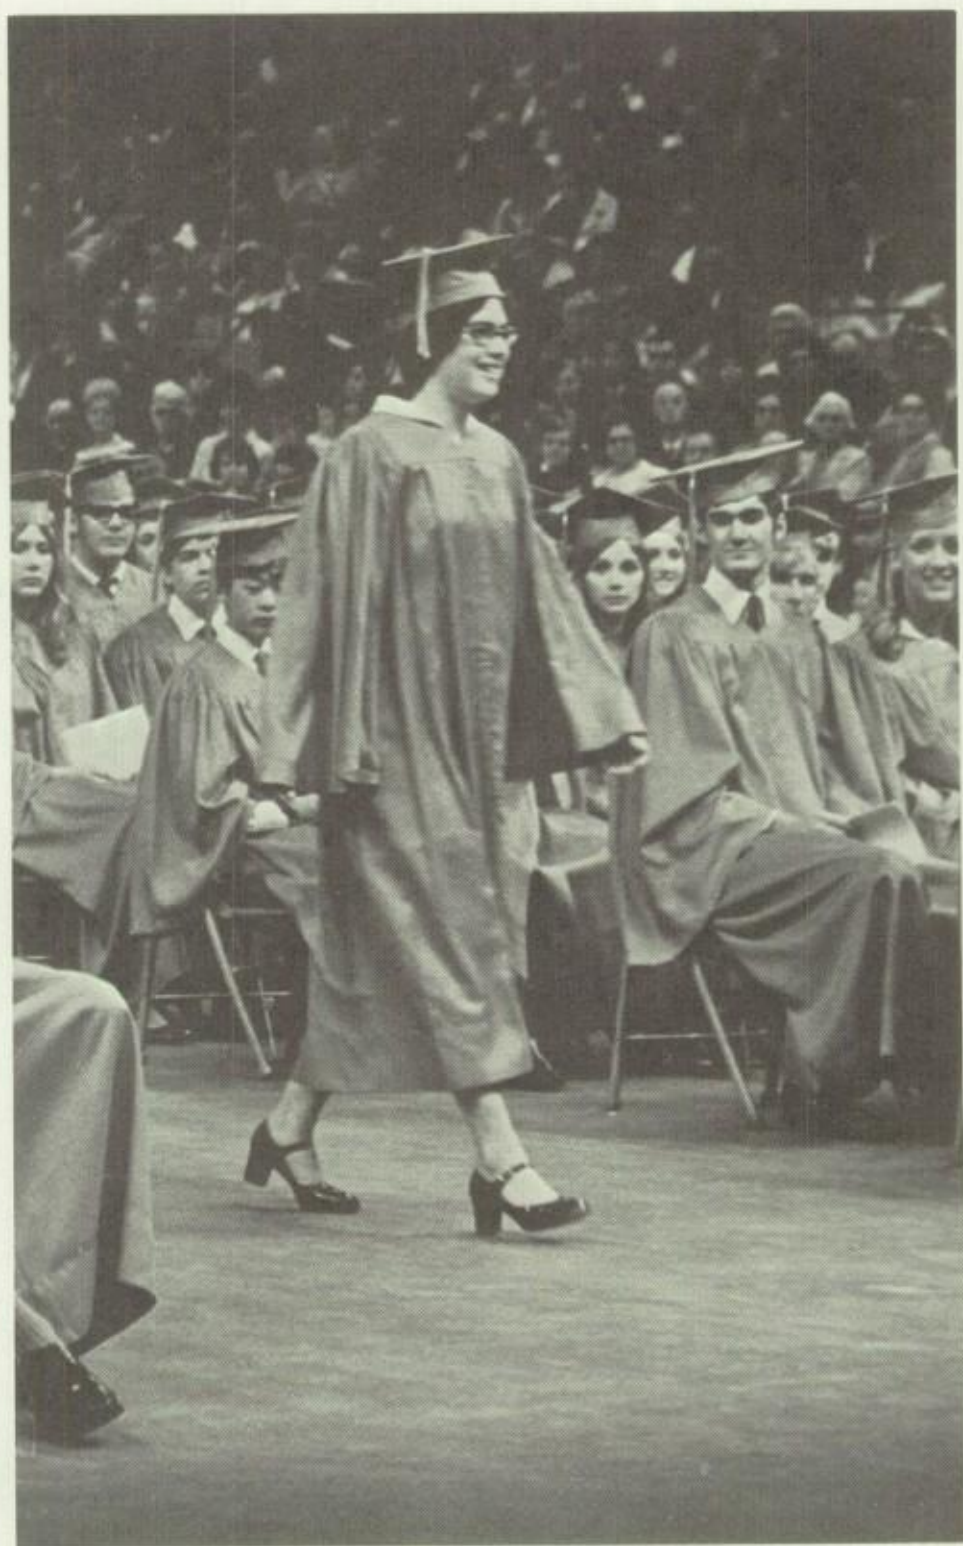

Under Mr. Morrell's direction the band provides music for those in attendance.

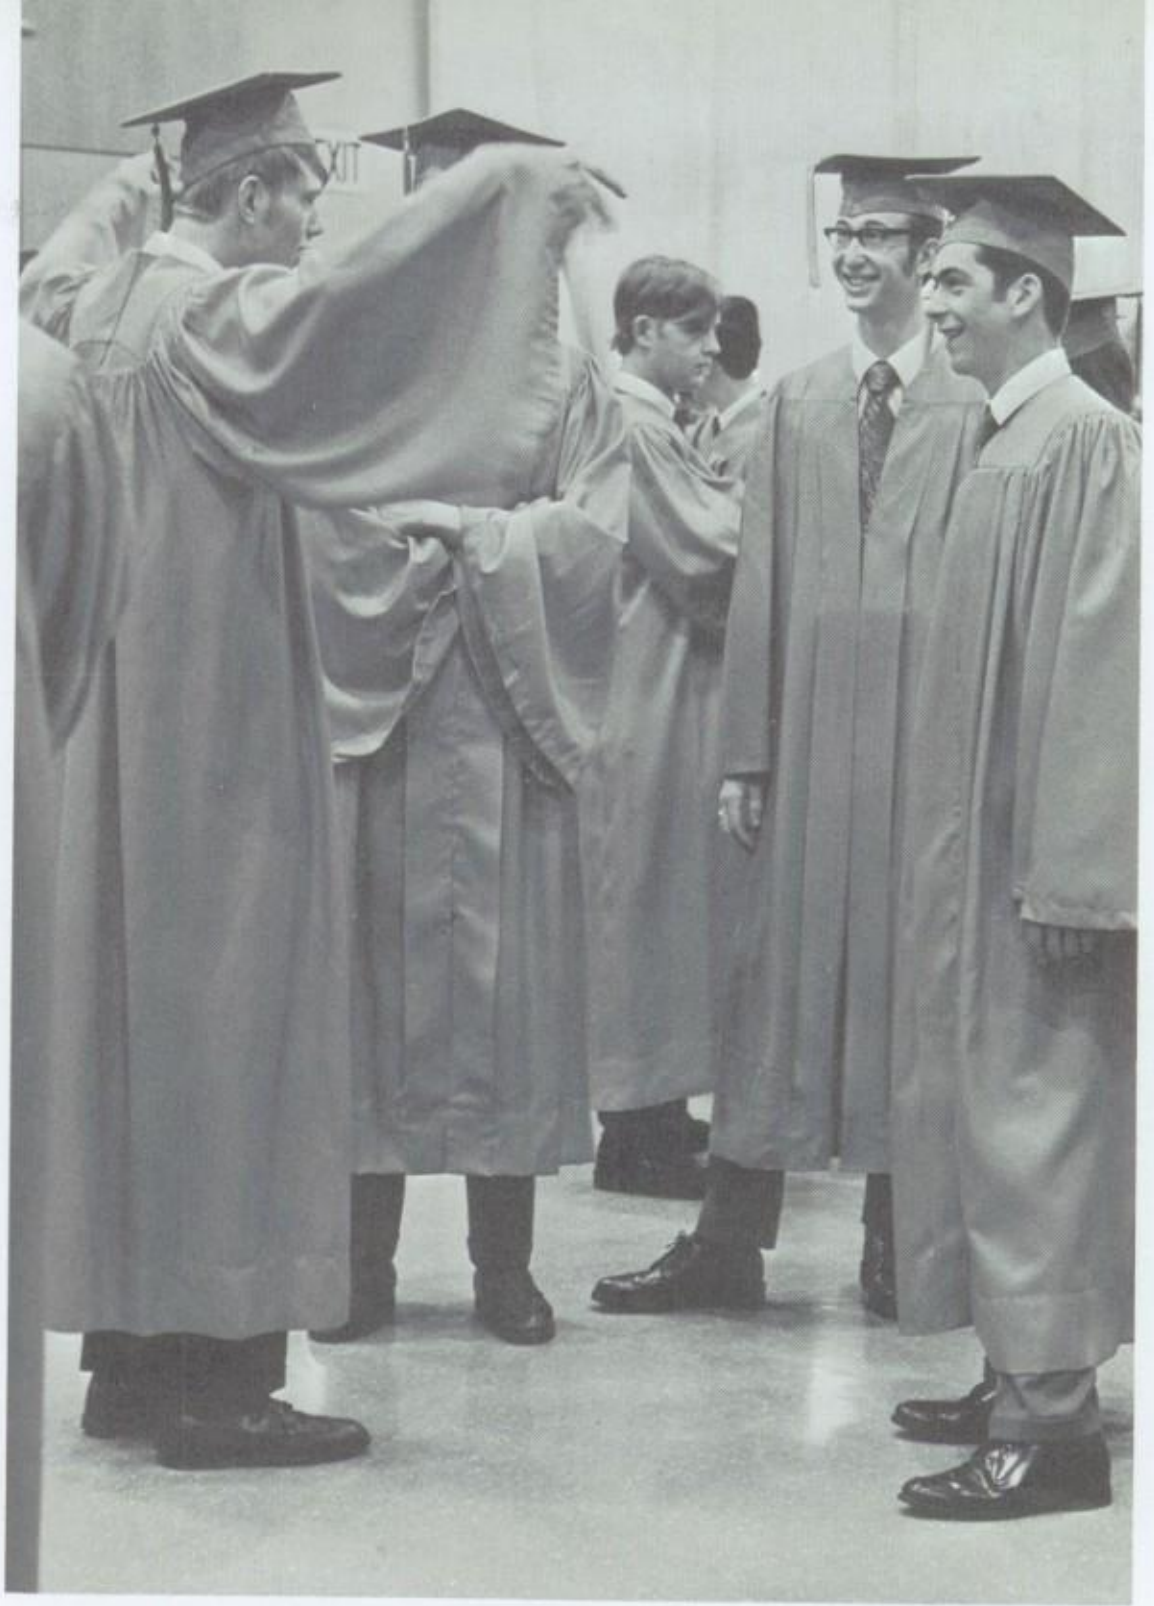

Graduation Brings to a Close Four Memorable Years

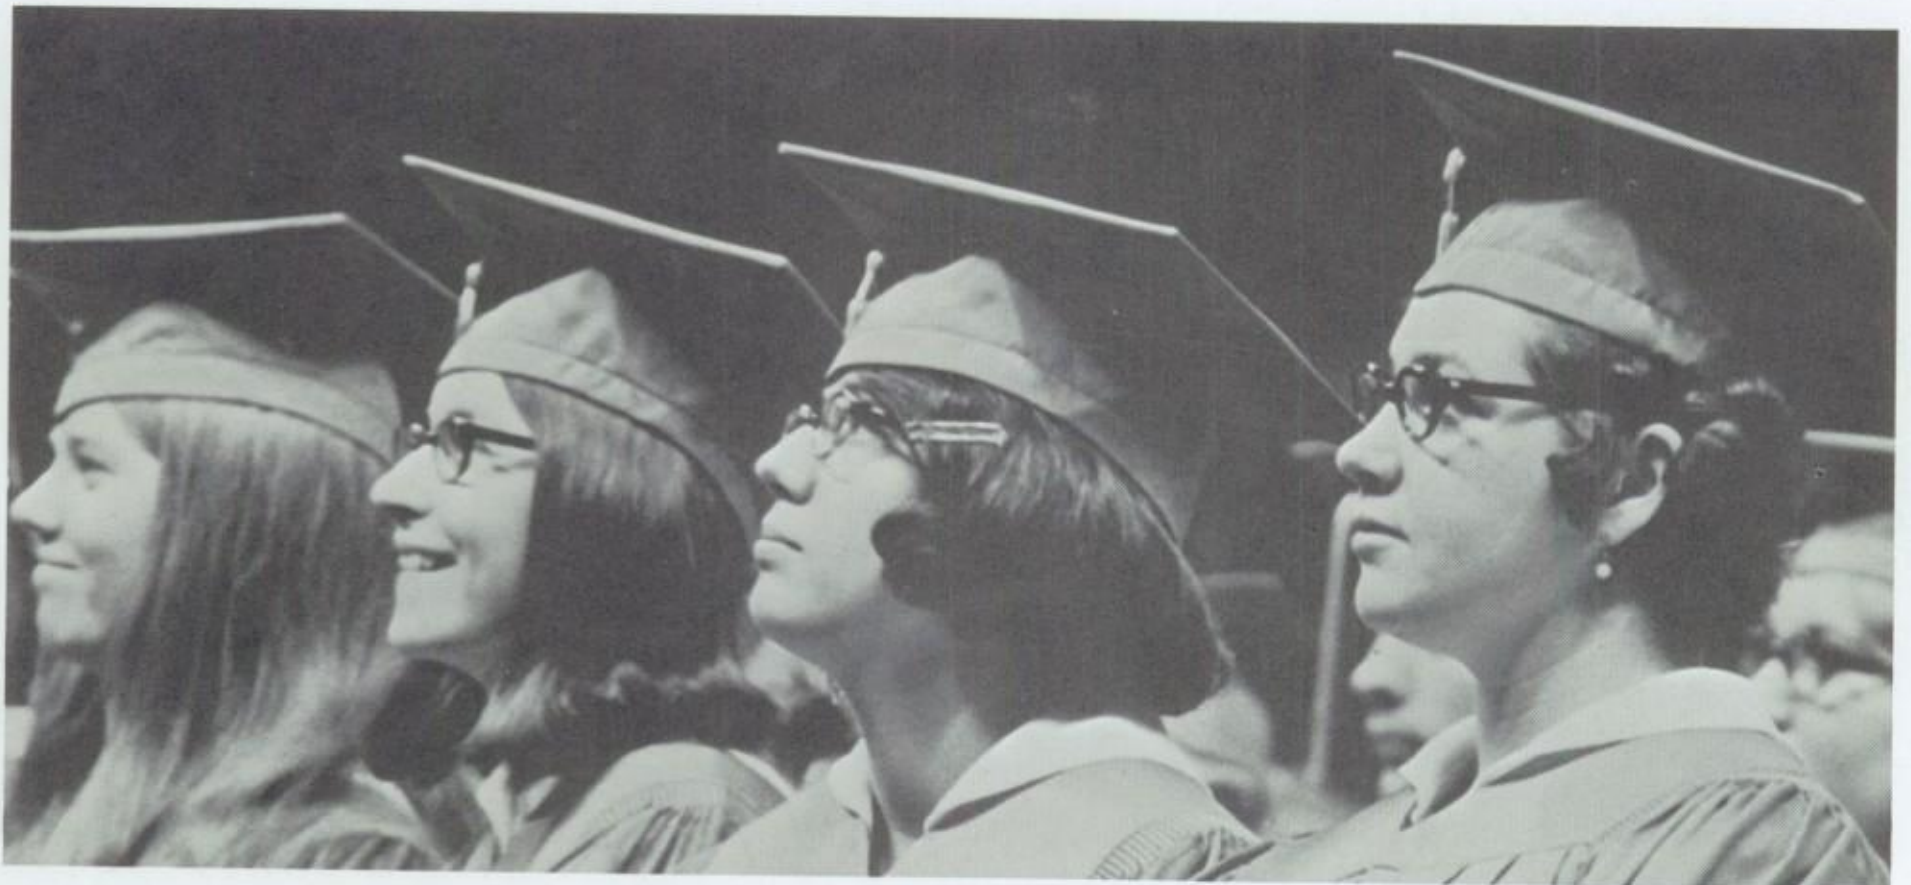

Pre-graduates Linda Newell, Linda Sullivan, and Lee Green arrive for graduation at the Coliseum.

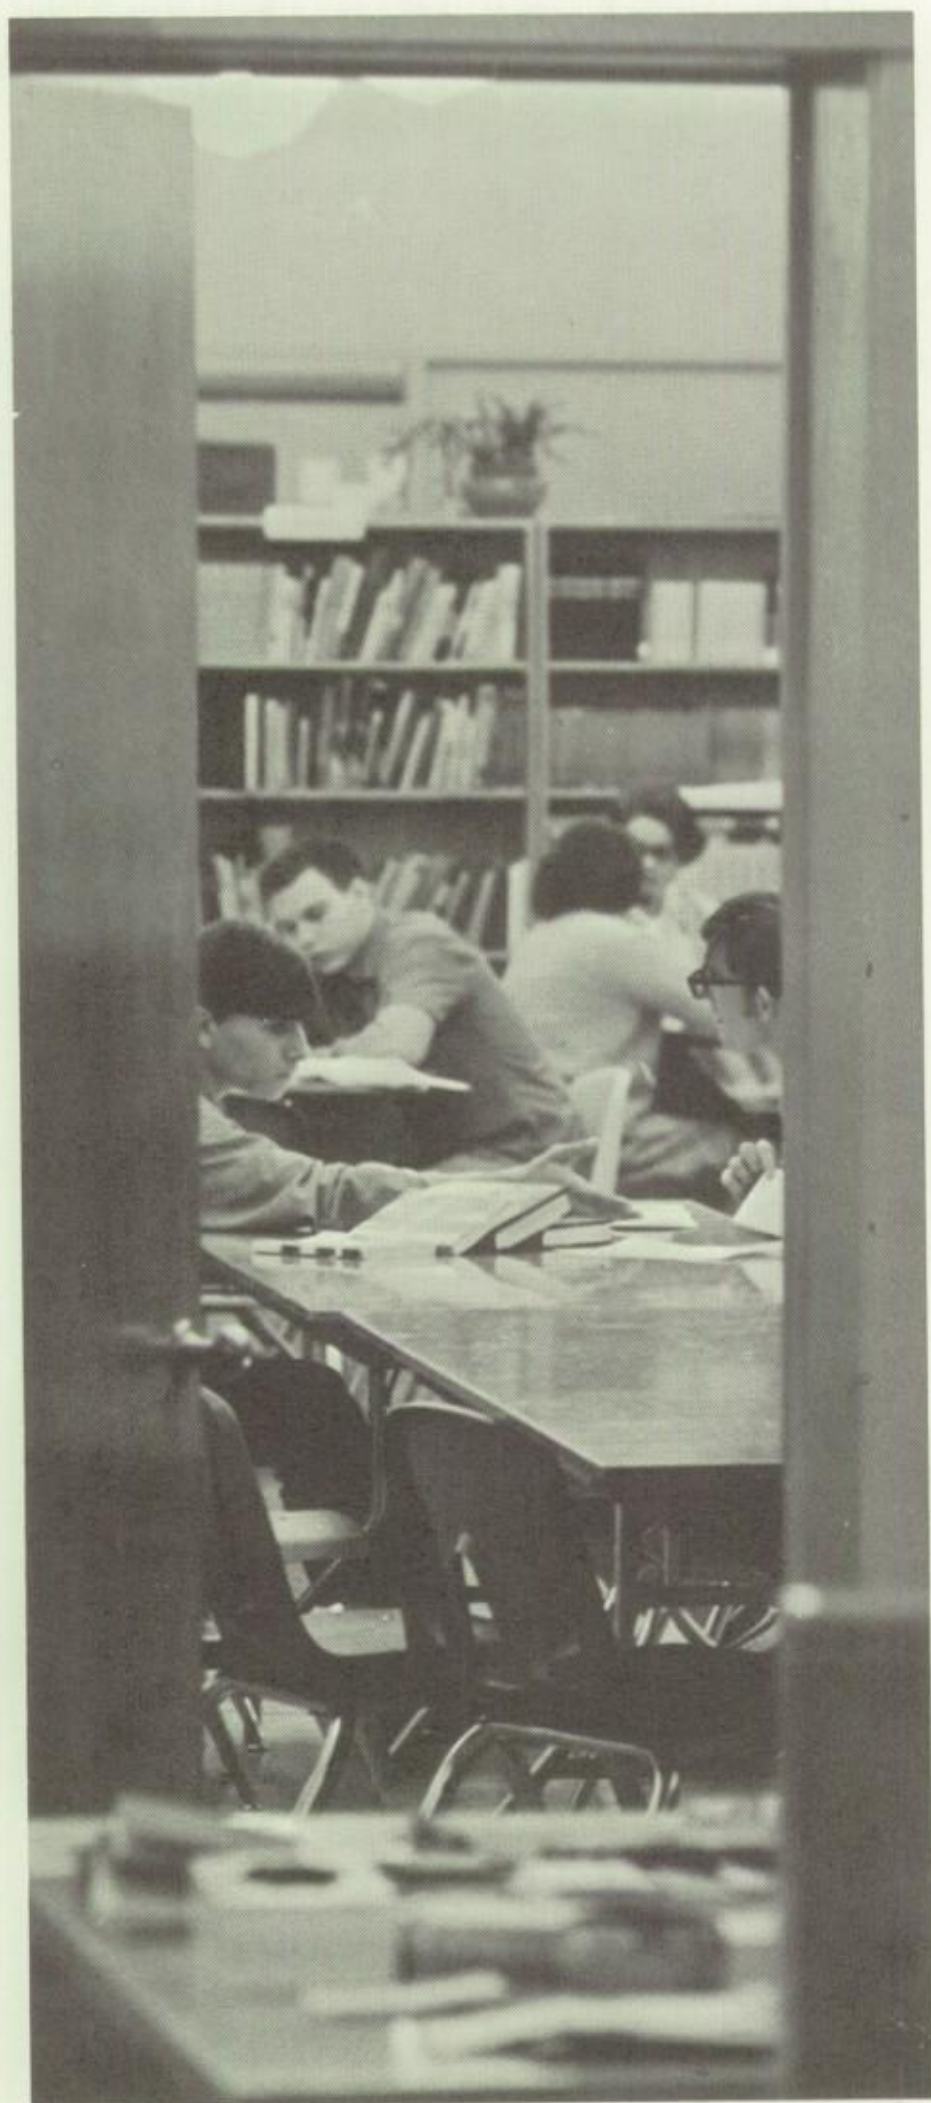

Carey Robinson, named one of Oregon's two Presidential Scholars by President Nixon, goes forward to accept the Lydia Weigel Award, for all-around outstanding achievement.

Dave Brandenburg demonstrates his "Flapping" ability to fellow classmates Tom Huspeck and John Markiewicz, while preparing for the ceremony.

A sense of pride is shown on the faces of Sue Boylen, Sue Didier, Arlene Dietz, and Karen Gress as they watch the graduation proceedings.

Scot Swimmers Net Second Sucessive Double Championship

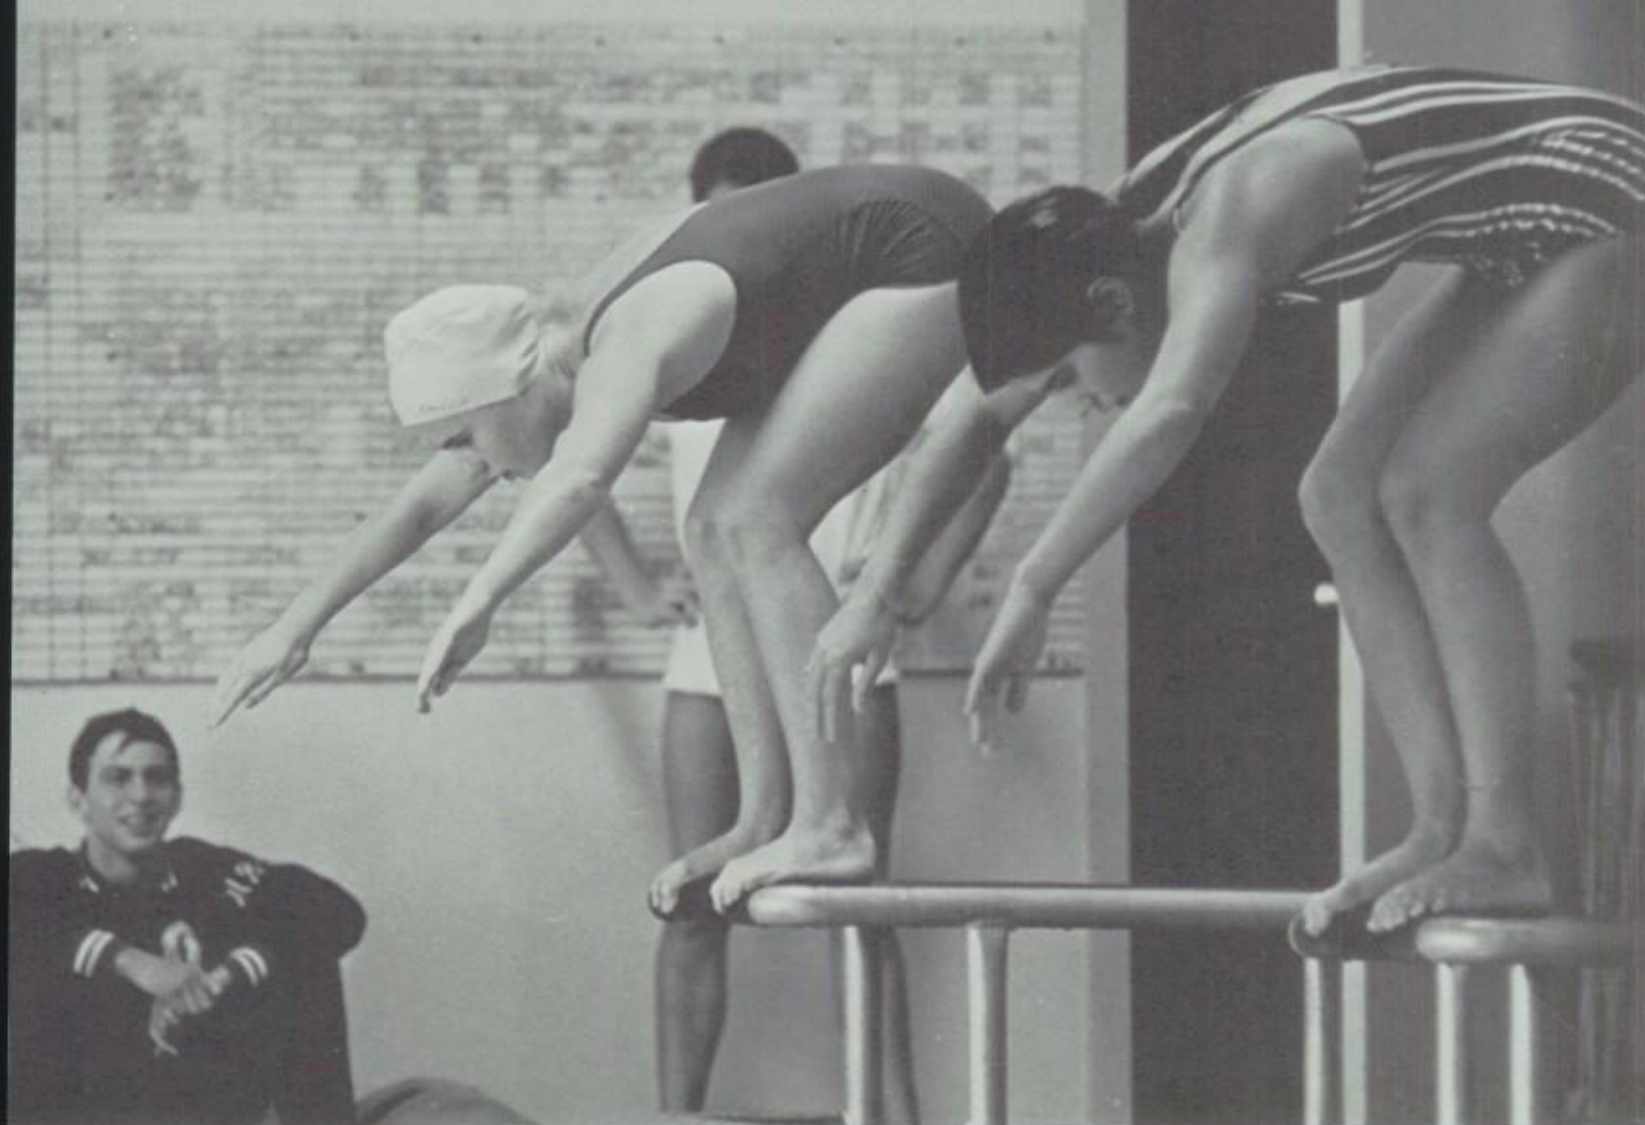

The David Douglas boys' and girls' swim teams pulled a double cross on the rest of the state this year by taking both state championships. They set a record by doing this for the first time last year. A niche has been carved in the record books by repeating the titles this year.

Since a fourth place district finish in 1964, the first year of competition, our torrid tankers have taken six straight district titles.

For seniors like Bob McDonald, John DeRoest, and Lynn Murakami it was a gratifying and just reward for four years of hard work. For underclassmen like Terry Crowe, Corinne Biamont, and Dan Givens it is something to strive for. All together it was the whole team putting out their maximum for Coach Don Jacklin.

All the members of the girls' swim team in one bunch proves too much for the boys' to resist. While waiting for their group shot the boys' engage in a little girl watching.

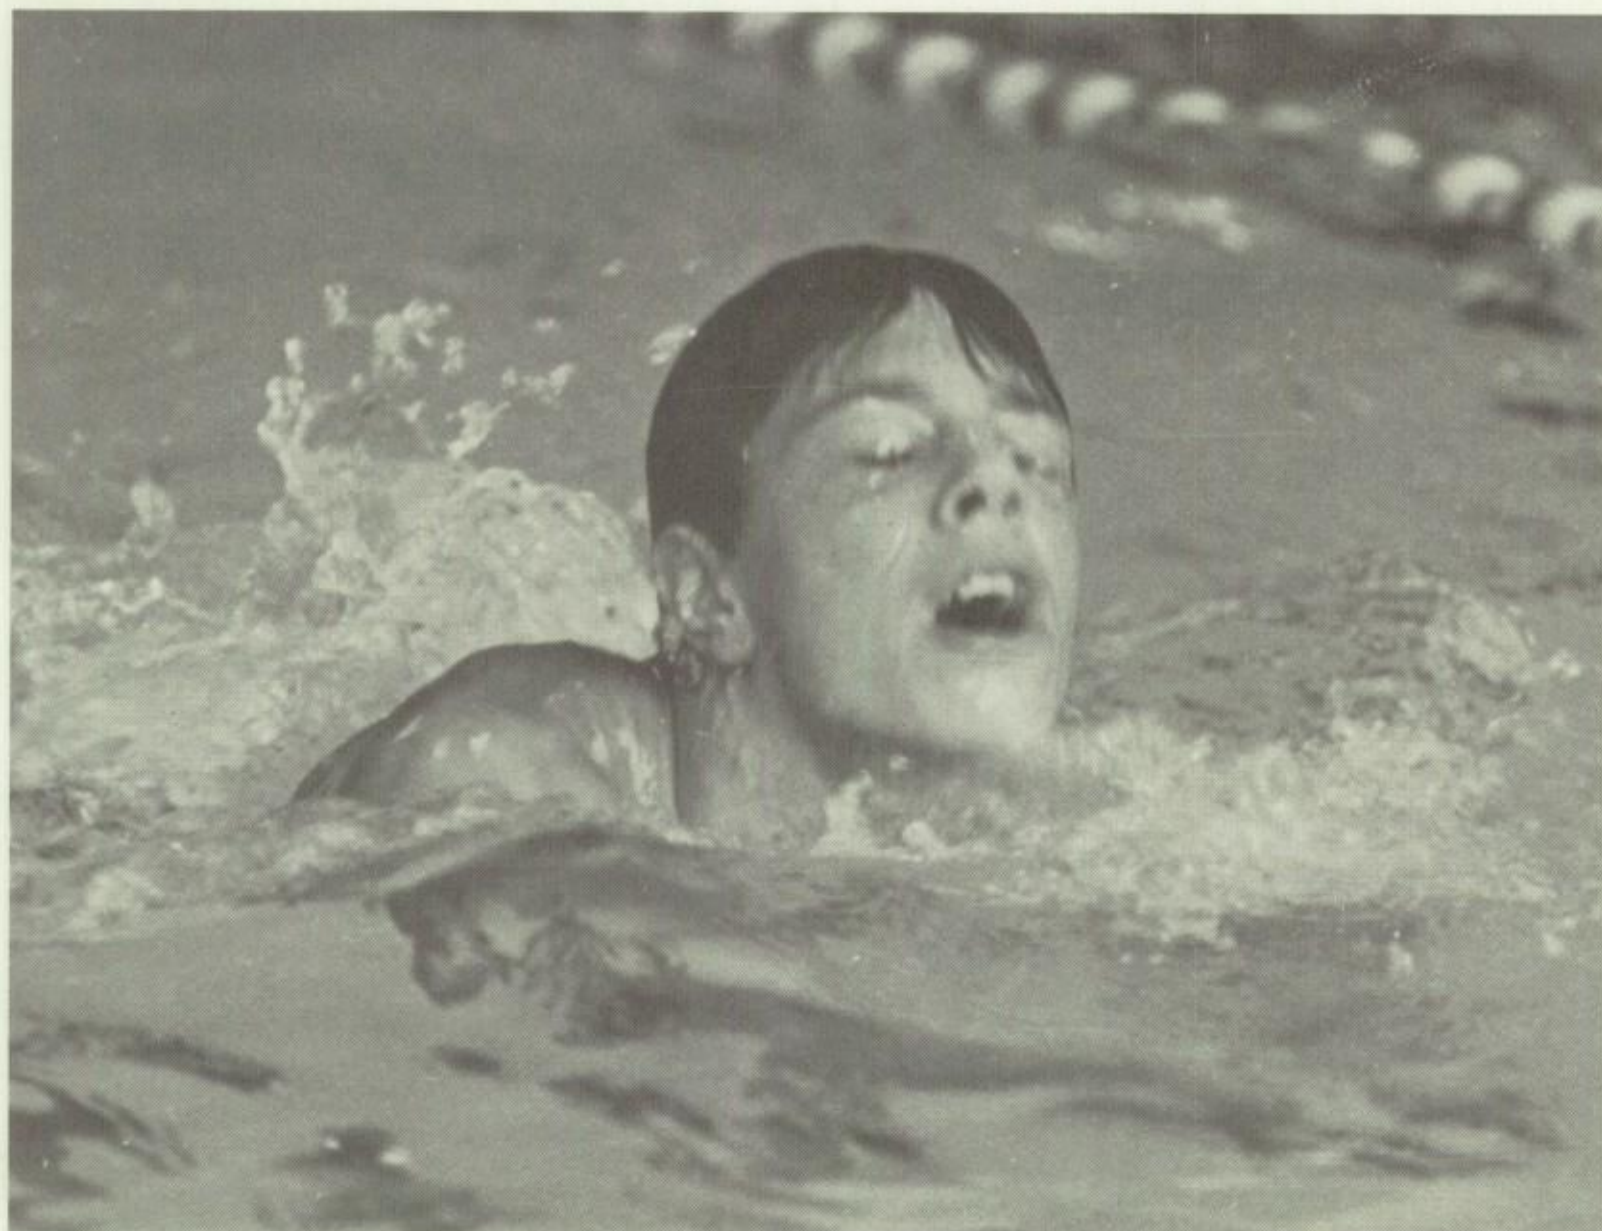

Marsha Smith and Lin Murakami are set and ready to go, determined not to be outdone. A bad start could mean a few seconds lost and a lower placing.

Scots Claim Second Consecutive Metro Championship

For the second straight year the David Douglas football team claimed the Metro League trophy. This was the fifth Metro League title since the football program was introduced in 1954. In earning the trip to state, the Scots beat the best the Metro had to offer including Sunset, Central Catholic, Hillsboro, and Beaverton. The Scots proved that if they were emotionally ready they could beat any team they played. Unfortunately, the Scots weren't ready for Corvallis as they bowed, 21-14, in their state quarterfinal game.

The Scot's offensive punch was delivered by seniors Dave Harrington, Mike Gwynn, Ron Peebles; and juniors Ron Hill, and Terry McEwen. The line, one of the state's heaviest, was anchored by seniors Jeff Hammons and Scott Paul. Seniors Dick Hooff and Doug Younce sparked an effective defense.

Harrington, Hammons, and Younce all made first team All-Metro.

A Frosh "A" lineman applies a block during the game with East Hillsboro. The "A"s won this game 26-6 and went on to go undefeated for the season.

The future looks bright for the David Douglas football program in the coming years. Both the Frosh "A" and JV football teams compiled unbeaten records over their opponents. The Frosh "A" team was 6-0 for the season and the JV team had a 9-0 record. This marks the third straight season that a David Douglas JV football team has gone undefeated. The Frosh "B" squad tallied a 3-1-2 record. JV standouts were Dave Thanem, Steve Bakke, and Jeff Ellers on offense while Jeff Walters, Ken Chance, and Ron Hobbs starred on defense.

Scot Harriers Place Seventh in Regional

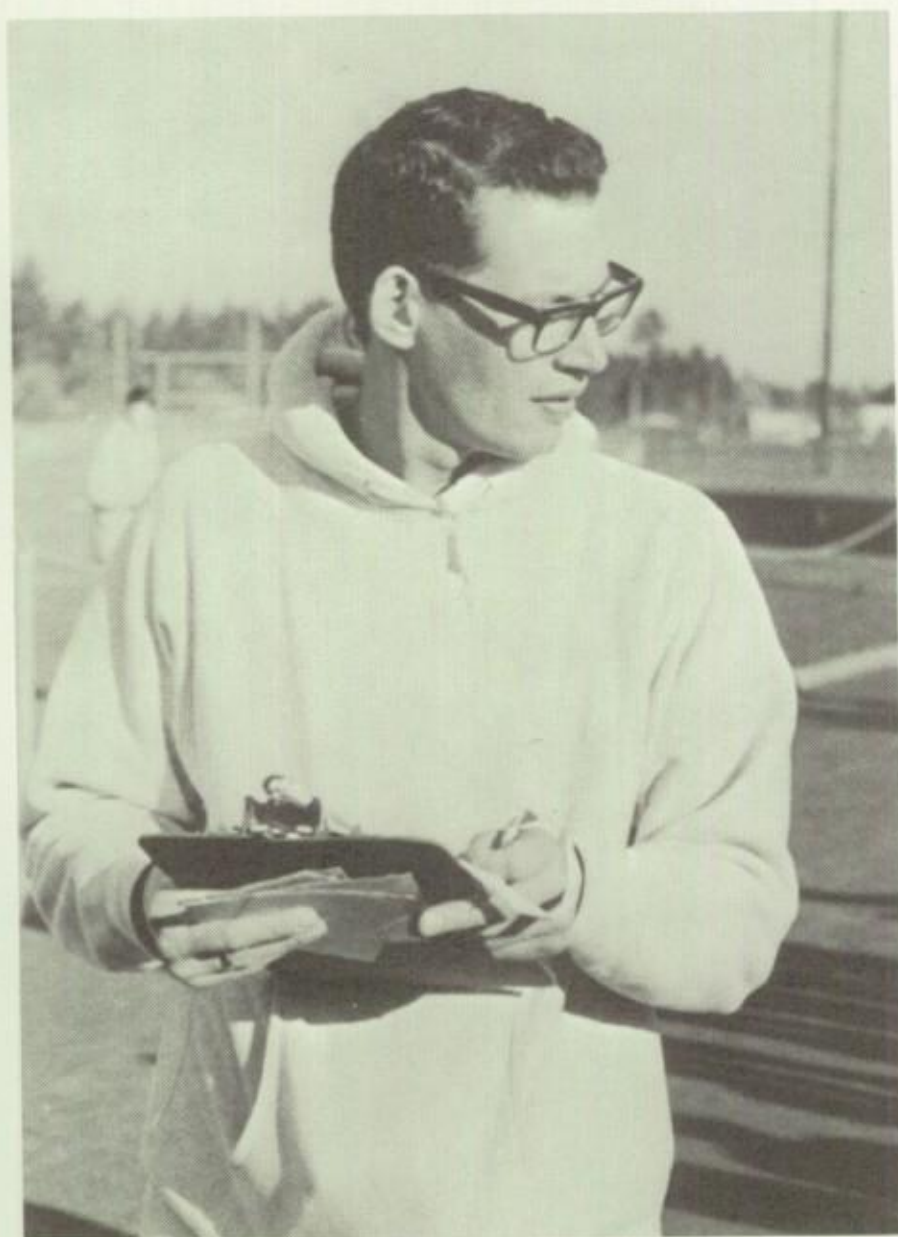

The ingredients that are needed to make a good cross country team are a lot of hard work and a good mental attitude. This year the Scots, in the dual meets, accumulated three wins and four losses. In the district standings they placed seventh. The season's record is as follows:

David Douglas	37	Central Catholic	21
David Douglas	26	Aloha	29
David Douglas	37	Clackamas	21
David Douglas	43	Hillsboro	19
David Douglas	20	Beaverton	39

One of the outstanding runners this year was senior Ron Reidlinger. He placed fifth both at district and regional and placed twenty-seventh at state. Two other hard runners who should receive recognition are junior Bob Jeffery and freshman Greg Gustafson.

The prospects for next year's team are good. Says Coach Skowhede, "It depends on how much they work over the summer, and their mental attitude toward the sport."

State Title Eludes Gymnasts

Under the direction of first-year coach Ron Ostboe David Douglas's gymnastic teams enjoyed successful dual meet seasons in addition to second place finishes in the state championships. The boys team was 6.2 points shy of becoming state champions, while the girls fell short by 4.5 points. South Eugene captured both the boys and girls team trophy. The Scot gymnasts did, however, claim first place in the Northern District Championships for the fifth straight year.

The Scots had two individual state champions in Ron Nisson and Doug Ingham. Ron won first place honors in floor exercise while Doug claimed a gold medal in side horse competition.

Other gymnasts that were instrumental in the Scots high finish at state include Ross Cauthorn, Terry Hutchinson, Steve Monroe, and Jeff Davis. Girls who should receive recognition include Jayne Hamilton, Gayle Hamilton, Chris Berry, Peggy Ball, and Karen Heber.

All-around gymnast Ron Nisson performs on the side horse. Ron finished seventh in state on the side horse in addition to his gold medal in floor exercise and second place finish in all-around competition.

Tourney Berth Eludes Scot Five

Coach Truman Osborn's cagers didn't figure too highly at the start of the 1969-1970 season. With only three returning lettermen the Scots seemed too inexperienced to cope with powerful teams from Beaverton and Central Catholic in the Northern Division of the Metro League. But at the end of the season David Douglas' record stood at 17-5, and it included wins over both Central and Beaverton.

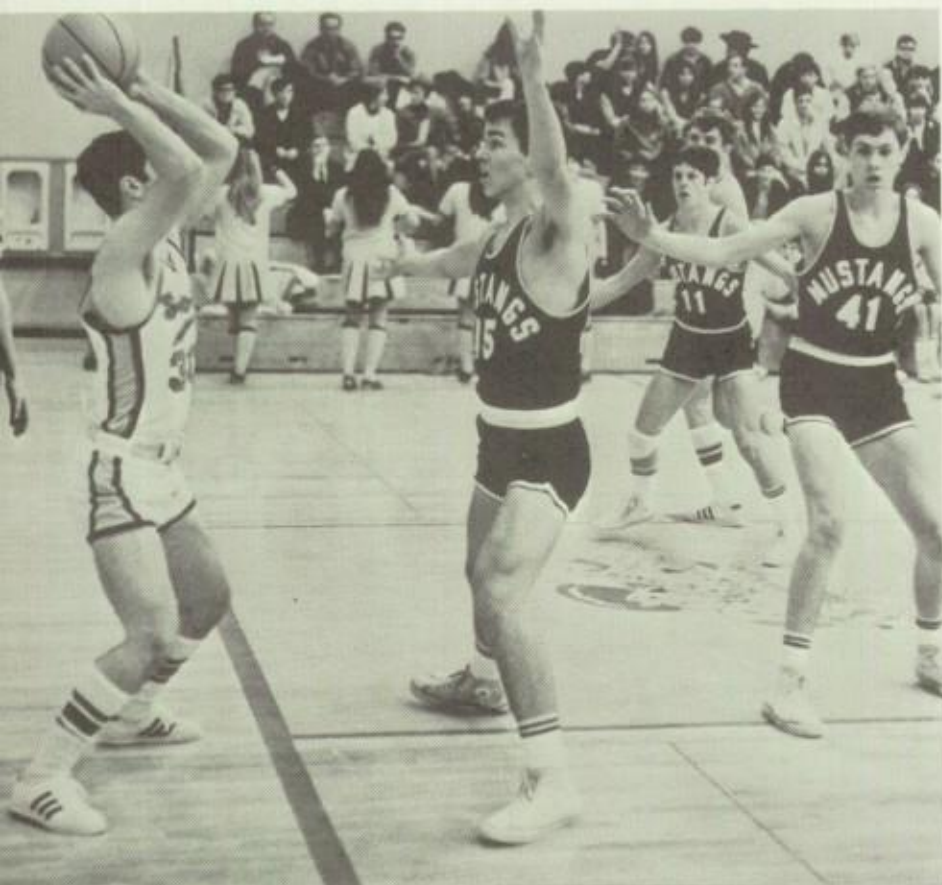

Mike Strader, the lone starting senior, was the leading scorer and rebounder for the Scots. Junior Glenn Patterson was second in both departments. Terry McEwen, also a junior, was two points behind Patterson in scoring, and he proved invaluable with his outside shooting. Gary Gray, a sophomore, had game winning baskets against Central and Sunset. Coach Osborn cited Greg Horner, a junior, as the club's best defensive player.

The highlight of the season came against Central Catholic at David Douglas. The then No. 1 ranked team in the state was unbeaten through 16 games. Gary Gray led the Scot charge with 6 points in the last 42 seconds. to insure a slim 61-60 victory.

Junior Glenn Patterson jumps in the tip-off against Centennial. Centennial fell to the Scots 47-35.

JV's, Frosh Gain Experience

Once again the JV and frosh basketball teams have compiled winning records. The JV's matched the varsity's record by finishing at 17-5. The frosh "A"s had a 14-7 record. Both the JV and frosh coaches, Merrit Kelsey and Jim Nibler respectively, put a premium on playing all their players.

The JV's were led by junior Don LaBarre, sophomores Jeff Ellers, Steve Bakke, Brad Smith, and freshman Robin Gulde.

Leading scorers for the frosh were Kevin Hamilton, Tom Harrington, and Ed Nickenko.

Scots Fall Short of State Title

State champion Dan York completes a takedown on an opponent from Rex Putnam.

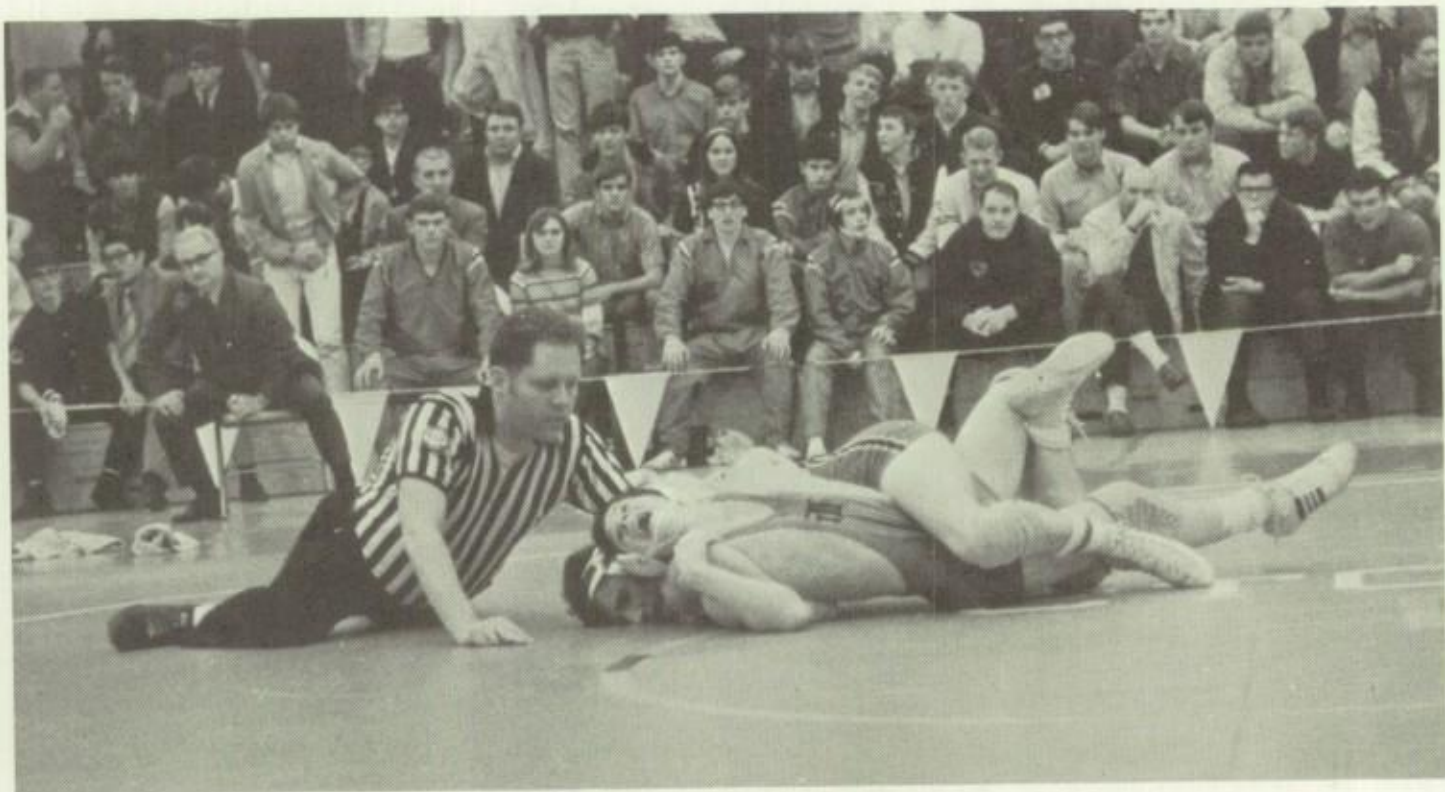

The strong varsity wrestling team went undefeated the entire season, each win bringing them closer to the Metro League tournament which was held here at David Douglas High School. The matmen had a great showing at the two day invitational meet as they went on to claim the Metro League Championship. The finalists in District were Walt Trapp, 106; Dan York, 115; Gary Cerotsky, 136; Lary Cerotsky, 141; Steve Parson, 148; Bill Smethurst, 178; Steve Daniels, 130; Stephen Browning, 168; and Scott Paul, Hwt.

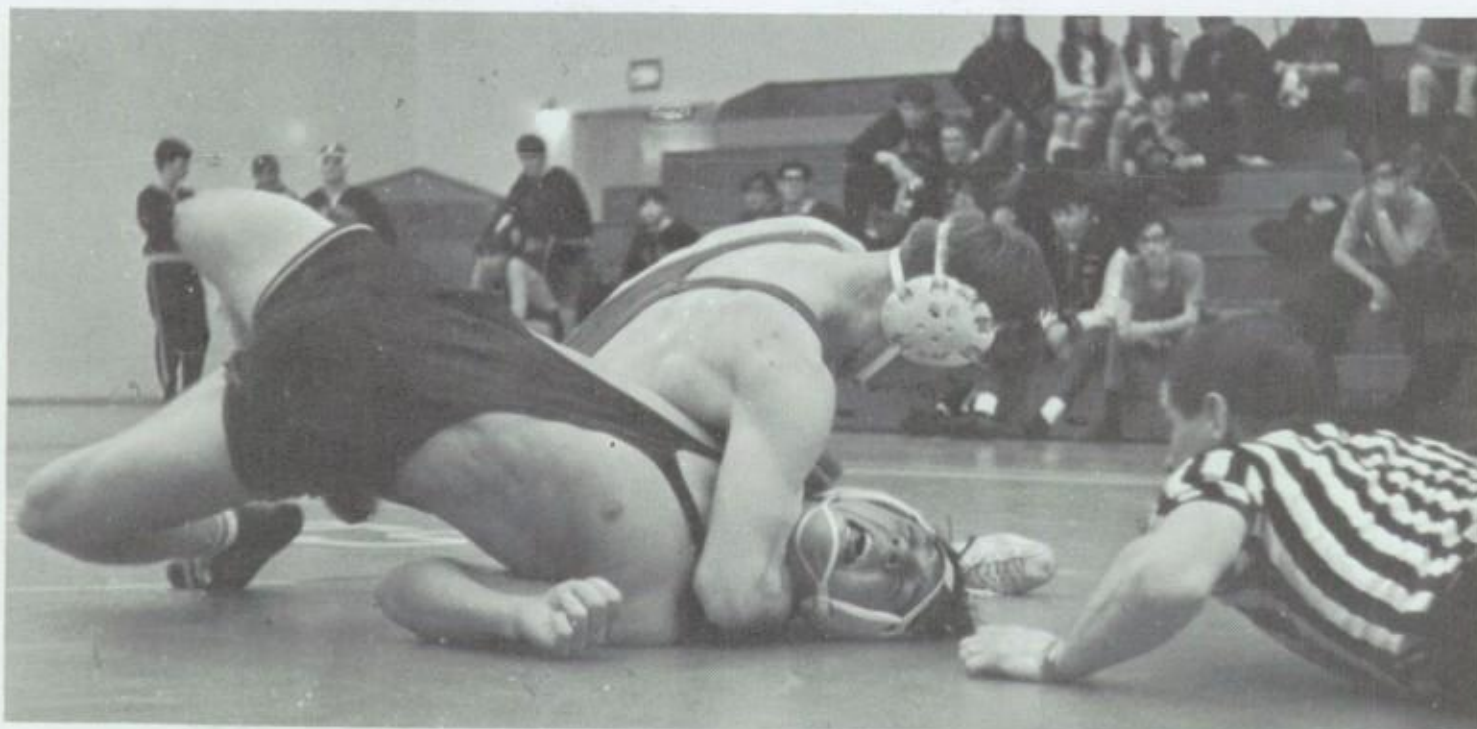

With the metro league title behind them the matmen went to Corvallis where the state wrestling meet is held at Oregon State University. Two points separated the Scots from a first place finish. Dan York took first place in his individual weight class.

Voted on by the wrestlers themselves, the most improved senior was Scott Hamilton; the most outstanding freshman was Mark Fox; most outstanding sophomore Steve Daniels; and most outstanding junior Tim Gregos. The outstanding metro league wrestler was Dan York at 115 lbs.

Mr. Duncan, coach of the varsity team, was proud of the Scots and is looking forward to next year.

Frosh and J.V. Matmen Experience an Exciting Year

Freshman Bob Rayburn demonstrates his ability by gaining control of his opponent, as the referee gets ready for the count.

With concentrated effort freshman Keith Robins watches a teammate wrestle.

Under the watchful eyes of assistant freshman coach, Mr. Staple, and frosh coach, Mr. Bjorge, the freshman wrestlers went on to claim the Metro league championship.

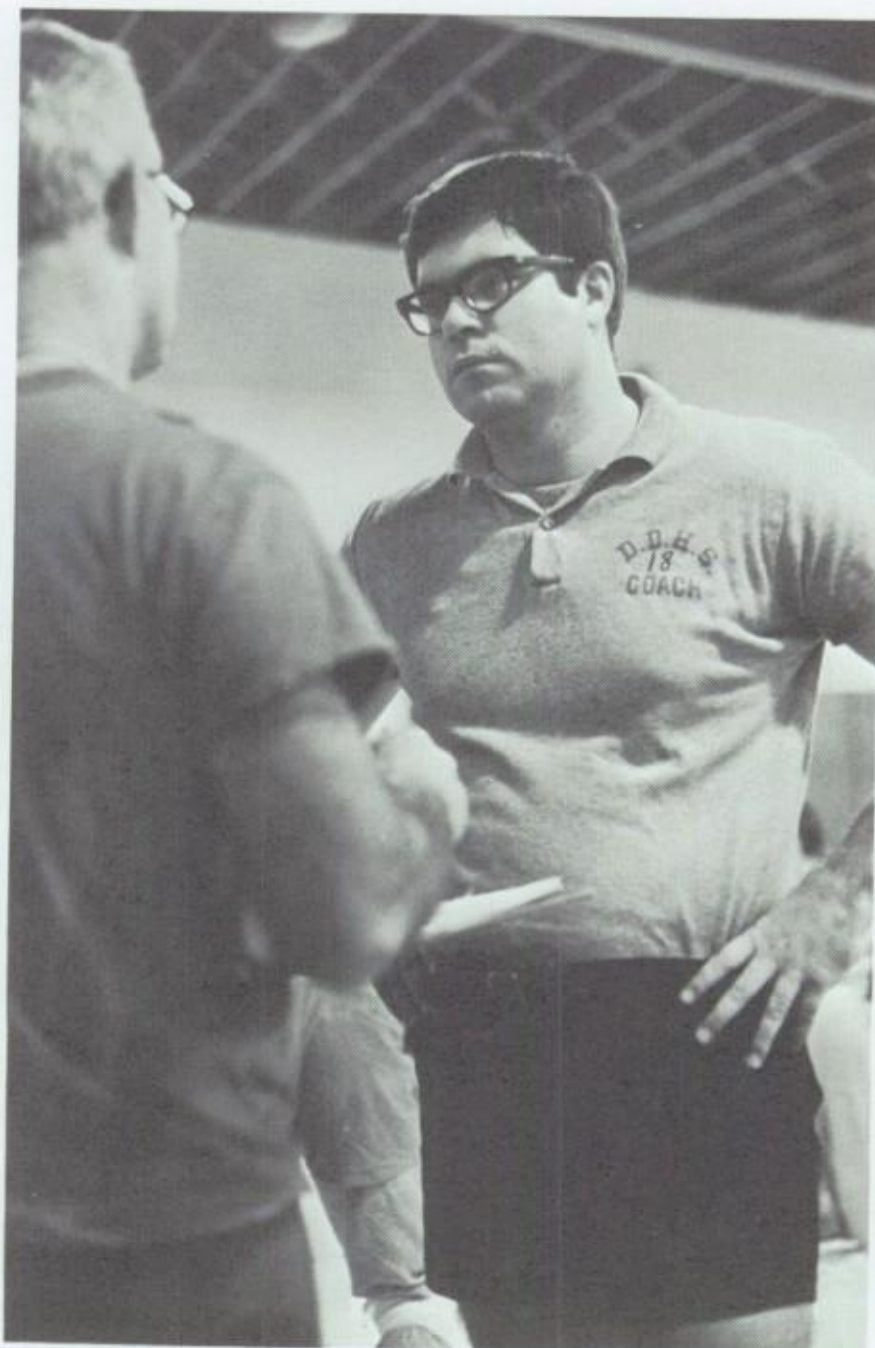

The J.V. and frosh wrestling season this year was a good one with the freshman coming on strong. The season's record for the frosh matmen was six wins and two losses. Their match with Parkrose showed their ability as they pinned every one of the opposition wrestlers. The outstanding contenders were Bob Rayburn, Lane Waleski, Mike Wood, Mark Fox, and Carl Sandstrum.

With two wrestlers in every weight class the matmen went on to claim the Metro League Championship, held in Hillsboro. Said frosh Coach Bjorge, "the wrestling this season went very well, especially at the end when they came on very strong to win the Metro title."

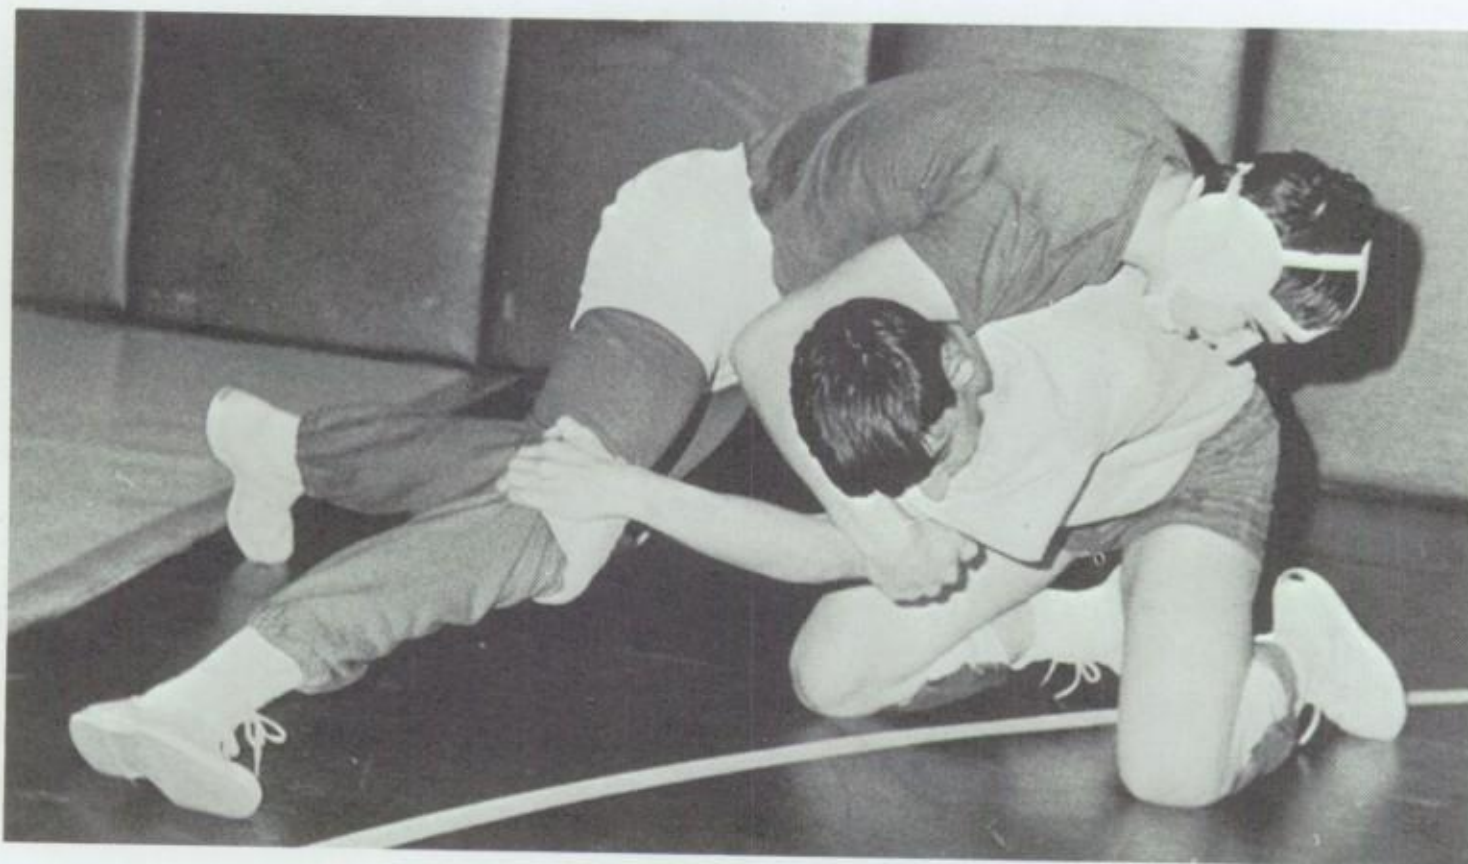

The program of the J.V. wrestling under the direction of Mr. Hawley went into effect this year. The contenders who do not make the Varsity One or Varsity Two team wrestle Junior Varsity. This is a great opportunity for the boys to show their ability and their individual effort.

The season's competition is made up of eight tournaments. This is where four schools come together and each wrestler competing with an opponent in his weight class. The J.V. team had a good season with seven wins and one loss. Coach Hawley comments, "the program is good, with everyone getting to participate."

Coach Hawley of the J.V. team listens intently to the suggestions offered by Mr. Duncan. This is the first year for Coach Hawley to serve on the wrestling staff.

Shooters Take State and Northwest Regional

This year's Scot rifle team was perhaps the strongest ever to shoot for David Douglas. The team, coached by Mr. Bob Edwards, lost only to Sunset during the regular season and in the league playoff. However, in addition to an otherwise unblemished record the Scots won the state and Northwest Regional competition. A David Douglas scoring record was also established during a regular season win over Sunset. The Scots will also be ranked nationally by comparing their Northwest Regional scores with those of other outstanding national teams.

Standouts for the Scots were Seniors Eric Dickman, Marc Huey, Rick Kile, and Greg Hanson. Dickman placed on the state and regional all star teams in addition to being named the Scots outstanding shooter.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Edwards the four different shooting positions are demonstrated by Greg Hanson (prone), Fred Hanson (sitting), Carrie Low (kneeling), Rick Kile (off hand), and Marc Huey (off hand).

Scot Thinclads Show Marked Improvement

David Douglas boys' track team posted a winning 4-3 dual meet record. This was in addition to a third place finish in the metro relays. The Scots tied for fourth place at district and qualified two trackmen for the state meet.

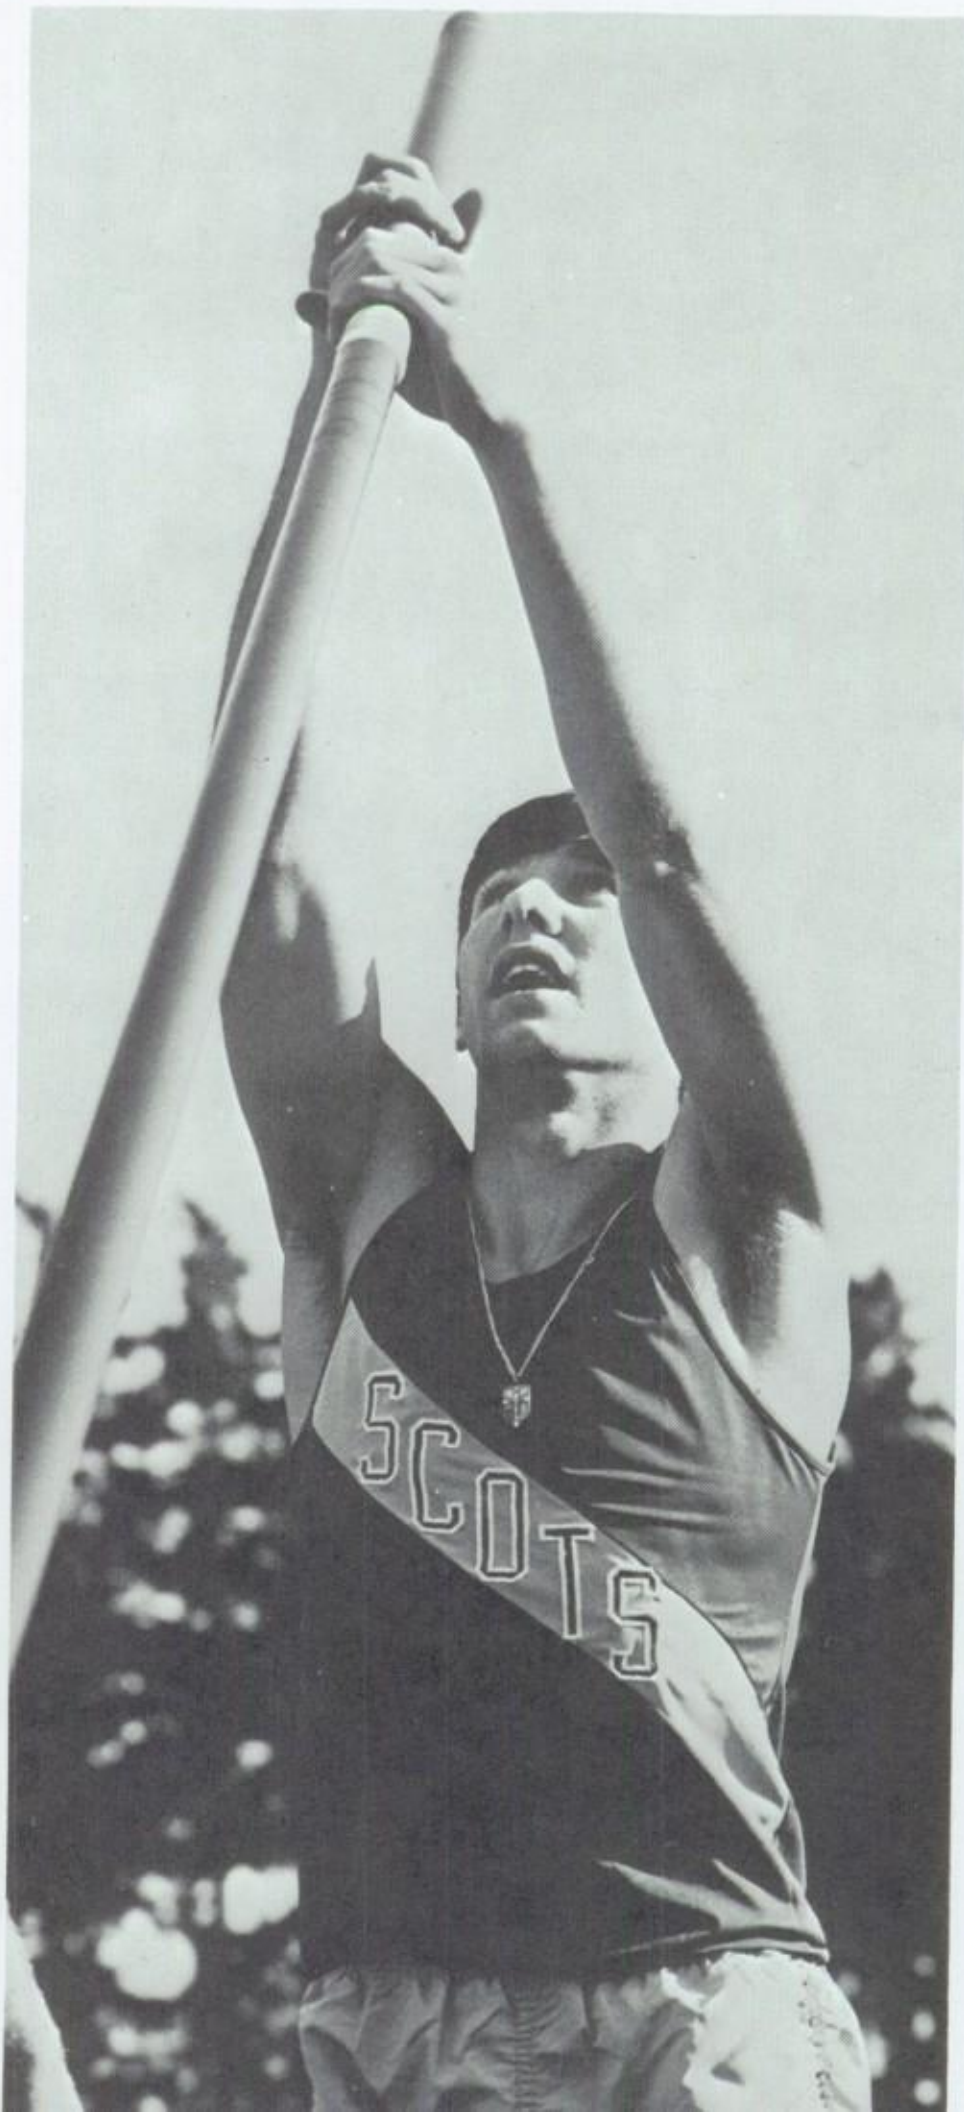

Jeff Hammons garnered first places in both the district and state meets in the discus. Jeff also took second place in the shot-put at district. Dave Harrington took two firsts at district in the long jump and pole vault event. Dave LeDoux just missed a state meet berth by finishing third in the 440 at district.

Although these three senior cindermen have graduated, Coach Walk Skowhede will have a large number of returning lettermen next year.

With another track season coming to a close, the freshman and junior varsity track team experienced another good year with three wins to three losses for the frosh, and three wins to four losses for the J.V. team.

Outstanding tracksters were sophomores Gary Gray, Steve Bakke, and Randy Pliska. Outstanding freshmen were Bill Serdar, Dave Glennon, Andy Hess, Carl Sandstrom, Greg Gustafson, Dan Wilson, Ed Nichenko, and Mark Foot. Bill Serdar and Greg Gustafson both earned their varsity letter as freshmen. This is the first time in eight years that a freshman has achieved this honor.

Lassies Bring Metro Title to Scot-land

The girls' track team had a victorious season this year ending with a record of 7-0. With stiff competition coming from Parkrose, Putnam, and last year's district title holder, Hillsboro, the Scot girls defeated all their challengers with overpowering force. In the special district meet the girls' track team went on to win the district title.

Those who placed in district and were eligible for state were Toni Young, Marilyn Coats, Carolyn Henderson, Susan Hiebert, Val O'Byrne, Ann Sheehy, Lynne Patterson, Sue Sturdivant, Dianne Burry, Barbara Taylor, and Diane Fox. The girls who placed in state were Marilyn Coats, third in javelin, and Carolyn Henderson, second in high jump.

The Scots placed tenth in state which was held in Springfield this year. Coach Gladys Michael was very happy with her team this year and is looking forward to an equal or better team next year with a strong nucleus of returning underclass girls.

Scots Take Metro League Title

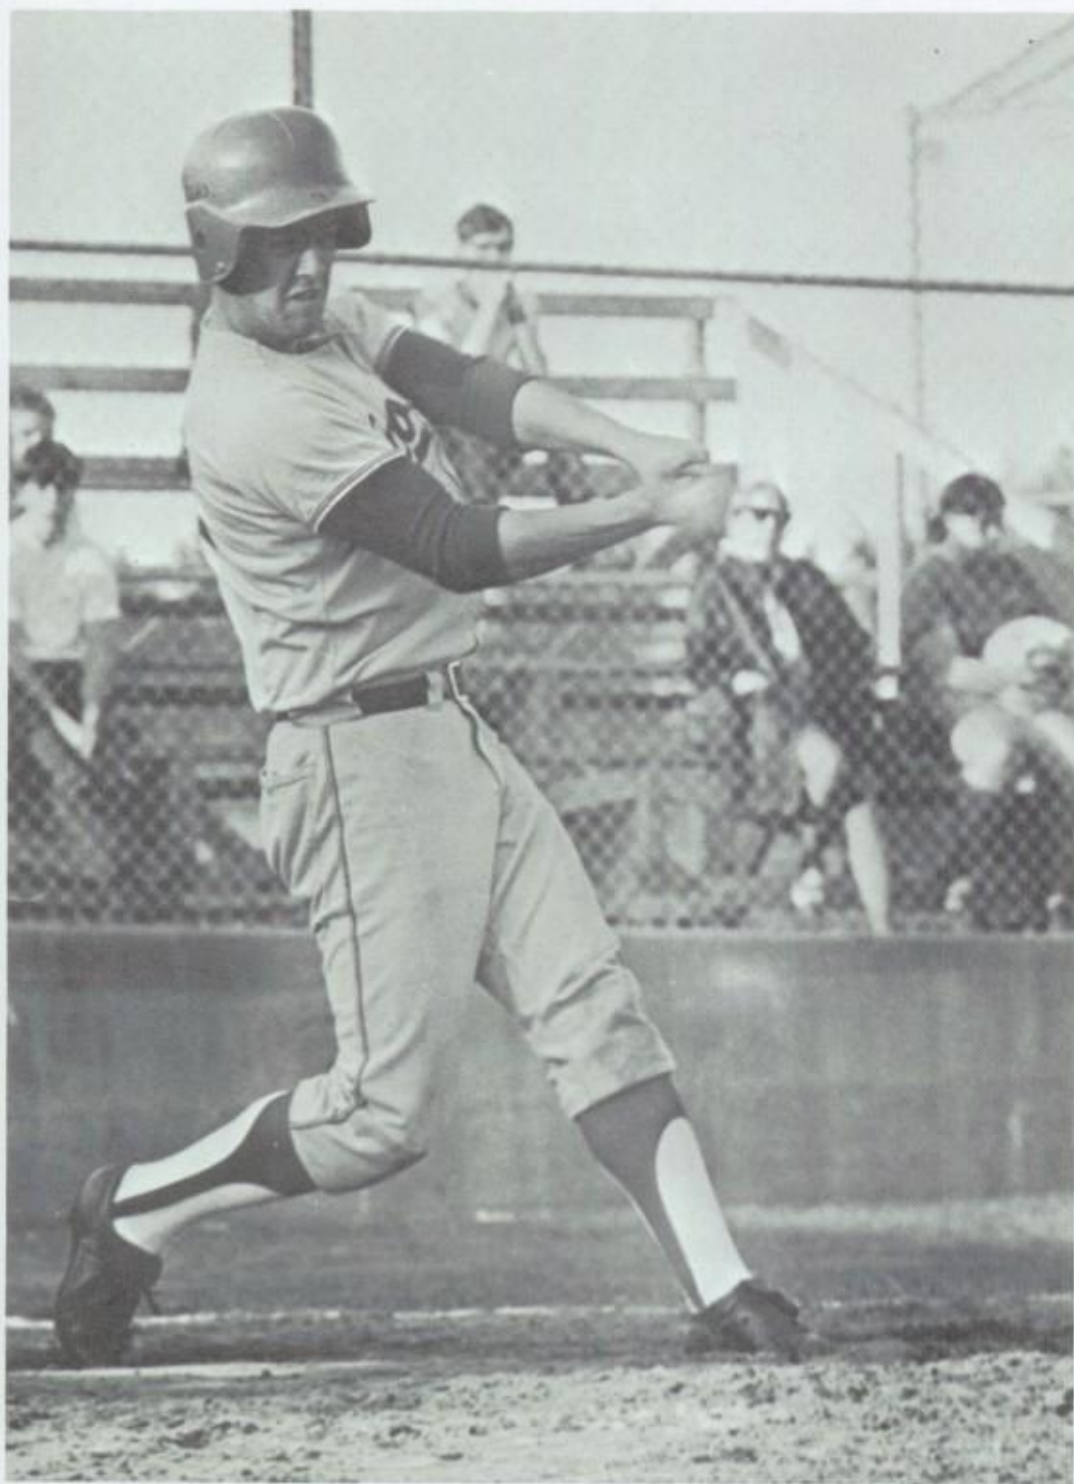

David Douglas' baseball team finally ended a twelve year stay away from the state playoffs by winning the Metro League title this year. By winning their last six league games, the Scots nipped Sunset for first place in the Northern Division. By beating Centennial in the first two games of a best of three series, the Scots claimed the Metro title and a state playoff berth.

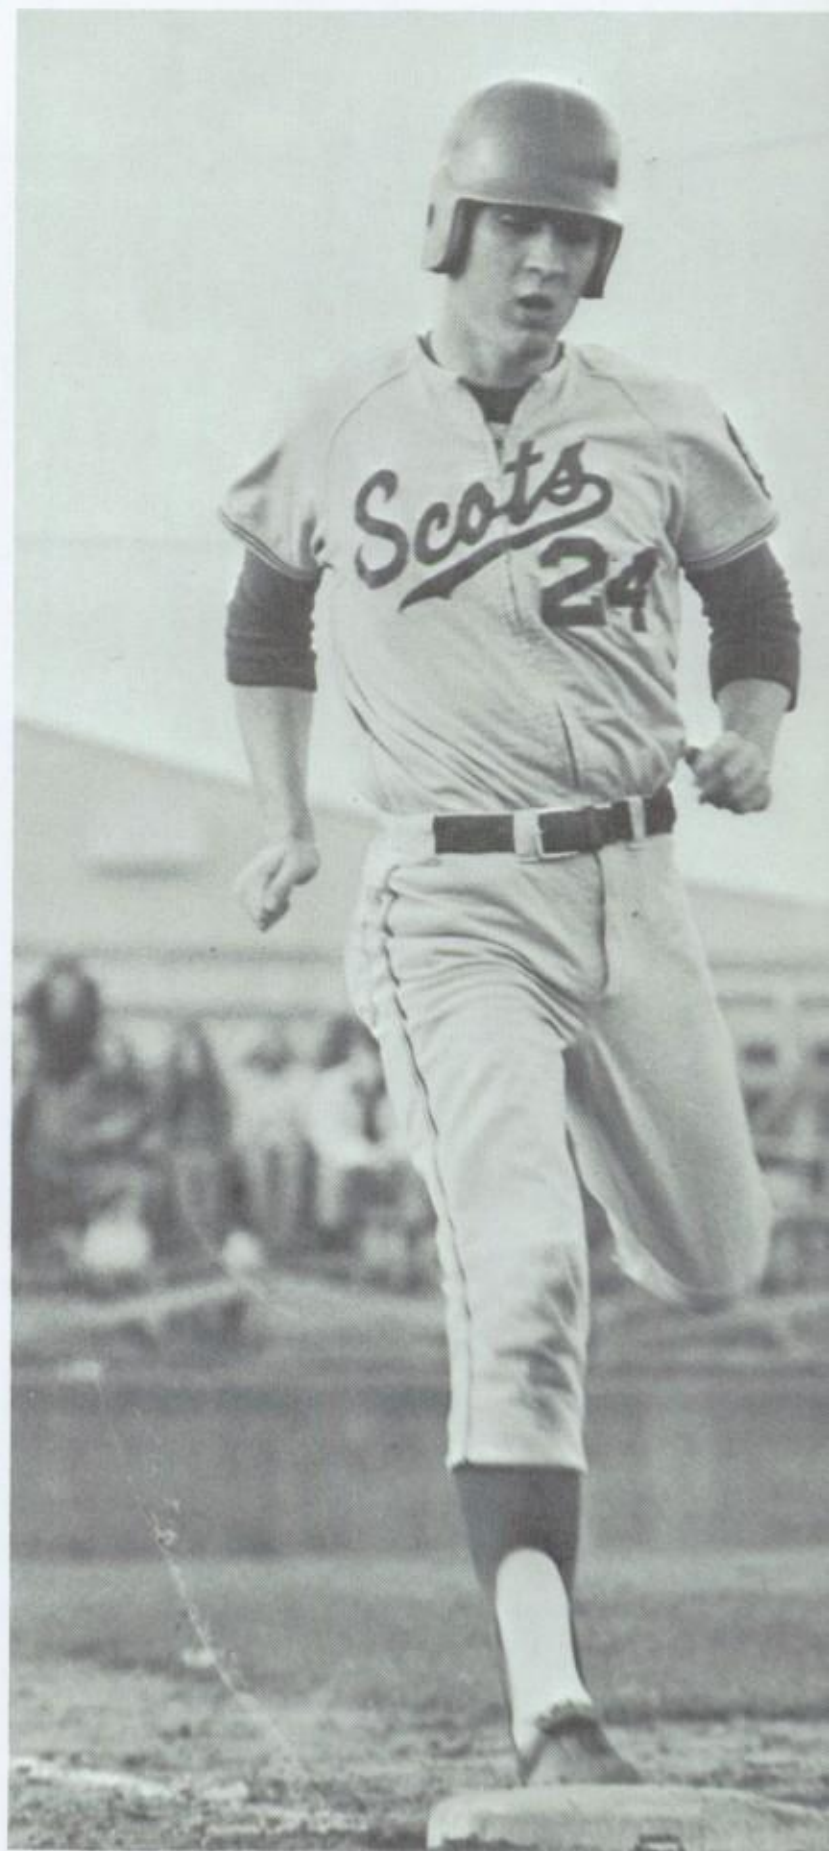

McMinnville fell to the Scots in quarterfinal playoff action. Several costly errors by the Grizzlies insured the Douglas victory. But, the eventual state champion, Madison, held off a late Douglas rally and thwarted the Scots' state title bid.

Standouts at bat and in the field were seniors Brian Muir, and Dave Mowry, and juniors Ron Hill and Greg Horner. Outstanding hurlers for the team were seniors Larry Brooks, Steve Gilroy, Mike Strader, and Mike Gwynn. Muir and Hill were named first team all league and Hill also made second team all state.

Pitching standouts for the J.V.s were Bob Craswell and Fred Hanson while Jeff Austin, Bill Harrington, and Vic Petroff were the squad's best hitters.

Golf Teams Finish Strong

Both the boys and girls varsity golf teams were successful this year. The girls were first in their league and second in the Metro Invitational, which is equivalent to the boys district competition. The boys were third in their league, second at district, and fifth in State. In addition, they took fifth as a team in the Portland City Junior and first in The Dalles Invitational.

The girls were led by Nancy Krough, a sophomore, who averaged 47.5 for the year. Nancy, who tied for second place medalist at the Metro Invitational, and Mary Kleebe were named to the all-star team in that tourney.

For the boys it was freshman Brent Murray and senior Bill Smethurst who led the team. Brent just missed out on state medalist by one stroke as he shot 74-70 during state competition. Both Brent and Bill were named second-team All-Metro and Brent was also named first-team All-State.

Brent Murray follows through on a drive. Brent, who narrowly missed state medalist honors, still has three more seasons ahead of him.

Lynn MacKeller putts one at Top O' Scott during practice. Lynn played at the number two position behind Nancy Krogh on the girls' team this year.

The girls' tennis team had a notable 6-2 win-loss season this year. Under the strong coaching of Miss Doris Owens the girls did well enough in district to claim the Metro League title. Some of the outstanding tennis players this year were Terri Borchers, Barbara Groth, and Delores Payne. The outlook for a successful team next year is very promising, with the return of underclass members Groth and Payne.

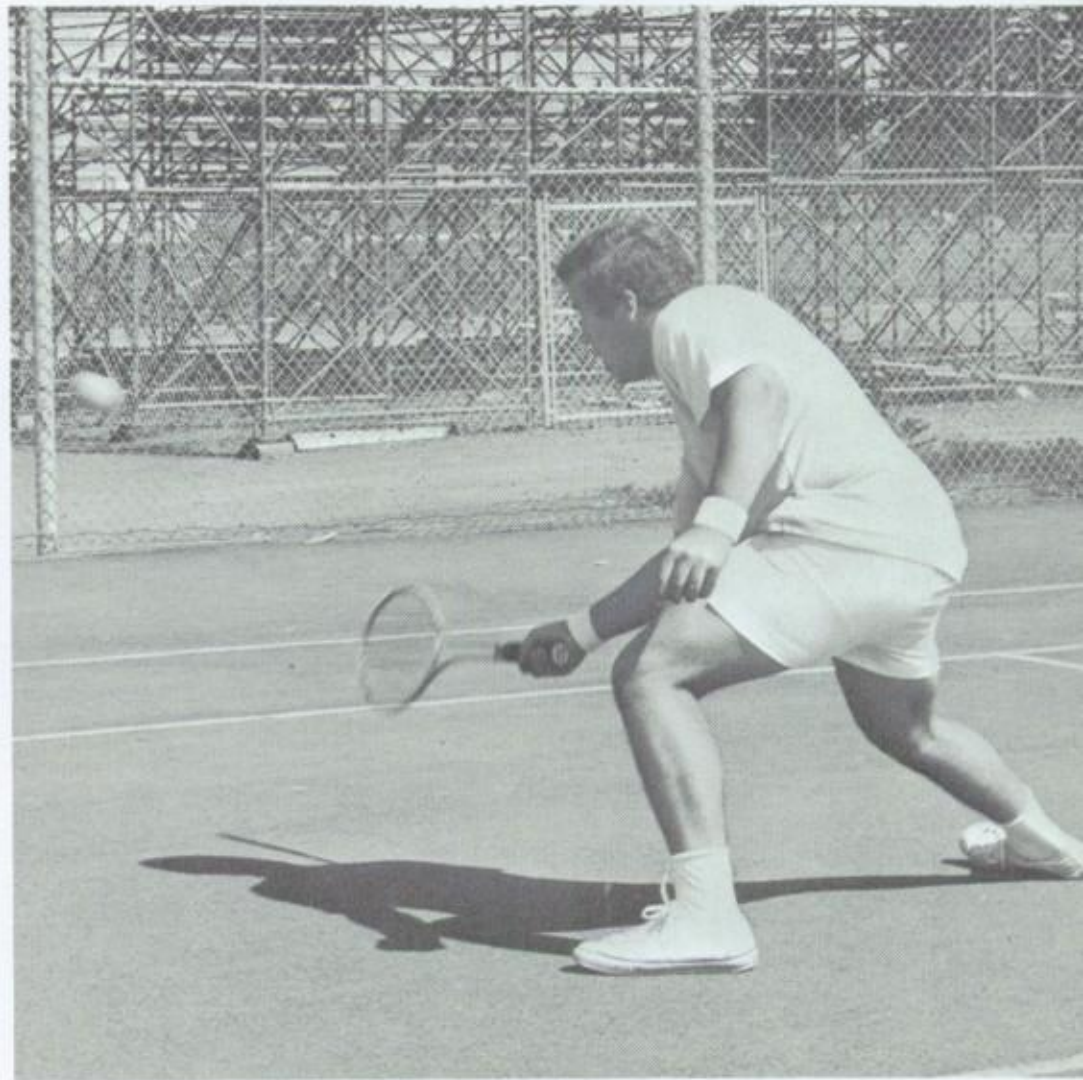

The boys' tennis team had a creditable 10-5 win-loss season. In the district standings they placed fourth with only two players qualifying for state. The ones who qualified for state were Stan Koehler and Mike Caldwell. Outstanding players this year were Tom Daudistel, Dan Lierman, Stan Koehler, Mike Caldwell, Steve Conlee, and Dave Knepper. Mr. Jim Nibler, coach of the boys' team, is pleased with his team. Next year he expects an even better season.

Bag in hand, Patty Jeffery throws the balls out to get ready for another hard practice session.

"We Give of Ourselves When We Give the Gift of Time; When We
Are Minute Builders of More
Abundant Living for Others . . . "

Wilfred A.
Peterson

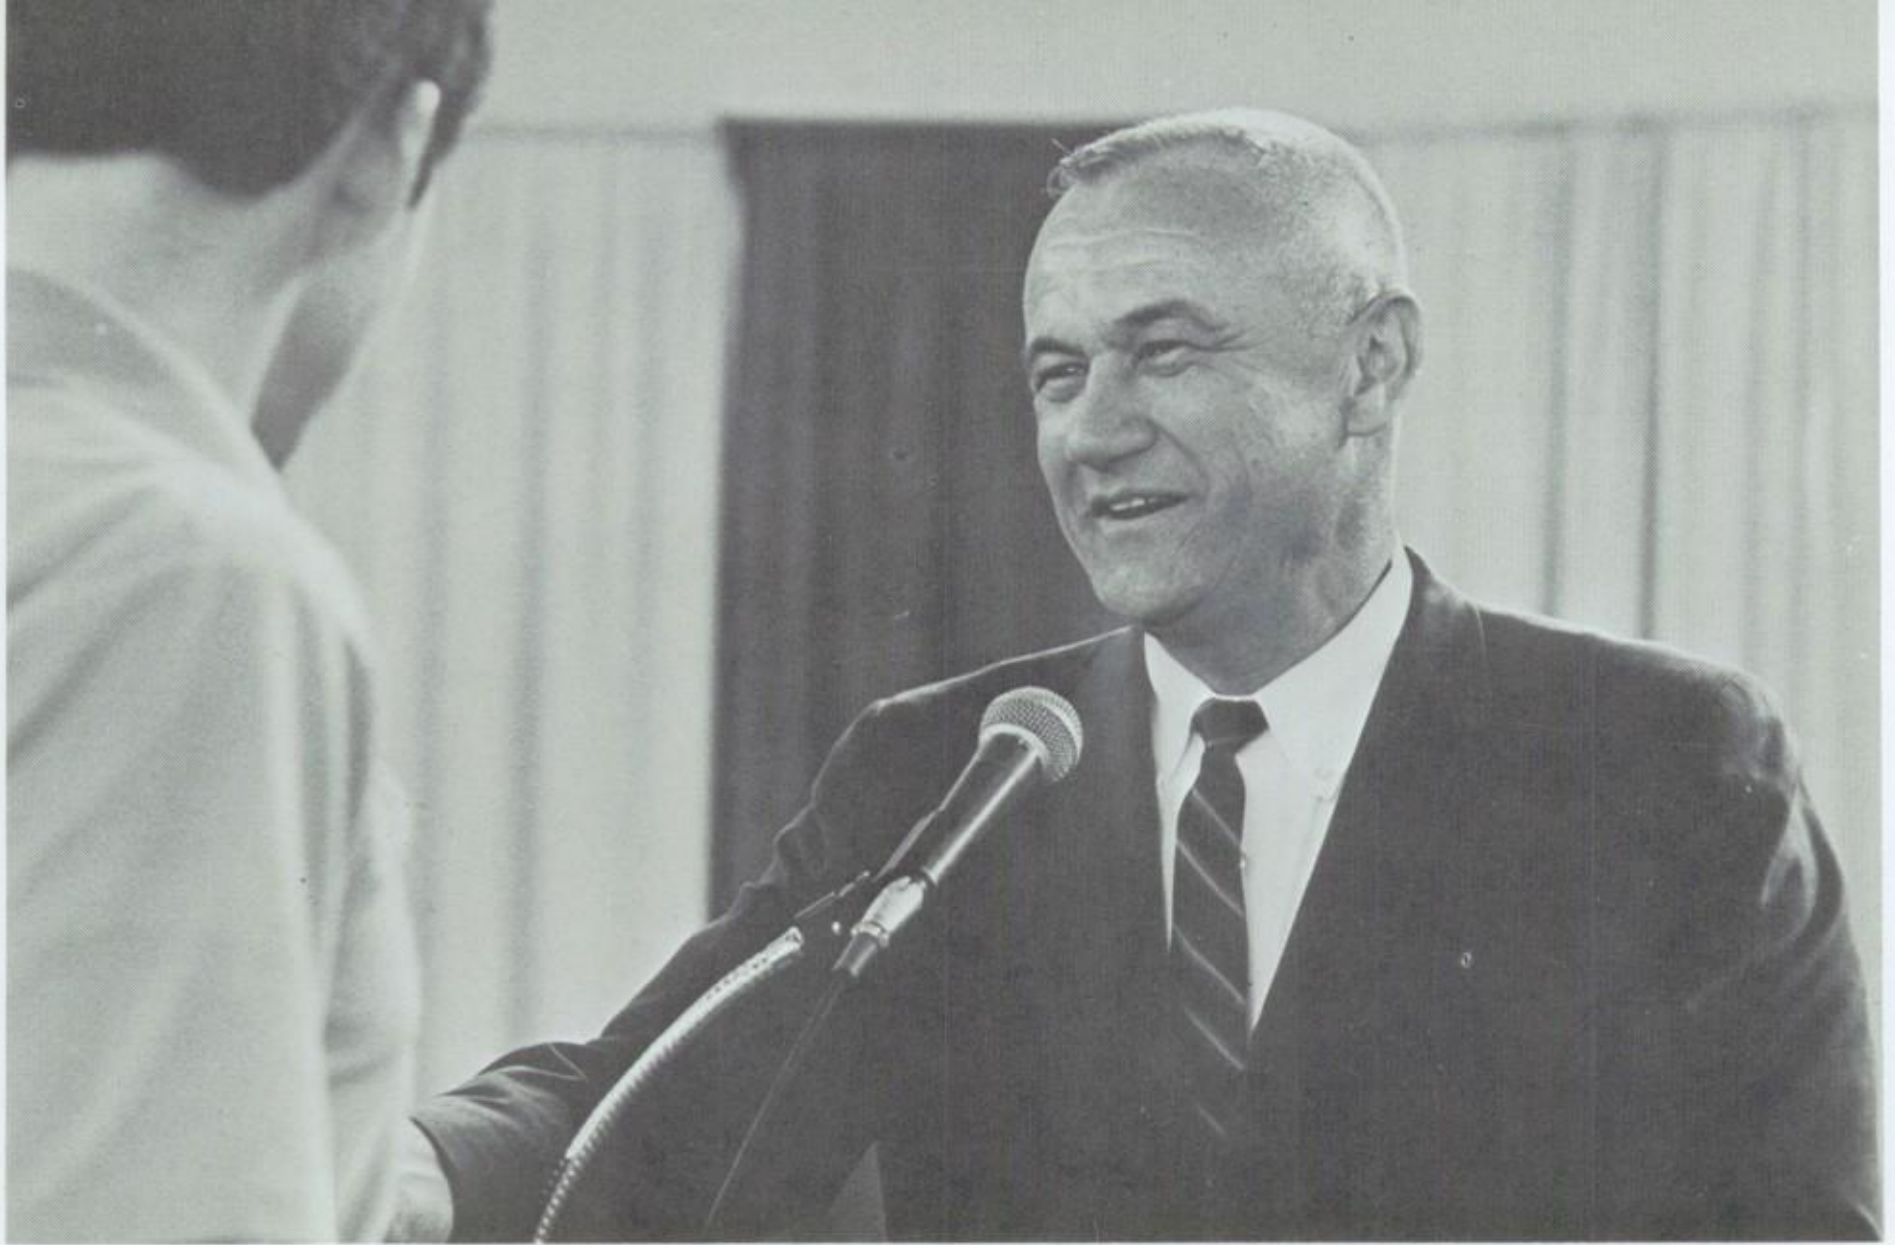

The world today is in need of many changes, but it is often hard to find people dedicated enough to make constructive changes in it. Most of the faculty at David Douglas are concerned enough about our world to try and change it, and they encourage us, the students, to work for constructive changes, too.

One of the innovations that has come to David Douglas is the David Douglas plan. This plan gives the teachers more free time and enables them to spend some of that free time with us, talking about a problem, or just laughing about a funny thing that happened in the cafeteria.

In the classroom a more informed atmosphere exists than before. This environment enables us to be more receptive to what is being taught.

After school we can find the faculty working on the decorations for a dance, advising club activities, coaching sporting events, or just talking with students. They spend a considerable amount of time with us, and give of themselves to better us, so that we can have a better chance at things to come.

Assortment of Activities Gives Students a Chance to Develop Various Talents

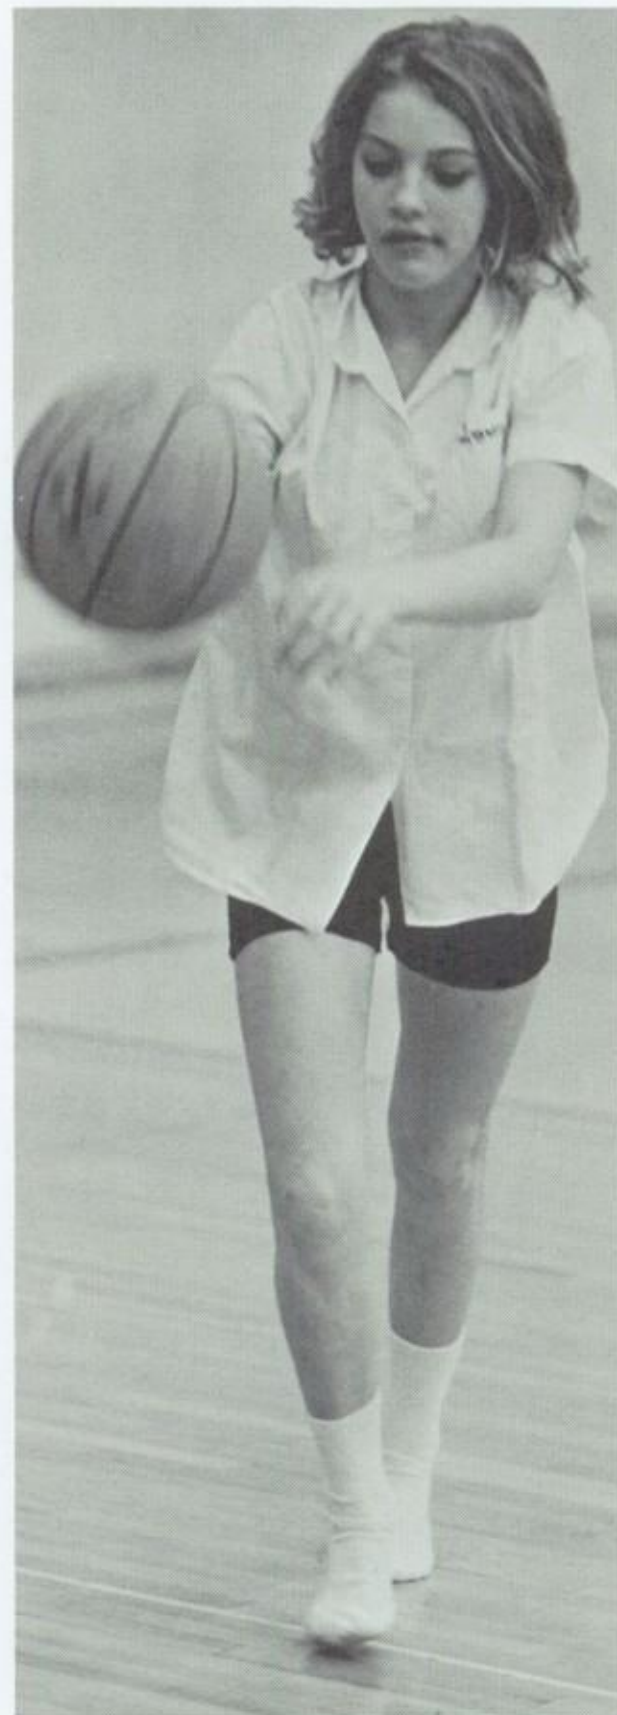

The music department at Douglas gives students the opportunity to develop their skill as musicians. The sophomore band adds volume and numbers to the senior band at pep assemblies, football games, and concerts throughout the year.

The student-teacher relationship is the most important activity pursued at Douglas. Mr. Kelsay aids his class by answering questions and offering explanations.

Physical Education classes develop reflexes and coordination. They allow each student to participate in athletics. Intramural sports have become a very popular after school activity.

Vocational classes give students a chance to experiment with various occupational skills. Wiring an electronics project requires the full attention and care of Dan Norgard.

Graduation Signifies the End of Twelve Years of Education For Seniors, But Only the Beginning of a New Life

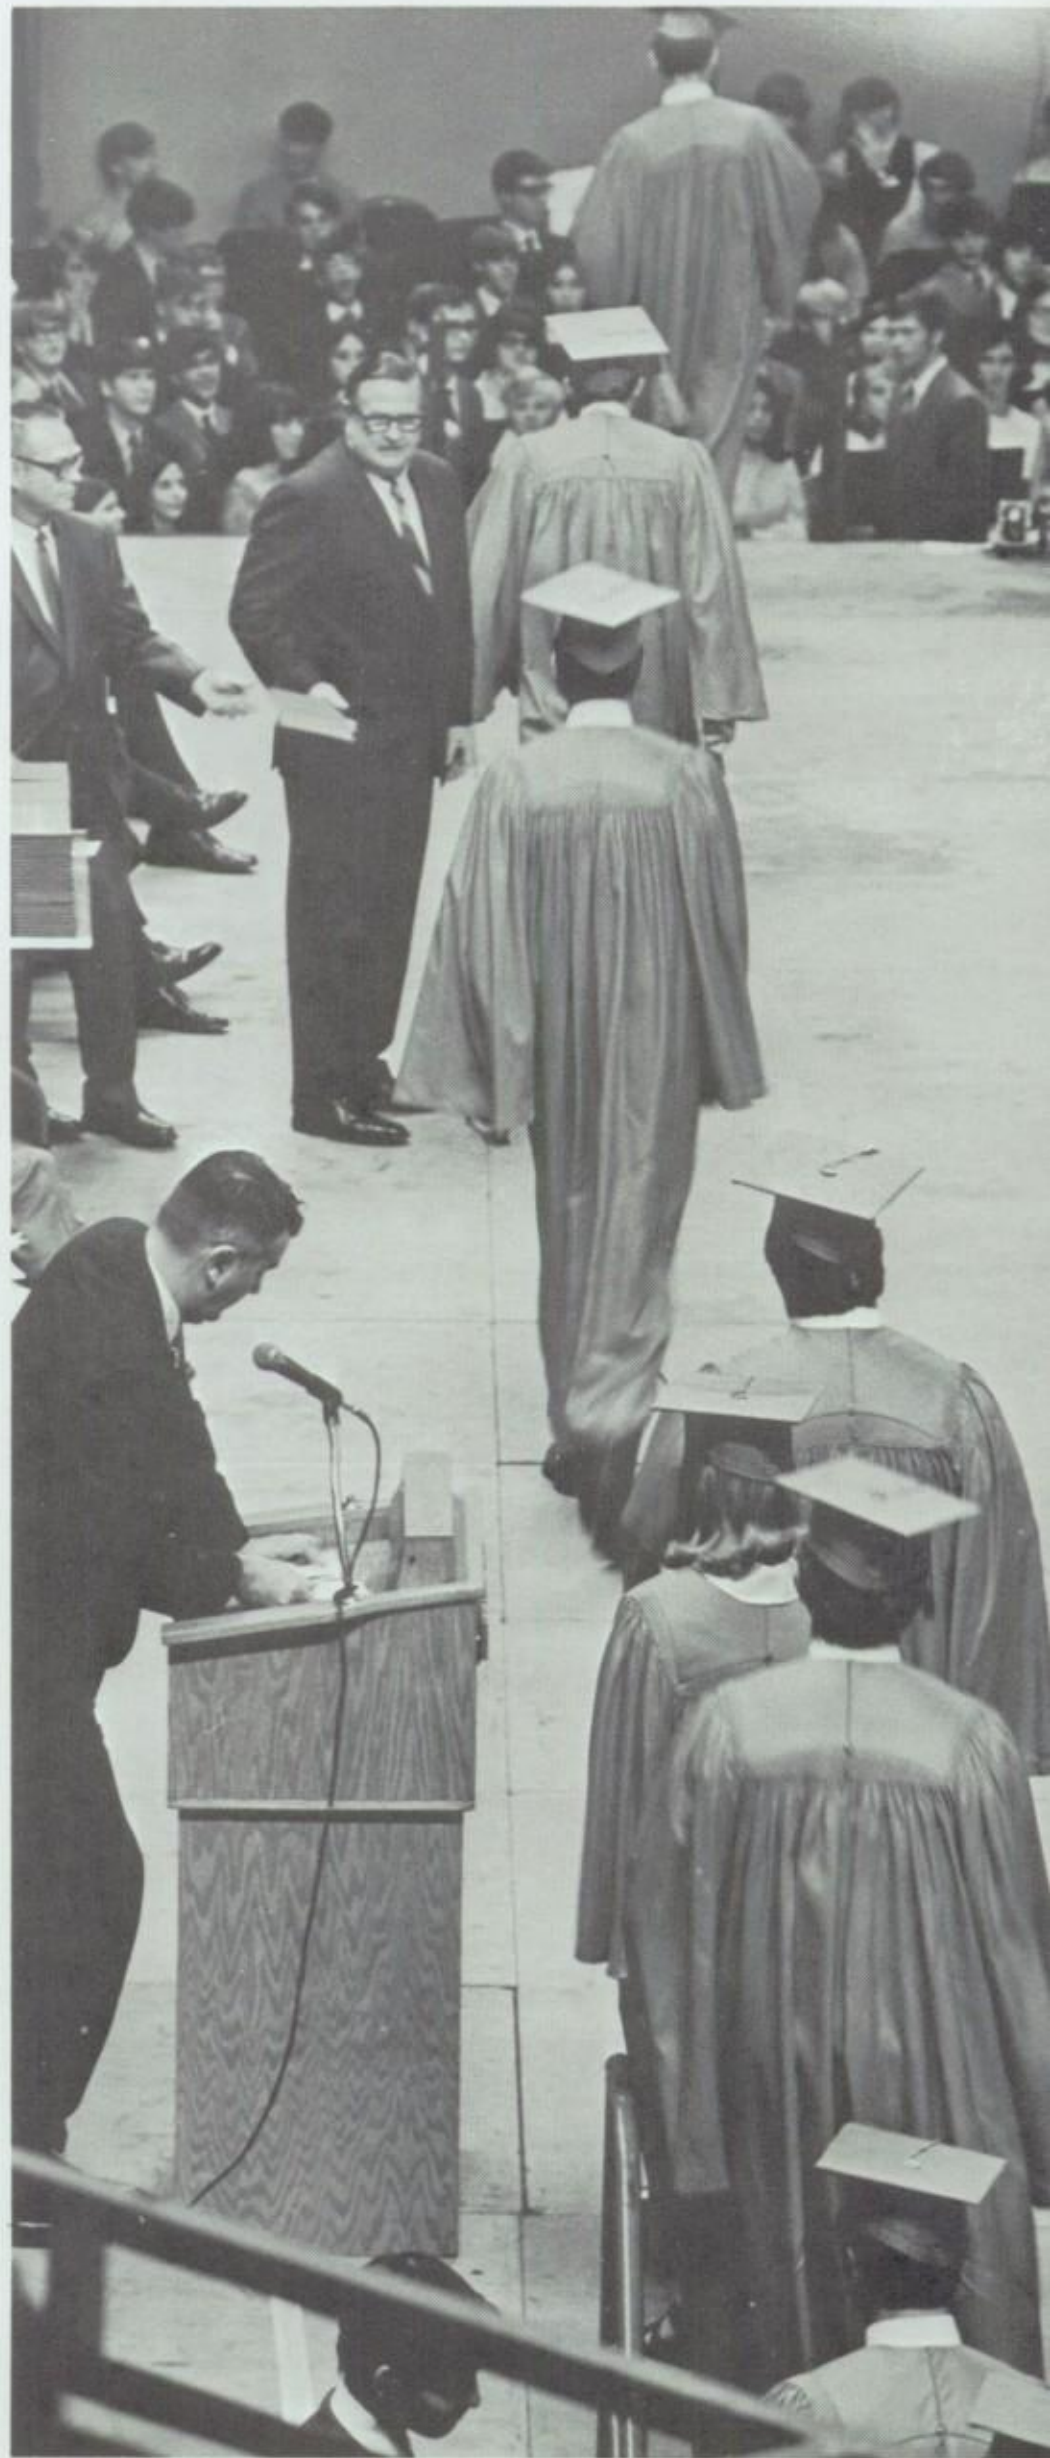

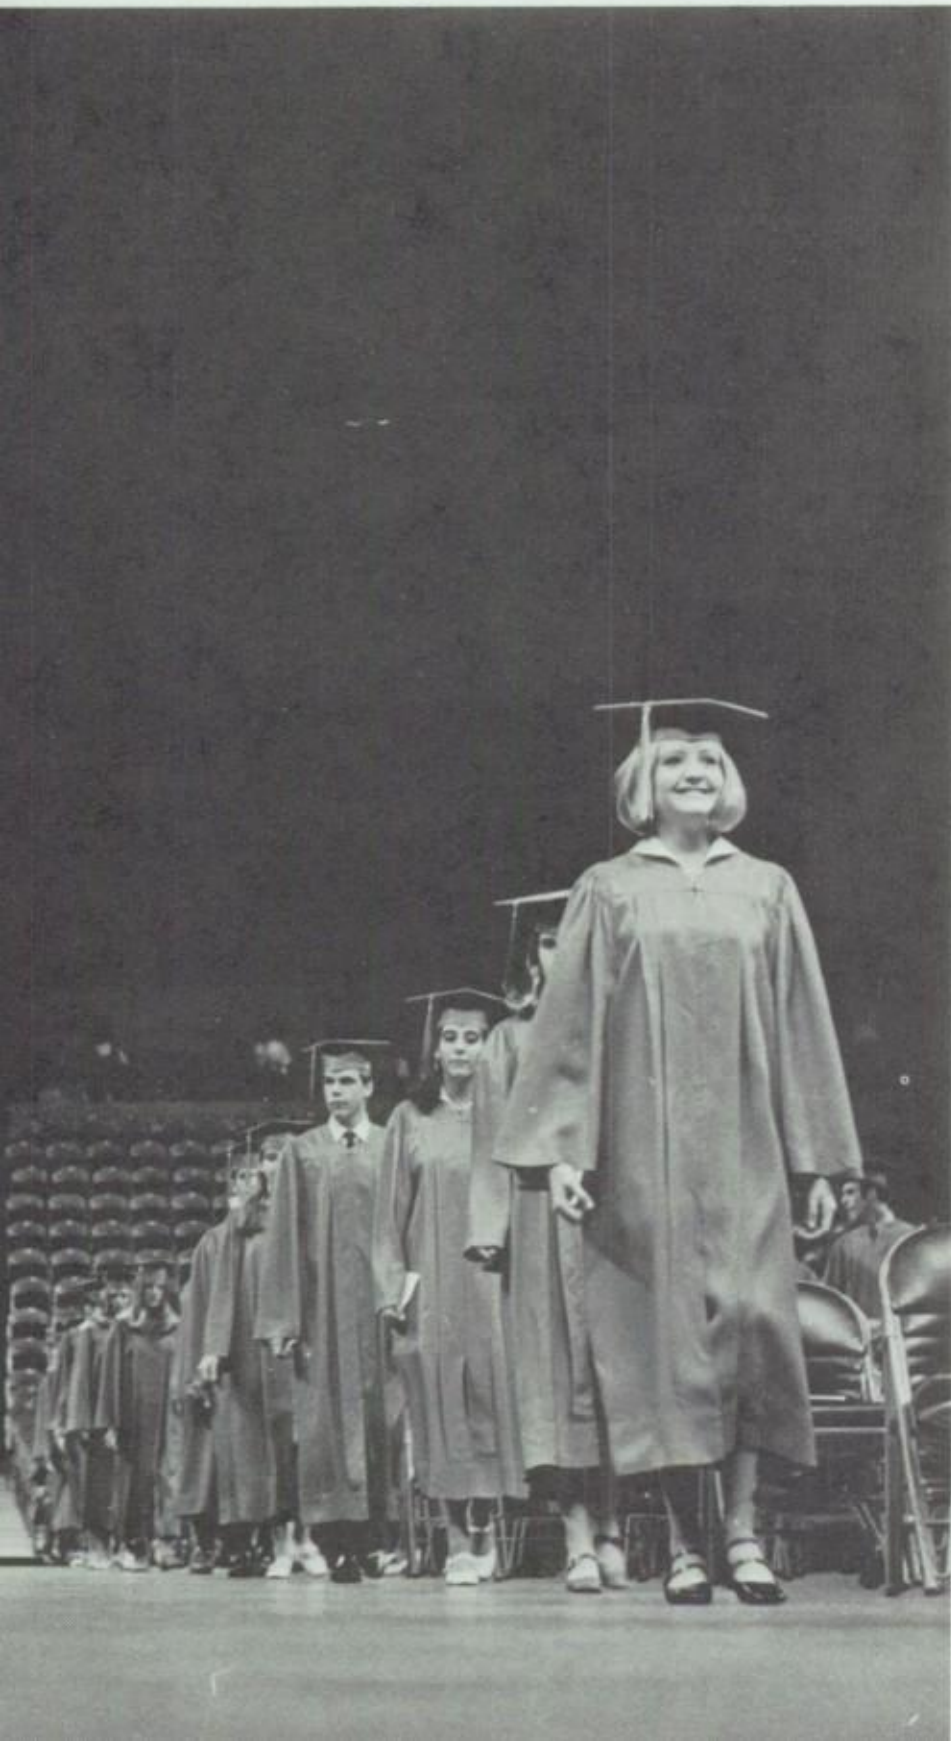

Seniors Mike Gwynn, Brad Herrett, John Lansing, and Ken Rhea relax before graduation, as they arrange their caps and gowns. This, along with the exchanging of a few jokes about the gowns, was a common event witnessed before the commencement exercises.

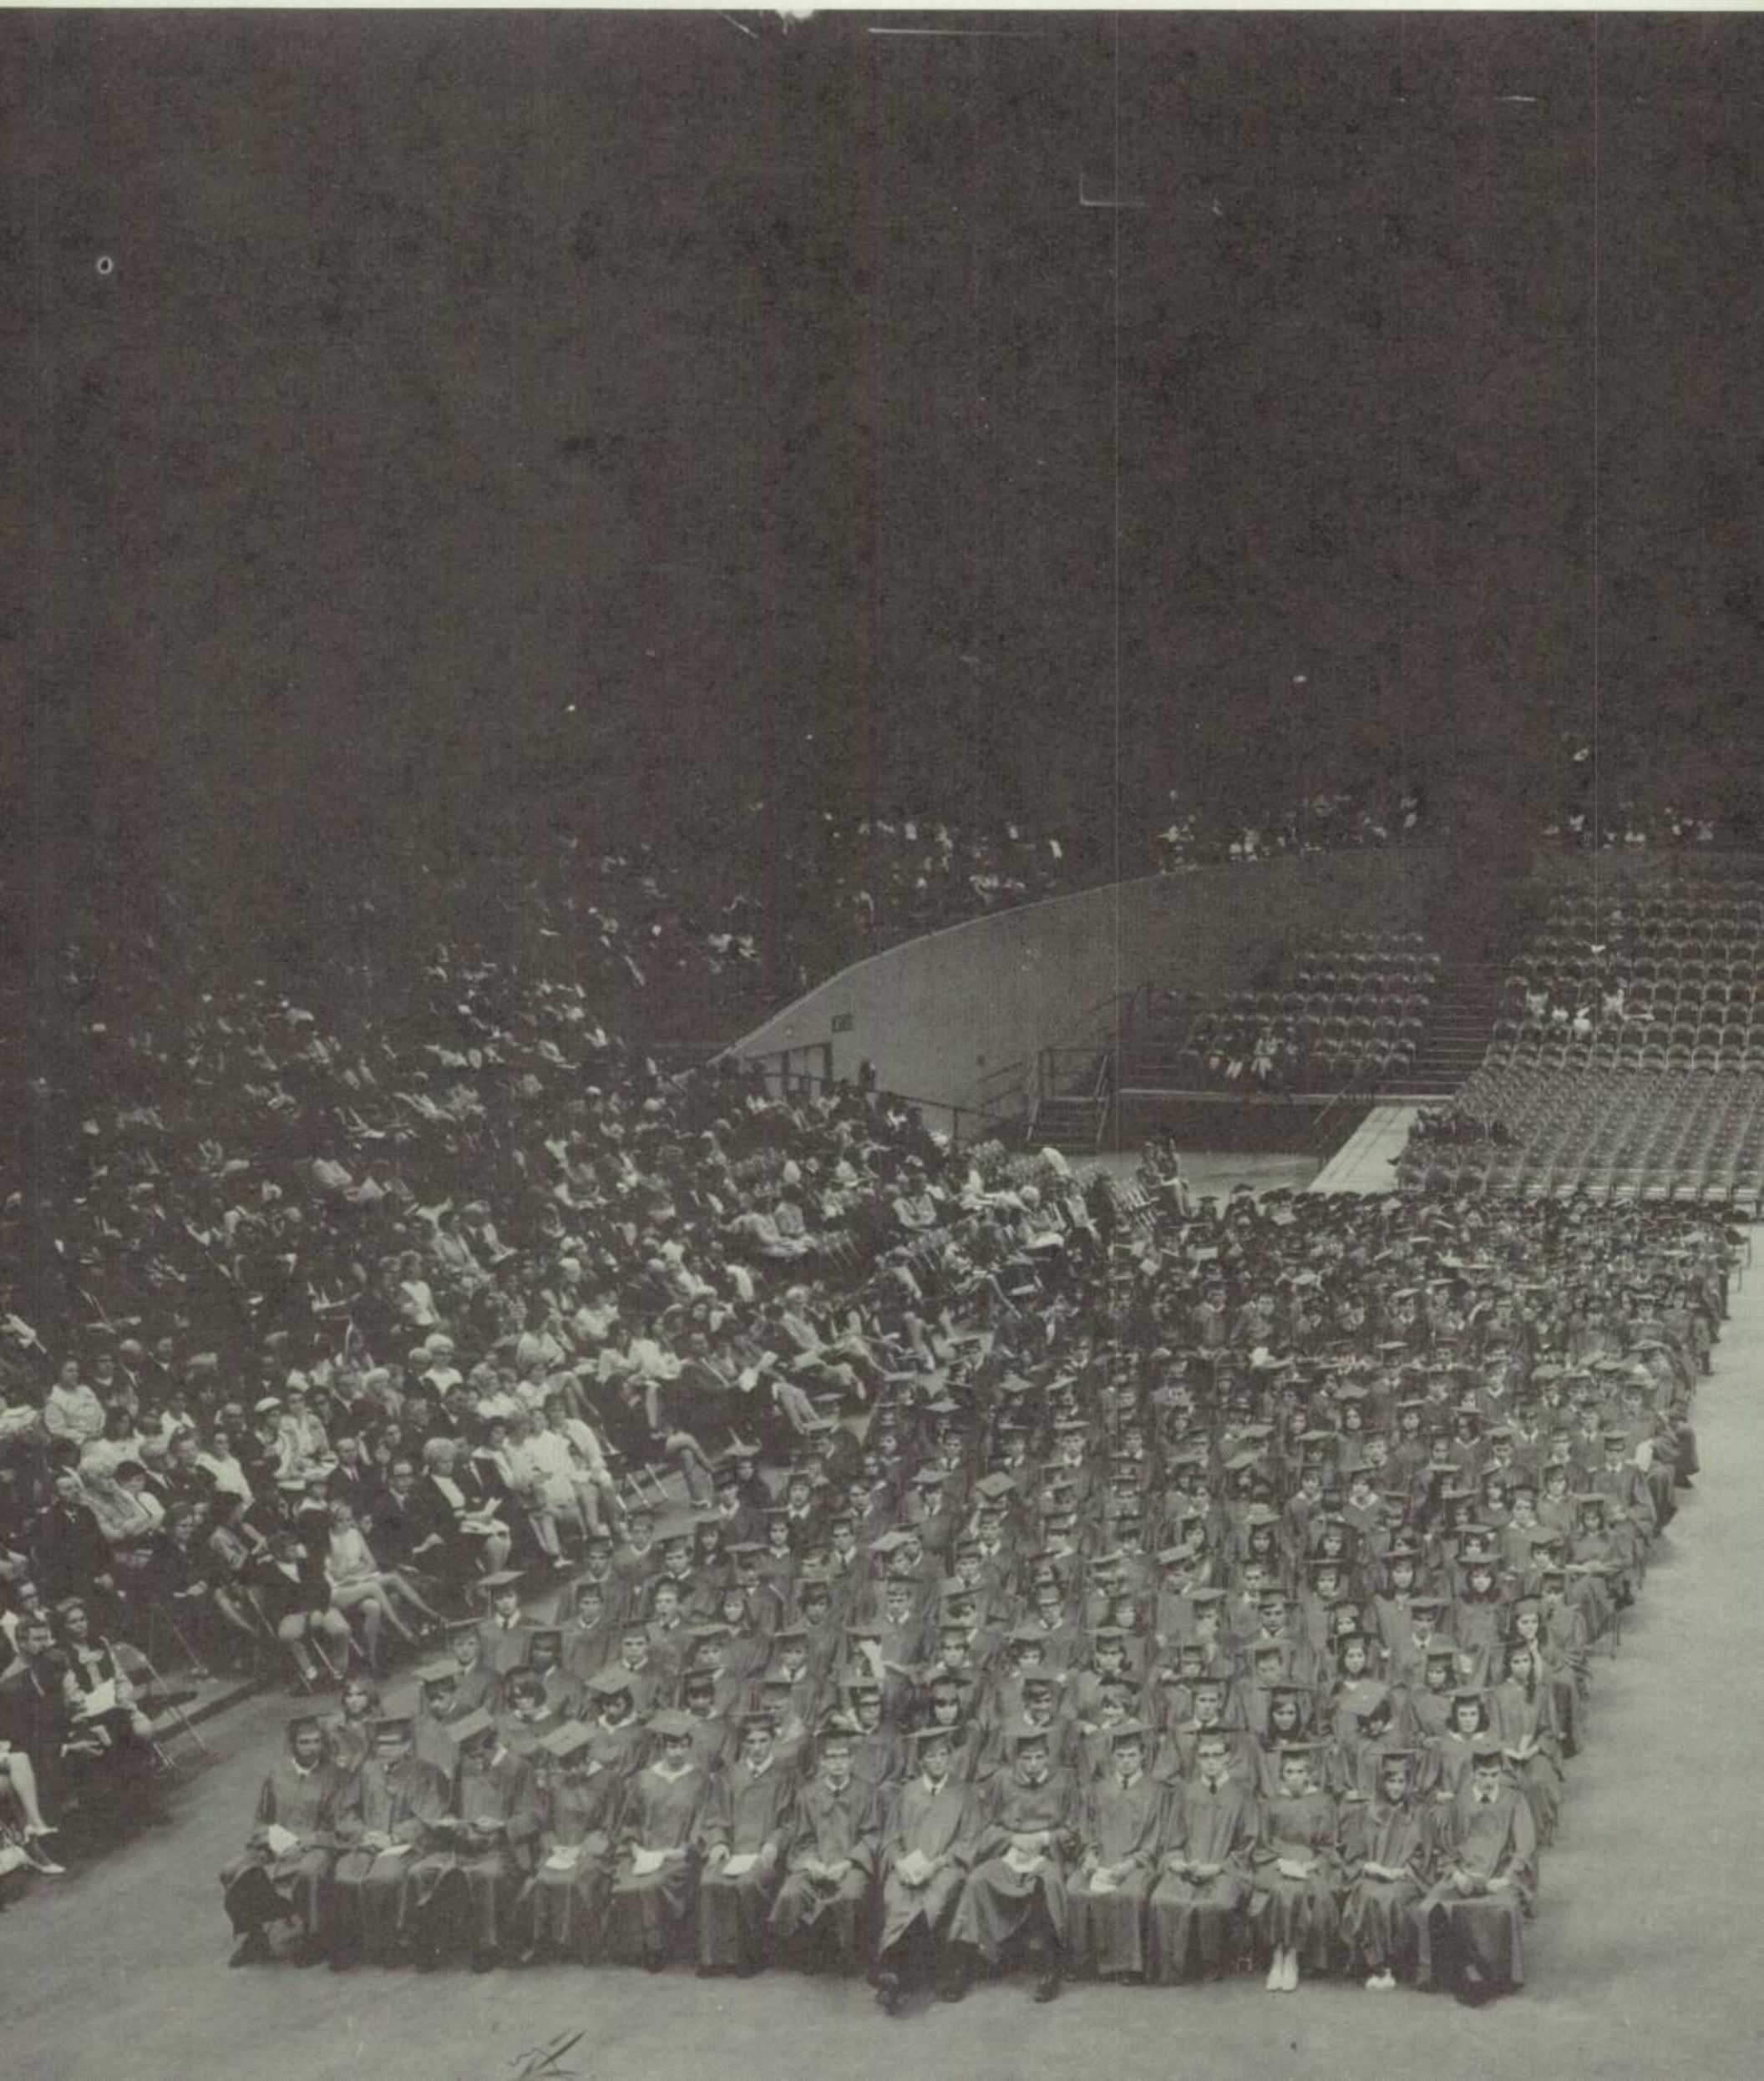

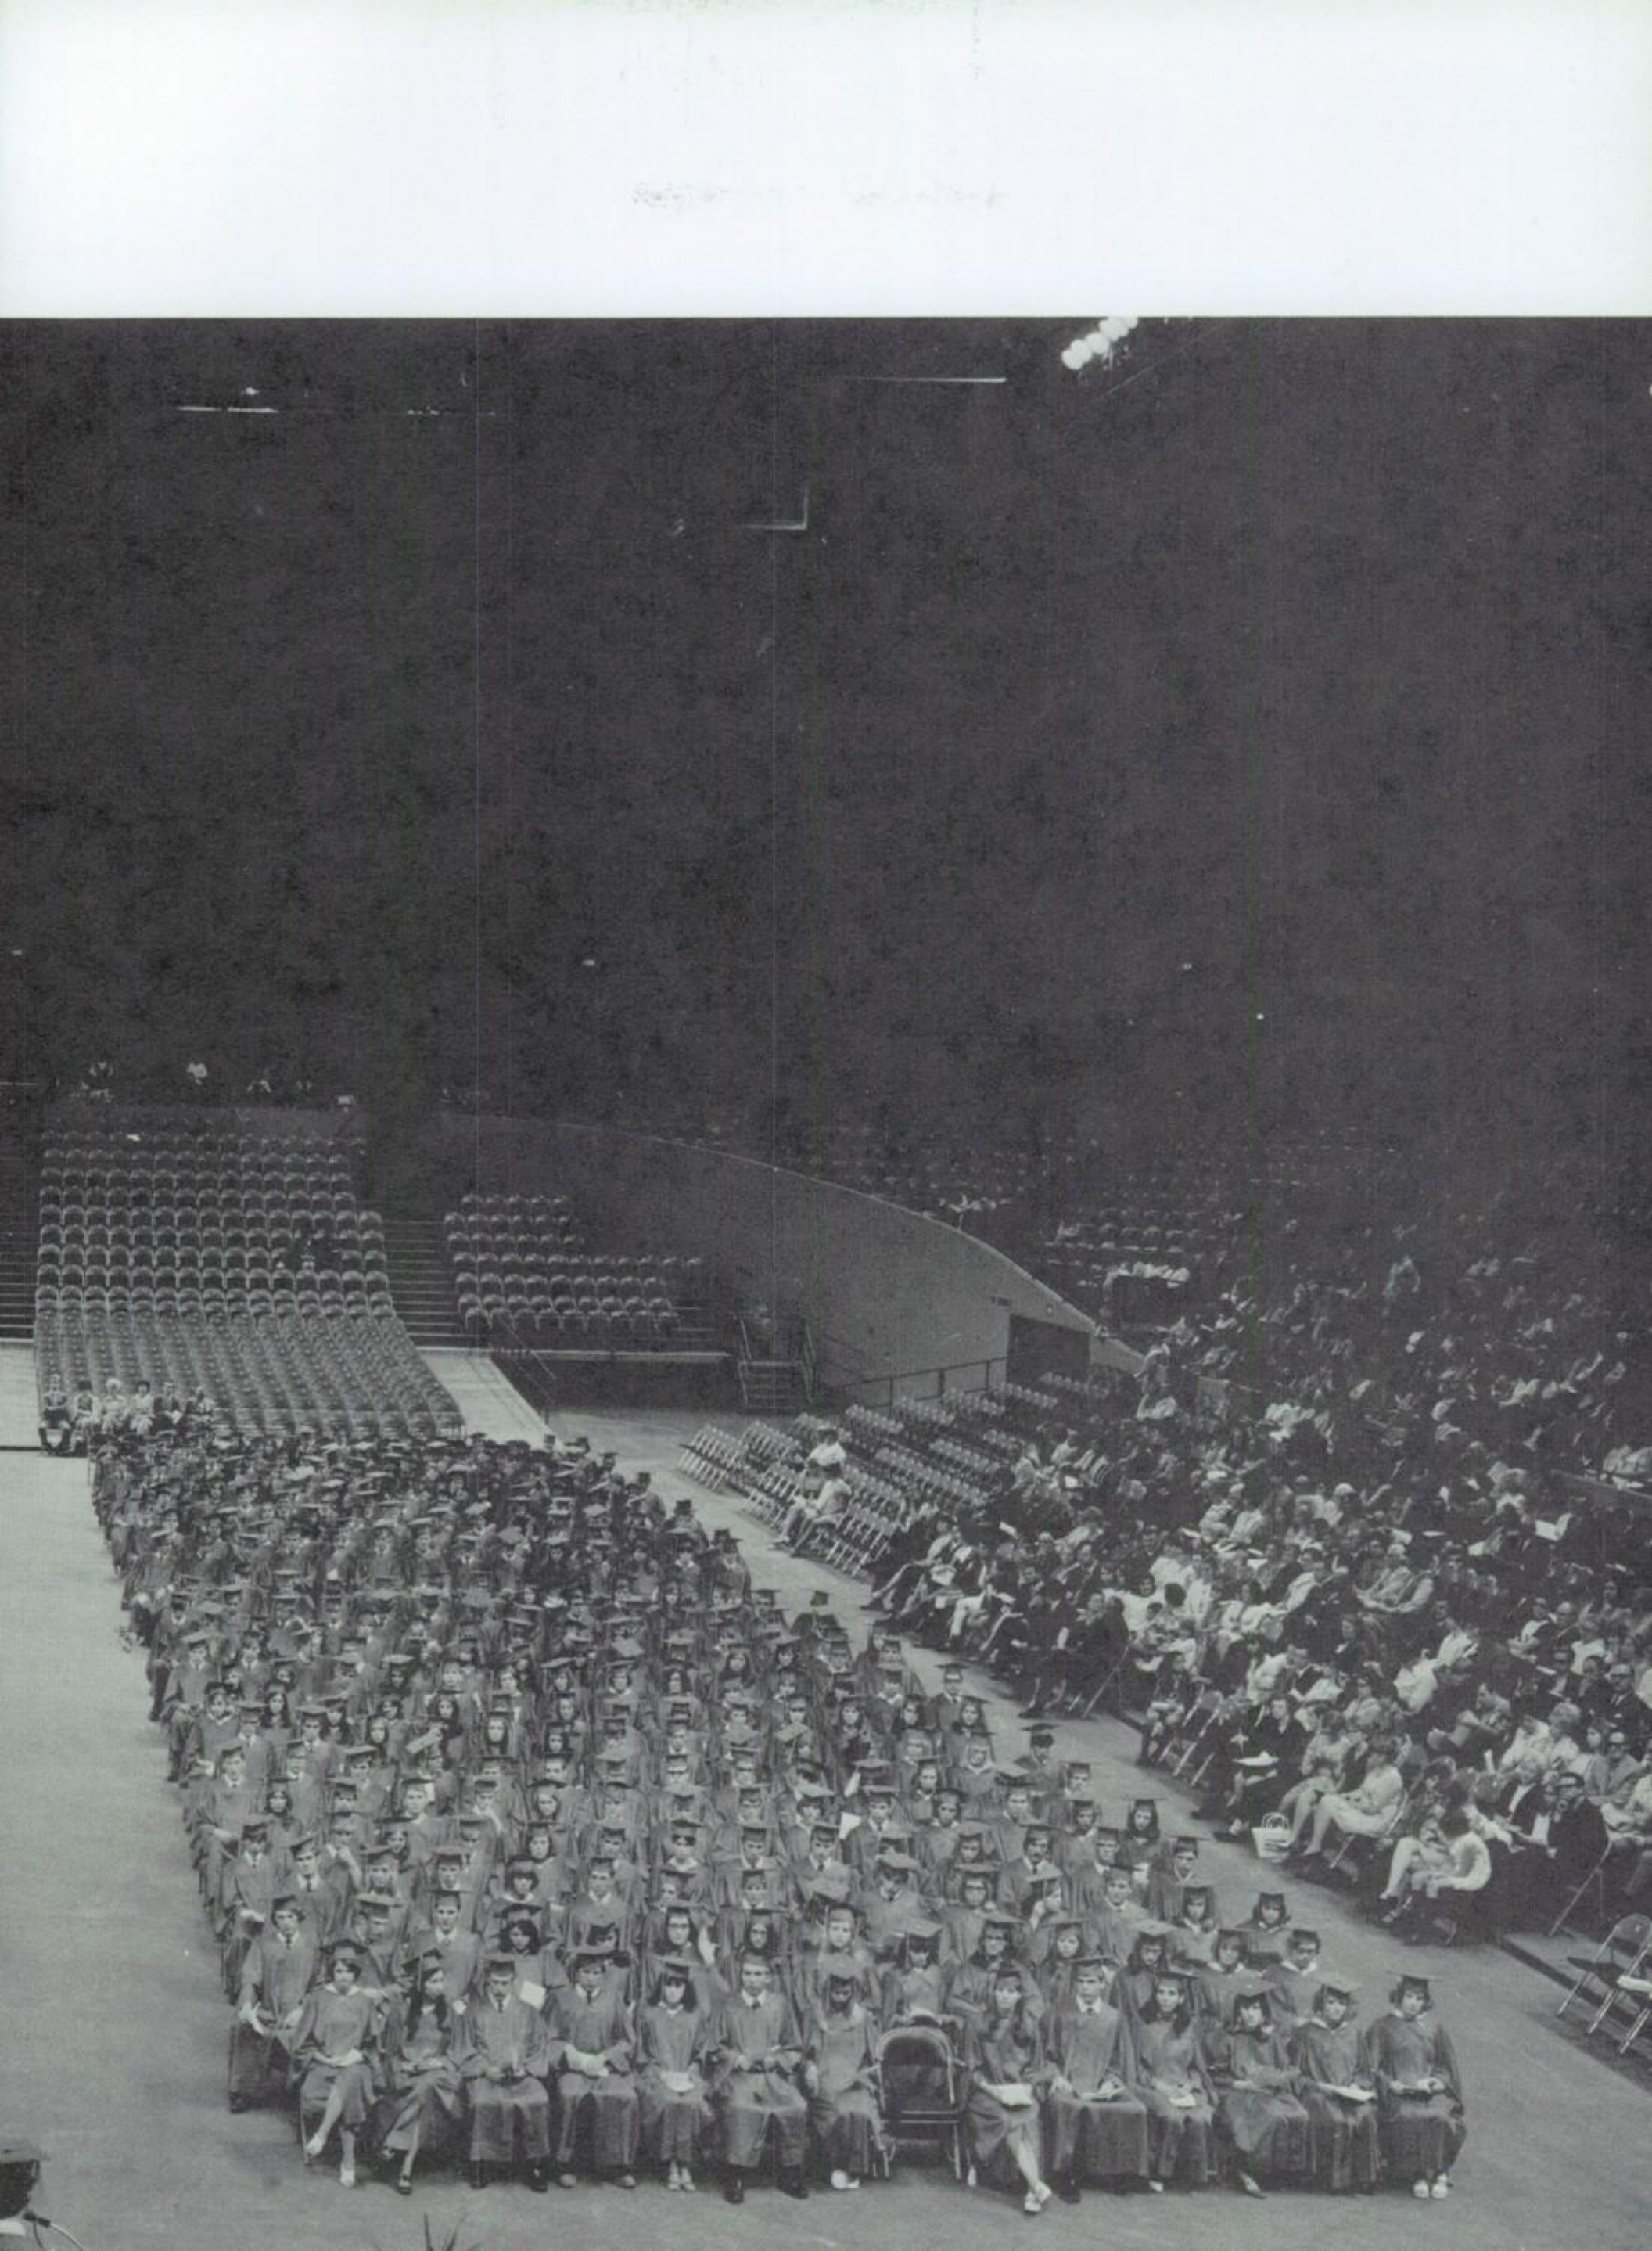

Graduating seniors march into the Coliseum to "Pomp Circumstance" before receiving their diplomas.

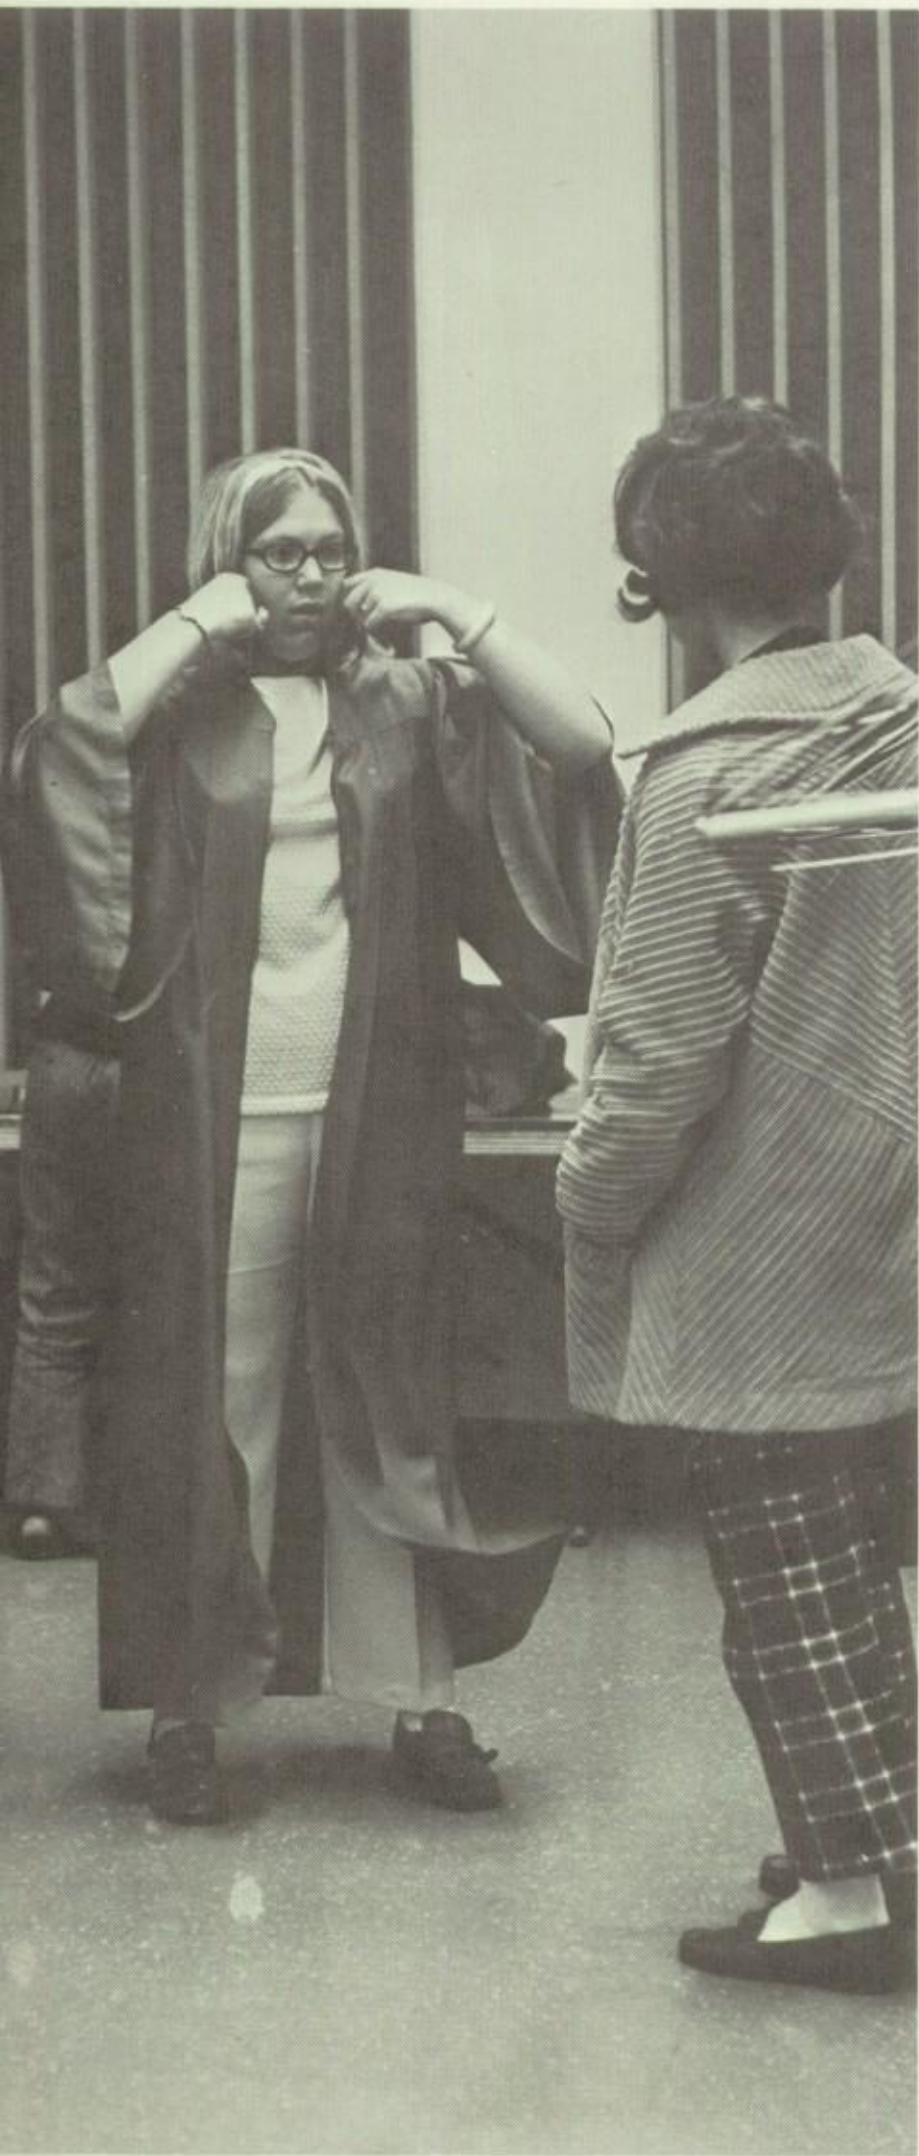

Graduates proceed across the stage to accept their diplomas, a representation of their achievement and hard work throughout their education.

Class of '70

Seniors received caps and gowns at the class meeting on the last day of school. However, many found that their robes were not the right size and they had to get new ones the morning of graduation.

Graduation practice was held at the Coliseum at 10:00 a.m. on the morning of graduation. The combination of the not-too-exciting procedure and the early morning hours proved to be too much for many seniors who had been out of school for nearly a week.
